Scotland Yard Hunts 'Panther' In Girl's Slaying

KIDSGROVE, England (AP) — Scotland Yard's murder squad searched a labyrinth of drainage tunnels today for clues to a killer known as the Black Panther after the body of kidnaped teen-age heiress Lesley Whittle was found dangling halfway down a 60-foot tunnel shaft.

The body, nearly nude, was partly decomposed.

Scotland Yard described the wanted man — whose identity they do not know — as "the most dangerous man in Britain."

The swarthy, dark-haired fugitive, who wears black clothes and a hood, already was wanted for killing three postmasters during 15 raids on rural post offices. Police said they have evidence he also kidnaped Lesley on Jan. 14 from her home in the village of Highley, Shropshire, and left a note demanding a $120,000 ransom.

Detectives say the girl, who inherited $200,000 from her businessman father, may have been killed the next day near Kidsgrove, 60 miles from her home. Her brother Ronald was an hour late for a rendezvous with the kidnaper to hand over the ransom money, detectives said.

Police said the 17-year-old girl died of shock and fear halfway down the drainage shaft as her kidnaper fastened a wire noose around her neck before pushing her from a ledge. The body was found Friday hanging in the darkness from the wire attached to the rungs of a ladder.

A pathologist's report said she died of vagal inhibition, a massive shock to the heart via the vagal nerve brought on by fear. Strangulation was not the cause of death, the report said, and she had not been sexually assaulted.

Two sleeping bags, a flashlight and food were found in the maze of drains serving nearby reservoirs and canals. Detectives theorized that the Panther might be an itinerant construction worker who helped build the system seven years ago. Similar construction work had been done in the areas where the three postmasters were shot.

Police declined to comment on a telephone call to a newspaper in which a man identifying himself as the Black Panther said: "I do not accept responsibility for the Whittle girl."

Congress Acting On Slashes Up To $35 Billion

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is virtually certain to approve a tax cut of at least $21 billion within two or three weeks, but the final version could differ sharply from the bill passed by the House.

Several senators are pointing to the high unemployment rate and urging a tax cut in the range of $26 billion to $35 billion, compared with the $21.3 billion approved by the House. The Senate Finance Committee resumes hearings on the tax cut today.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Sunday on CBS' "Face the Nation" that he hopes action can be completed on the tax cut by the start of the scheduled Easter recess on March 21. If action hasn't been completed by then, there should be no recess, Humphrey said.

Some conservatives are using the Ford administration's argument that the House tax cut plan aims comparatively too much tax relief for families making under $10,000 a year. They say any tax cut designed to fight recession must provide more relief to families in the $10,000-to-$40,000 range — the families that would spend their rebate checks on cars and appliances to stimulate the economy.

The House-passed bill provides a $200 maximum on 1974-tax rebates, which gradually diminish in higher tax brackets. In addition, the bill would reduce 1975 taxes through lower withholding rates.

Ford's proposed rebate would be a flat 12 per cent with a ceiling of $1,000, which would be reached by taxpayers in the $40,000-plus bracket of adjusted gross income.

Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the tax-writing Finance Committee, challenges the whole concept of rebates. Instead of mailing out tax rebates to almost everyone, it might be better to concentrate the money where it would do the most good, Long argues.

The Louisiana Democrat suggests that instead of spending $8.1 billion for rebates, the government should provide a tax credit of

Poll Shows Indochina Aid Opposed

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A recent Gallup poll indicates that 78 per cent of Americans oppose the Ford administration's proposal to send an extra $522 million in military aid to Indochina.

In a survey of 1,566 persons at least 18 years old, 78 per cent opposed extra aid for South Vietnam and Cambodia. 12 per cent were in favor and 10 per cent had no opinion.

A Gallup spokesman said opposition to President Ford's proposal was based primarily on "fear of reinvolvement on a major scale" in Southeast Asia fighting.

Arrests Mount In Van Buren Knife Slaying

PAW PAW — Two women, one identified as a former mental patient, and a 15-year-old juvenile were taken into custody yesterday in connection with the slaying Thursday of 28-year-old Sarah (Sally) Towne of Kalamazoo, according to Van Buren sheriff's deputies.

Miss Towne's nude, knife-punctured body was found in an open field in Porter township Friday after one of the women who said she had witnessed the slaying took police to the site.

Taken into custody on open charges of murder, according to deputies, were Sandra K. Strickler 21, 1050 Patwood, Kalamazoo, and Marilyn Cook, 17, and her brother, Jarius Cook, 15, both of 1334 Portage, Kalamazoo. All three were arrested in Kalamazoo about 2 p.m. yesterday.

Two others charged with murder in the case, Carle Cordell Vaughn, 20, 1334 Portage, and Joseph Lee Cosby, 19, 511 Egleston, Kalamazoo, were arrested Friday.

Vaughn, Cosby, Miss Strickler and Miss Cook were scheduled to be arraigned in Seventh district court today. Van Buren Prosecuting Atty. Frank Willis said he was inves-

Hold Boys For Arson In Central Dock Fire

Three juvenile boys were arrested Sunday by Benton Harbor police on charges of setting a fire which destroyed Central docks Feb. 2. The arrests stemmed from an investigation into a house burglary which occurred the same night as the fire.

Two adults and four juveniles were arrested in connection with the house burglary. One juvenile has been charged with both arson and burglary.

Det. Sgt. Sam Watson reported investigation indicated the fire at the docks was apparently started after several people broke into the building and threw matches into boxes containing papers.

The docks were used most recently as a warehouse for Ganz Transfer and Storage. Household items were stored by Ganz, as well as a large quantity of oil owned by Mobile Oil Co., and a small quantity of paint owned by Berko Electric Co.

The docks were located off West Main street just east of the Main street bridge. The docks were a Benton Harbor landmark for over 60 years. At one time thousands of passengers embarked on lake steamers from the docks.

Last month's fire leveled the building and destroyed contents valued at $75,000. The building, constructed in 1917, was not insured, but the contents were.

Police said the boys charged with the arson were still being questioned, and they will be petitioned to juvenile court. Police said two of the boys are 16 and

Saltshaker Blamed For 3 Deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman cleaning out her late mother's apartment inadvertently passed along to neighbors the apparent cause of her mother's death: a saltshaker full of poison.

Three persons — including the mother — died from sodium nitrite poisoning. Chicago health officials say. Initially all were thought to have suffered heart attacks, because the symptoms are similar.

It was not until seven other persons became ill that sodium nitrite poisoning was suspected, hospital authorities said Sunday.

The chemical, which blocks oxygen from the blood, can kill within 30 minutes when consumed in sufficient quantities. Health officials said the saltshaker came from the apartment of Mae Edwards, 48, who died Feb. 7 from what was first diagnosed as a heart attack.

After her death her daughter, Bobbie Denson, 29, was cleaning out the four-room apartment with two friends when they discovered a mysterious white substance in a glass jar.

"I tasted it and couldn't figure out what it was. It tasted like salt but looked like sugar," Mrs. Denson said Sunday. "I was more interested in the glass because I thought it would be good for cocktails. So I threw the other stuff out."

The jar apparently contained sodium nitrite. So did a plastic yellow-and-white saltshaker one of Mrs. Denson's friends, Gregory Smith, took to the rooming house of Jeanette Hoy across the street.

On March 2, Mrs. Hoy, 40, fixed chicken and potatoes for herself. She died a short time later, said Smith, a frequent visitor to the rooming house.

Last Wednesday three elderly men who lived in the rooming house suffered from symptoms of sodium nitrite poisoning after eating oatmeal, Smith said.

One, Joseph Klein, 70, was dead on arrival at St. Bernard's Hospital. The others — Frank Budnick, 79, and George Yokavich, 72 — are under intensive care.

The saltshaker still was not suspect. Hospital officials said all the victims had difficulty breathing, weakness, poor circulation and low blood pressure — symptoms of heart attack as well as sodium nitrite poisoning.

A short time later five more persons including Smith were taken to the hospital with similar ailments. It was then that poisoning was suspected.

Elimination Number

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The four-digit elimination number for the 17th millionaire drawing of the Michigan Lottery is: 2012.

Twelve persons who exactly match the number qualify for the March 18 million dollar drawing at Grand Rapids. Another 108 persons who match the last three digits of the elimination number will receive a $1,000 check in the mail. The 17th million-dollar drawing is the last to be conducted under the old system where persons qualified by winning $25 in a weekly drawing. The $25 checks sent to the weekly winners bore numbers which had to match the million dollar elimination number to qualify for the big drawing. The old system was replaced Feb. 27 when lottery officials began drawing a special six-digit million dollar elimination number each week.

OPEC'S Summit Is Not All Bad News

Any time the suppliers of a critical commodity meet up on a street corner or have lunch their customers naturally anticipate another price increase and the Justice Department's anti-trust division starts to file papers in court.

Last week's OPEC meeting at Algiers (the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) opened on this distressing note and concluded on another from which the oil importing nations may draw some measure of comfort.

What the cartel agreed upon is bad enough but not as upsetting as it could have been had every thought advanced by some volatile delegates been adopted.

Substantially, the Algiers session calls for pricing oil in terms of finished goods and raw commodities in world trade generally and those purchased by the OPEC countries, and a commitment from the consuming nations to export their engineering and agricultural know-how to OPEC.

The U.S. and some Western European states vehemently oppose the raw material qualification because it means that if Russia jacks up the price of manganese, then OPEC should lift its already inflated price on petroleum; but if for some reason the cost on this vital element in making iron and steel should drop, OPEC does not feel obligated to reduce its tag on oil.

The second section in the Algiers declaration broadens an arrangement which the French entered into with some Arab nations last year. In exchange for a guaranteed oil delivery France agrees to supply those countries with hardware ranging from ax handles to military jets and to furnish technological expertise.

In a word, OPEC intends to get the most mileage possible from its oil before that extractive resource runs out or a new energy source reduces petroleum consumption to lubricants and petro-chemicals.

Galling as may be a policy position deifying economic banditry, two major considerations should be kept in mind.

OPEC called the Algiers meeting for the reason that lowering demand has inserted a note of insecurity not present when its customers were under a full head of business steam. For some time several OPEC members have been shading their prices a bit from the officially posted figures. In that context the Algiers conclave resembles calling time out when a basketball team begins to lose its momentum over its opponent. A monopolist is a most unlovely person but he does understand the need to re-examine his practices when the demand for his product falls off.

For the record at least there is no demand upon OPEC customers to isolate Isreal as a concession to obtaining petroleum. This does not imply a repudiation of one theme for OPEC's founding. It does, however, indicate its members believe there is a limit to which economic pressure can go in meeting a military or diplomatic goal. The growing hope that Egypt and Isreal may reach a detente of sorts quite likely influenced the defusing of that intransigence.

The conference stopped short of adopting a recommendation from its presiding officer, President Houari Boumedienne, that OPEC freeze "real" petroleum prices for five years. What he proposed was adjusting the 1974 posted price upward to compenate for currency depreciation and world-wide inflation. While OPEC can repost its price at any time and at any level, rejecting Boumedienne's idea reaffirms our earlier comment about the unlovely momopolist.

The conference also buried a flamboyant thought voiced by a few members which would absolutely embargo oil shipment to any country researching for energy substitutes. Intriguing as the idea is to OPEC, calmer minds recognize the folly of trying to refrigerate mental ingenuity.

While denying OPEC bears any blame for the world's present instability, the conference acknowledged its existence and went on to say OPEC is prepared to negotiate for a stabilization of oil prices which will permit the consumer nations to make the necessary adjustments to their economies. Once more adverting to our unlovely monopolist, OPEC is saying it will not tighten its noose to the last notch.

Totally it would appear the prevailing viewpoint enunciated at Algiers hints OPEC is on the defensive as much as it might appear to Westerners, to be taking the opposite stance.

Good Running Mate For Some Candidate

If a prospective candidate for President of the United States were to stand before an audience and say of his worthy opponents — with approval: "They appear to profundicate in a ready manner and they appear able to readily fuzzify the viable options for national unity" — he could be none other than James H. Boren.

James who? Boren is president of the International Association of Professional Bureaucrats, a man who is having great fun carrying the bureaucratic demeanor to its ultimate, which isn't difficult if one really tries. Boren usually doesn't stand before audiences, of course. A died-in-the-wool bureaucrat thinks best when sitting before a paper-strewn desk..

Dynamic Inaction will be Boren's motto if indeed he decides to run for President. "Nothing will happen! Mistakes will be avoided."

What kind of candidate would be Boren's ideal?

"A presidential candidate should be one who recognizes that the real power of government lies neither in the executive nor the legislative nor the judicial. It lies in the bureaucracy, and the President merely serves as chairman of the advisory board."

As for Dynamic Inaction: "This whole philosophy is predicated on the fact that if you study a problem long enough it will either go away or people will forget about it."

Unemployment? "We can solve unemployment by putting people to work studying unemployment."

AMBULANCE CREW IS PRAISED

Editor,

As a resident of the City of Hartford, I feel that my family and I are very fortunate to have such an efficient ambulance crew to service us and our community.

So many times when someone dies, a request is made that donations be made to a charity of his or her choice, it might be well to stop and think of these dedicated men who because of their promptness and know-how have in their own way saved many lives. Only by our support can they continue to be of service.

THANKS FROM RENDELL FAMILY

Editor,

To the residents of Coloma, Watervliet and surrounding areas:

I'm writing this in behalf of my husband, Miles, to extend our heartfelt thanks for the many cards, plants and numerous well-wishes extended to him during his confinement in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

A special thanks to Mrs. Marion Geisler, who was so thoughtful and concerned with our problem that started the fund for Miles at the Coloma State Bank. May God bless her and everyone of you who has contributed so generously in our behalf to the fund and we know that he will bless you in His own way.

Miles has been transferred to Mercy hospital for dialysis and commutes three to four times a week. We would encourage anyone and everyone to make a special effort at one time or another to please go to the hospital to see this fantastic kidney machine. It is a life saver and a life giver to so many people.

We thank God over and over for allowing the scientist the knowledge to perfect such a fantastic machine as the kidney machine. It's Great!!!

We cannot put words on paper to convey our much, much thanksto the public that we take so much for granted.

Words, time and postage limit us to thank each one of you personally for your prayers, well-wishes and monies but am hoping this public letter will in some small way convey our great gratitude to each and everyone of you.

The fund is over $1,500. Thanks again.

HOSPITAL MAN SAYS LAWYERS GET CREAM

Editor,

You are to be congratulated for publishing the recent series of articles which call attention to the current critical problem of the malpractice mess in the health field. The last in the series authored by Attorney Spence who is head of the American Trial Lawyers Association Malpractice Committee served to point out the most critical aspect of the problem. Health professionals are not asking for immunity, they are asking for reasonable and equitable solutions.

The physicians and the hospitals have accepted some of the fault but the lawyers point the finger at everyone else other than themselves. They adopted the same stance when no-fault auto insurance was proposed. They self-righteously proclaimed and expounded about their concern over the legal rights of the aggrieved individuals. The fact is, however, that the biggest percentage of the dollars paid in claims by insurance companies went to the lawyers and the smallest percentage to the individuals involved. It is interesting that in the State of Michigan there seems to be a direct correlation between the sharp increase in the number of medical malpractice cases filed by lawyers and advent of the auto no-fault law. Can this be only a coincidence?

Benton Harbor's building horizon soon may see a new three story structure containing a theatre, dance hall, store and office space on Elm street, Attorney I.W. Riford informed The News-Palladium today. Cost of the building is estimated at $150,000. The building will be located just west ot the Benton Harbor State bank.

Nine villages of Berrien county held spring elections Monday. Village heads elected are H.K. Nold, Baroda; J.E. Graham, Berrien Springs; C. Strayer, Buchanan; John Rorick, Coloma; C.H. Young, Eau Claire; O.A. Van Pelt, Galien; L.T. Bilesmer, New Buffalo; Wm. Ott, Stevensville, and G.F. Carrier, Three Oaks.

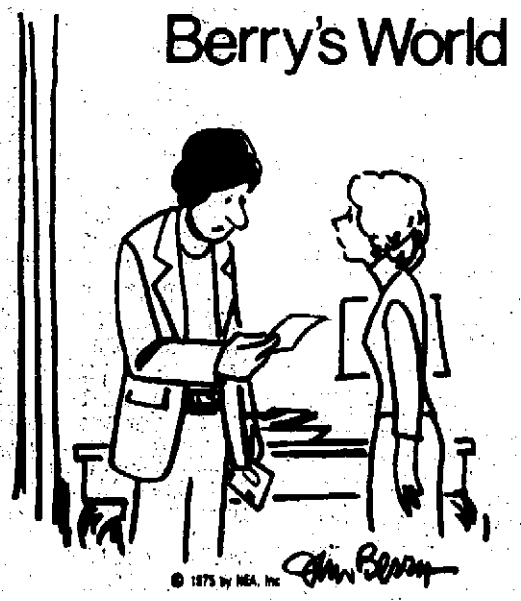

A tree tourist camp with modern conveniences entered upon the last stages to reality Monday afternoon when the Benton Harbor city commission voted to enact an ordinance providing for a site in Hall park. A comfort station to cost approximately $1,000 with septic tank sewage disposal will be erected by the city in the park.

Are Ladies Ready For Presidency?

WASHINGTON — Editors of Redbook magazine are asking a number of political observers to help find five women who have the qualications to be president of the United States. I'm afraid I must pass. I've thought on it for hours but still draw a blank. I don't believe there is a woman in the nation who, according to the word "qualifications," ranks in the presidential category.

Whoa! Watch the language, ladies. I shall explain.

There are dozens of women whom I believe could be president, even should be president. Constance Baker Motley, as example, the erudite and wholly together U.S. District judge in New York, is one. Dorothy Day, the agonizingly sensitive and thoroughly sensible Catholic poverty worker is another. Also, Ella Grasso, the new governor of Connecticut, Janet Gray Hayes, mayor of San Jose; Clare Booth Luce, Elanor Holmes Norton and Anne Armstrong — they and many more, some buried in obscurity, have the intelligence, compassion, energy and mental strength to be president.

But they don't have the traditional qualifications.

Nor do any other women in America. My own news service has recently compiled a first-draft list of what may be the 250 most influential ladies in the land — everybody from Bella Abzug (D-N.Y.) to Margaret Bush Wilson (NAACP) — and, though it is an interesting compilation of individuals, it is as a general representation of more than 100 million American women unimpressive, not to say downright discouraging.

Almost half the women on the list are distinguished primarily for careers as entertainers. This includes athletes such as Chris Evert (Chris Evert for president?), writers such as Marya Mannes, and actresses such as Mae West. They are stars, indeed, but not leaders. Ms. West could give a hell of a fireside chat, no doubt, but the subject here is: Helmanship, qualifications for. Pay attention.

There are, to be sure; a dozen politicians, a dozen business biggies and 16 eminent educators on the list of 250. But, sad to say, still no giants. Barbara Jordon (D-Tex.) is a tough, fearless legislator, but not a political force. Nor does Martha Peterson, board member of Exxon, come immediately to mind as an earthmover. Dr. Virginia Masters, of Masters and Johnson, has the courage of her convictions but her other half does not qualify for president either.

Beyond this, the list of the 250 most influential women is quietly humorous. Penny Tweedy is on it, she owns race horses. Rona Barrett is named, she, gad, is a Hollywood gossip. Julia Child is among the elite for her cooking skills, Julia Nixon Eisenhower is there for reasons unknown, and Martha Mitchell, who has never done much but marry John, is added obviously as the sex group's leading coo-coo. I apologize for the asides. The point is, these people are named among womanhood's most influential because — sigh — they are. Lacking more substantial candidates, the marginal characters have to be tapped.

What the feminists have been arguing, then, is bitterly true, though they do not put it thus. Kept in the subservient roll, women have been forbidden the right to qualify for something like the presidency. None in 200 years of the democracy has been able to accumulate the combination of prestige, power, influence and public acceptance necessary for the ultimate office. Many have gathered one or more of the qualifications (Eleanor Roosevelt) but never, not once, the whole package.

Rocky's Still Reversing Field

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has just set an all-time record for speed in changing his mind about whether he wants to be President or not.

And that, friends, is plenty fast, since he already has a well-deserved reputation as the nation's most ambivalent man on the subject.

Rockefeller managed to reverse himself within 24 hours last week. In the first conversation, held with reporters traveling in his airplane, he appeared to rule himself out as a future Presidential possibility. He pointed out his age, which is 67. He indicated that he expected President Ford to run in 1976. He said that as Vice President he was "not in a competitive situation." He added that anyone who considered him a likely candidate in 1980 had to be "crazy."

The next day, however, Rockefeller recanted most of that negative stuff. He denied he meant to leave the impression he would not be a possible Presidential candidate sometime in the future. He said he had "no idea" what the circumstances would be in 1976 and 1980. He said he had simply tried to indicate "I will not think about what is going to happen on some speculative thing about the future."

That latter line is suspiciously fishy, since Rockefeller has alternatively been tempted by and afraid of the Presidency since 1960, and there is a great deal of evidence he has thought of little else.

Speculating about reaching the White House has been a Rockefeller hobby so long he probably could not shake it if he tried. This is useful intelligence to keep in mind, since it may influence his conduct as Vice President toward a fellow who many believe will not run in 1976.

Rockefeller, it must be remembered, set up and funded the National Commission on Critical Choices as a vehicle to keep himself politically alive after he left the New York governorship and while he waited for 1976. Now that he has become Vice President, the commission is no longer helpful and he has abandoned it.

He campaigned vigorously for the Vice Presidency both when Spiro Agnew left and when Ford moved up to replace Richard Nixon.

In 1972, Rockefeller was forced to place his ambitions on ice because Nixon was popular and in full control of his party. But only four years previously, in 1968, Rockefeller put on a performance that must be a classic in the annals of Presidential politics.

He was in and out of the contest with monthly regularity. In early February, he said he would accept a draft for President. In late February, he said he was not a candidate and removed his name from the Wisconsin and Nebraska primaries.

In early March, he said he was "ready and willing" to run for President "if called upon." In late March, he made a much-anticipated statement in which his supporters expected him to announce his candidacy — but in which he refused to run.

In early April, he was back to being "available" again. On April 30, after all filing deadlines had passed for Presidential primaries, he formally entered the Presidential race. He got 277 votes at the GOP convention, which picked Nixon on the first ballot.

During that strange 1968 ritual, however, Rockefeller's indecision about which course to take apparently never meant at any time a lack of interest in the goal. If he reverses his reversal next month, we will know we are watching a repeat performance.

OPEC'S Summit Is Not All Bad News

Any time the suppliers of a critical commodity meet up on a street corner or have lunch their customers naturally anticipate another price increase and the Justice Department's anti-trust division starts to file papers in court.

Last week's OPEC meeting at Algiers (the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries) opened on this distressing note and concluded on another from which the oil importing nations may draw some measure of comfort.

What the cartel agreed upon is bad enough but not as upsetting as it could have been had every thought advanced by some volatile delegates been adopted.

Substantially, the Algiers session calls for pricing oil in terms of finished goods and raw commodities in world trade generally and those purchased by the OPEC countries, and a commitment from the consuming nations to export their engineering and agricultural know-how to OPEC.

The U.S. and some Western European states vehemently oppose the raw material qualification because it means that if Russia jacks up the price of manganese, then OPEC should lift its already inflated price on petroleum; but if for some reason the cost on this vital element in making iron and steel should drop, OPEC does not feel obligated to reduce its tag on oil.

The second section in the Algiers declaration broadens an arrangement which the French entered into with some Arab nations last year. In exchange for a guaranteed oil delivery France agrees to supply those countries with hardware ranging from ax handles to military jets and to furnish technological expertise.

In a word, OPEC intends to get the most mileage possible from its oil before that extractive resource runs out or a new energy source reduces petroleum consumption to lubricants and petro-chemicals.

Galling as may be a policy position deifying economic banditry, two major considerations should be kept in mind.

OPEC called the Algiers meeting for the reason that lowering demand has inserted a note of insecurity not present when its customers were under a full head of business steam. For some time several OPEC members have been shading their prices a bit from the officially posted figures. In that context the Algiers conclave resembles calling time out when a basketball team begins to lose its momentum over its opponent. A monopolist is a most unlovely person but he does understand the need to re-examine his practices when the demand for his product falls off.

For the record at least there is no demand upon OPEC customers to isolate Isreal as a concession to obtaining petroleum. This does not imply a repudiation of one theme for OPEC's founding. It does, however, indicate its members believe there is a limit to which economic pressure can go in meeting a military or diplomatic goal. The growing hope that Egypt and Isreal may reach a detente of sorts quite likely influenced the defusing of that intransigence.

The conference stopped short of adopting a recommendation from its presiding officer, President Houari Boumedienne, that OPEC freeze "real" petroleum prices for five years. What he proposed was adjusting the 1974 posted price upward to compenate for currency depreciation and worldwide inflation. While OPEC can repost its price at any time and at any level, rejecting Boumedienne's idea reaffirms our earlier comment about the unlovely momopolist.

The conference also buried a flamboyant thought voiced by a few members which would absolutely embargo oil shipment to any country researching for energy substitutes. Intriguing as the idea is to OPEC, calmer minds recognize the folly of trying to refrigerate mental ingenuity.

While denying OPEC bears any blame for the world's present instability, the conference acknowledged its existence and went on to say OPEC is prepared to negotiate for a stabilization of oil prices which will permit the consumer nations to make the necessary adjustments to their economies. Once more adverting to our unlovely monopolist, OPEC is saying it will not tighten its noose to the last notch.

Totally it would appear the prevailing viewpoint enunciated at Algiers hints OPEC is on the defensive as much as it might appear to Westerners, to be taking the opposite stance.

Good Running Mate For Some Candidate

If a prospective candidate for President of the United States were to stand before an audience and say of his worthy opponents — with approval: "They appear to profundicate in a ready manner and they appear able to readily fuzzify the viable options for national unity" — he could be none other than James H. Boren.

James who? Boren is president of the International Association of Professional Bureaucrats, a man who is having great fun carrying the bureaucratic demeanor to its ultimate, which isn't difficult if one really tries. Boren usually doesn't stand before audiences, of course. A died-in-the-wool bureaucrat thinks best when sitting before a paper-strewn desk.

Dynamic Inaction will be Boren's motto if indeed he decides to run for President. "Nothing will happen! Mistakes will be avoided."

What kind of candidate would be Boren's ideal?

"A presidential candidate should be one who recognizes that the real power of government lies neither in the executive nor the legislative nor the judicial. It lies in the bureaucracy, and the President merely serves as chairman of the advisory board."

As for Dynamic Inaction: "This whole philosophy is predicated on the fact that if you study a problem long enough it will either go away or people will forget about it."

Unemployment? "We can solve unemployment by putting people to work studying unemployment."

AMBULANCE CREW IS PRAISED

Editor,

As a resident of the City of Hartford, I feel that my family and I are very fortunate to have such an efficient ambulance crew to service us and our community.

So many times when someone dies, a request is made that donations be made to a charity of his or her choice, it might be well to stop and think of these dedicated men who because of their promptness and know-how have in their own way saved many lives. Only by our support can they continue to be of service.

THANKS FROM RENDELL FAMILY

Editor,

To the residents of Coloma, Watervliet and surrounding areas:

I'm writing this in behalf of my husband, Miles, to extend our heartfelt thanks for the many cards, plants and numerous well-wishes extended to him during his confinement in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

A special thanks to Mrs. Marion Geisler, who was so thoughtful and concerned with our problem that started the fund for Miles at the Coloma State Bank. May God bless her and everyone of you who has contributed so generously in our behalf to the fund and we know that he will bless you in His own way.

Miles has been transferred to Mercy hospital for dialysis and commutes three to four times a week. We would encourage anyone and everyone to make a special effort at one time or another to please go to the hospital to see this fantastic kidney machine. It is a life saver and a life giver to so many people.

We thank God over and over for allowing the scientist the knowledge to perfect such a fantastic machine as the kidney machine. It's Great!!!

We cannot put words on paper to convey our much, much thanksto the public that we take so much for granted.

Words, time and postage limit us to thank each one of you personally for your prayers, well-wishes and monies but am hoping this public letter will in some small way convey our great gratitude to each and everyone of you.

The fund is over $1,500. Thanks again.

St. Joe Asks County For Road Park Cash

St. Joseph has asked the Berrien county parks and recreation commission for $6,000 to develop a roadside park which would give motorists coming into the state their first good look at Lake Michigan.

The city proposes to match the county fund with another $6,000.

The park comprises 282 feet of frontage at 3240 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph. It is about half an acre, halfway between Hilltop road and Hawthorne avenue. The city also seeks to develop an additional park site immediately to the south. That area is now used as a sort of unofficial turnout.

The city proposes to build a four-foot chain link fence to keep youngsters from tumbling over the bluff. Other improvements include a 10-car parking lot, curb and gutter, landscaping and a lookout platform.

County park funds are distributed to local units grouped together in school districts. St. Joseph's bid must be approved by St. Joseph, Lincoln and Royalton townships. Shoreham village council has already endorsed the park plan.

The county parks and recreation commission is funded by the county and federal revenue sharing funds.

Assistant St. Joseph City Manager Richard Kiesel said the scenic turnout will be the first of its kind between the Indiana border and St. Joseph. Lake Michigan is visible to motorists in a few spots,, but there is no place where cars can stop immediately off the highway.

Energy Management Is Workshop Topic

Businessmen Invited To Stevensville

An energy management workshop will be held for representatives of small and medium-sized business and industry Marc 20 at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville.

The workshop is sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Department of Commerce. Registration is at 11:30 a.m. followed by a noon luncheon. The workshop begins at 1 p.m.

Chamber President John P. Banyon, division manager of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., said the purpose of the workshop is to assist businessmen in lowering their energy costs, increasing productivity, and eliminating waste and inefficiency.

Specialists from various parts of the nation will speak on different aspects of energy management. They are:

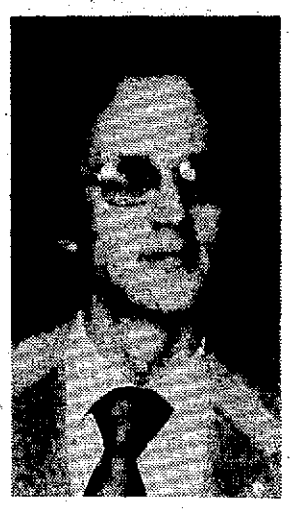

Harry Ruth, administrator, Energy Conservation Program, Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Department of Commerce, Lansing, "How to Perform an Energy Management Survey on Your Business"; James Taylor, executive vice president, Q-Dot Corp., Dallas, Texas, "Potential Application of Heat Recovery Equipment on Existing Equipment and Savings to be Realized";

Also E.L. Brown, manufacturing representative, Industrial Products division, Johns-Manville Corp., Livonia, Mich., "Industrial and Commercial Application of Insulation on Structures and Space Heating Equipment"; and Donald Conley, Pappas & Conley Associates, Inc., sales and service agent, Cleaver-Brooks Boiler Co., MadisonHeights, Mich., "Operation and Maintenance of Small Boilers".

In addition, local representatives of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. and Michigan Gas Utilities Co. will be in attendance to discuss any questions on energy management.

The Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Economic Expansion, according to Banyon, is now implementing a program to provide energy conservation assistance to small and medium sized business and industry in Michigan.

Funded by a grant from the Economic Development administration for $60,500, the project will develop energy management handbooks for use by business, sponsor a series of workshops on improved energy management, and provide direct technical assistance upon request.

HARRY RUTH
One of speakers

In addition, Banyon said, the project is gathering information from around the country relative to the latest energy consevation techniques for business and industry. It is working closely with federal agencies, such as the U.S. Department of Commerce, who are developing programs to assist businesses to save energy. A major goal of the project, Banyon said, is to see that information is made available to Michigan firms as quickly as possible.

Cost of the seminar, including lunch, is $4.50 per person. Reservations have been mailed to business and industry in Berrien county, but if anyone is interested and did not receive information on the workshop, they may make a reservation by calling the chamber office in Benton Harbor at 925-0044.

Workers Being Recalled

Whirlpool's St. Joseph division today announced it will recall in early April approximately 15 to 20 per cent of currently laidoff workers.

August Brogno, division general manager said the recall will be to meet a 40 per cent increase in production of 29-inch automatic washers.

Brogno said the increase at the St. Joseph division was due to normal seasonal level adjustments. "Although there has also been a slight pickup in customer orders compared to the depressed levels in the last few months, the division is still considerably below schedule levels maintained during the same period in 1974," Brogno said.

The division reported as of Feb. 15 that about 850 hourly workers were on layoff at St. Joseph. The division normally has about 1,800 hourly workers.

Man Hit By Auto 'Critical'

An elderly Bainbridge township man was injured seriously when struck by an auto while walking near his home Saturday afternoon, according to Berrien sheriff deputies.

Deputies said the motorist received apparently minor injuries, when the car was steered into a ditch in an attempt to avoid the accident.

Reported in "critical" condition this morning at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, was Myrl Peters, 76, of Napier road, Bainbridge township. Deputies said Peters reported he was walking in the road to pick up the mail and didn't remember anything else.

Treated and released from Mercy was the driver, Charles H. Kellner, Jr., 24, Pitcher drive, Route 4, Benton Harbor.

The accident occurred about 1:40 p.m. on Napier road, near the Peters home. Kellner told officers he was westbound and encountered a man standing in the road as the car reached the crest of a hill.

Kellner said he appplied the brakes and swerved to the left, but collided with the man. The car went into a ditch and struck some trees. No summonses were issued, officers stated.

Darkness Thwarts Intruder

Benton township police reported a simple method was used to rout and intruder from a home: Turn out the lights.

A break-in and robbery attempt occurred about 8:23 p.m. Saturday at the home of Mrs. Maraleta Brown, 600 Valley View drive. Valley View runs west off M-139, south of I-94.

Police said a visitor identified a Alfred L. Kleim, address not given, was in the family room when an intruder kicked in the front door. Police were told that Kleim slammed the family room door shut,, ran to the basement and threw a master switch. The lights went out.

Police said Mrs. Brown and her daughter, Lolita, 9, were also in the house. The intruder reportedly fled when the lights went out.

The intruder was described as a white man, wearing a gray ski mask and carrying a pistol in each hand. Witnesses outside told police three men were seen running toward nearby Somerlayton road. Only one man was reported in the house. Police said there were scuff marks on the front door and footprints were followed to Somerlayton road, where they were lost.

Math Fun Has Sci-Fi Flavor

Sound like the ingredients of a science fiction movie?

Actually, these are the names of some of the activities more than 500 students took part in Saturday at the fifth annual Twin Cities area Math Field day.

Students from as far as Lawrence filtered through the halls of St. Joseph high school where the event was held.

Grades six through nine were represented as students tackled math problems disguised in games such as fraction bingo, equations, magic squares and line design.

The event, sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Math Teachers, was for students to have fun with mathematics. Each student was allowed to take part in two of 18 activities.

"I had one student who came back a second time instead of switching to a new activity," said Thomas Porter. Porter was in charge of a new game he introduced this year called "The Game of Life."

"The game involves space perception and an appreciation of precision," he said. "It seems to have a mind of its own," according to Porter.

Porter explained the game is a biological simulation involving life, death and population control. By following the rules one can create several generations of one family.

The game seems to attract a wide age group. Porter said he has played it on computers and has a second-grader at home who plays it. He said the results of the game are different each time.

Also in attendance were three instructors from the Cassopolis school district, who viewed the activities in hopes of setting up a similar one in their area.

Miss Mary Reed, instructor at Benton Harbor high school, also noted an unusual visitor, a recent dropout who enlisted in the Marines, but apparently thought enough of Math Field day to attend school one more time.

Other programs were chess, a special section on metrics, a Walt Disney movie on mathematics and a section for students to become acquainted with calculators.

Ken Weber, vice president of the Twin Cities Math Teachers, said the turnout was as well as could be expected considering poor weather Saturday morning.

St. Joe Asks County For Road Park Cash

St. Joseph has asked the Berrien county parks and recreation commission for $6,000 to develop a roadside park which would give motorists coming into the state their first good look at Lake Michigan.

The city proposes to match the county fund with another $6,000.

The park comprises 282 feet of frontage at 3240 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph. It is about half an acre, halfway between Hilltop road and Hawthorne avenue. The city also seeks to develop an additional park site immediately to the south. That area is now used as a sort of unofficial turnout.

The city proposes to build a four-foot chain link fence to keep youngsters from tumbling over the bluff. Other improvements include a 10-car parking lot, curb and gutter, landscaping and a lookout platform.

County park funds are distributed to local units grouped together in school districts. St. Joseph's bid must be approved by St. Joseph, Lincoln and Royalton townships. Shoreham village council has already endorsed the park plan.

The county parks and recreation commission is funded by the county and federal revenue sharing funds.

Assistant St. Joseph City Manager Richard Kiesel said the scenic turnout will be the first of its kind between the Indiana border and St. Joseph. Lake Michigan is visible to motorists in a few spots,, but there is no place where cars can stop immediately off the highway.

Energy Management Is Workshop Topic

Businessmen Invited To Stevensville

An energy management workshop will be held for representatives of small and medium-sized business and industry Marc 20 at Win Schuler's restaurant, Stevensville.

The workshop is sponsored by the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan Department of Commerce. Registration is at 11:30 a.m. followed by a noon luncheon. The workshop begins at 1 p.m.

Chamber President John P. Banyon, division manager of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co., said the purpose of the workshop is to assist businessmen in lowering their energy costs, increasing productivity, and eliminating waste and inefficiency.

Specialists from various parts of the nation will speak on different aspects of energy management. They are:

Harry Ruth, administrator, Energy Conservation Program, Office of Economic Expansion, Michigan Department of Commerce, Lansing, "How to Perform an Energy Management Survey on Your Business"; James Taylor, executive vice president, Q-Dot Corp., Dallas, Texas, "Potential Application of Heat Recovery Equipment on Existing Equipment and Savings to be Realized";

Also E.L. Brown, manufacturing representative, Industrial Products division, Johns-Manville Corp., Livonia, Mich., "Industrial and Commercial Application of Insulation on Structures and Space Heating Equipment"; and Donald Conley, Pappas & Conley Associates, Inc., sales and service agent, Cleaver-Brooks Boiler Co., MadisonHeights, Mich., "Operation and Maintenance of Small Boilers".

In addition, local representatives of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. and Michigan Gas Utilties Co. will be in attendance to discuss any questions on energy management.

The Michigan Department of Commerce, Office of Economic Expansion, according to Banyon, is now implementing a program to provide energy conservation assistance to small and medium sized business and industry in Michigan.

Funded by a grant from the Economic Development administration for $60,500, the project will develop energy management handbooks for use by business, sponsor a series of workshops on improved energy management, and provide direct technical assistance upon request.

In addition, Banyon said, the project is gathering information from around the country relative to the latest energy consevation techniques for business and industry. It is working closely with federal agencies, such as the U.S. Department of Commerce, who are developing programs to assist businesses to save energy. A major goal of the project, Banyon said, is to see that information is made available to Michigan firms as quickly as possible.

Plan Montessori Discussion

NEW SCHOOL: Michael Emlong, 6, left, and Bess German, 2½, work with sound cylinders which are a sample of the learning materials used in the Montessori classroom. A meeting to discuss possibilities of establishing such a school for youngsters 2½ through six will be held Thursday, March 13, at 7:30 p.m. at Lake Michigan Catholic elementary school, Benton Harbor. (Staff photo)

Meeting Thursday

A second discussion session on the possibilities of establishing a Montessori school for children of this area will be held Thursday, March 13, at 7:30 p.m. at Lake Michigan Catholic elementary school, Benton Harbor.

All interested persons are invited.

Persons working to establish such a school are hopeful a Montessori school can open next September for children ages 2½ through six. If the school proves successful, other ages could be added later.

She holds a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education from St. Mary's college, Notre Dame, Ind., a master of arts degree in early childhood education from Western Michigan university and received her Montessori training at Michigan Training Center, Drayton Plains.

The Montessori system of education is both a philosophy of child growth and a rationale for guiding such growth. It is based on the child's developmental needs for freedom within limits, and a carefully prepared environment which guarantees exposure to materials and experiences through which to develop intelligence as well as hysical and psychological abilities.

It is designed to take full advantage of the self-motivation and unique ability of young children to develop their own capabilities.

A key element in the Montessori classroom is the emphasis placed on self-education through self-corrective materials. Many of the Montessori materials have a built-in control of error.

The learning materials are so designed that each new facet signaled out for learning is isolated from the complex and distracting conditions which usually surround it. Thus, a child learns clearly a single characteristic at a time.

Current automated teaching devices are only as good as the programmed steps that have been anticipated in the learning process. Similarly, in a Montesorri classroom, the materials represent an analysis of and programmed introduction to the child's environment.

Area Bridge Players To Join National Event

Twin City area duplicate bridge players will join thousands of players throughout North America Friday, March 14, in competition to benefit the American Cancer Society.

Dekka Bridge club, an affiliate of the American Contract Bridge League (ACBL), will sponsor the twin city charity game at St. Paul's Episcopal church, 914 Lane drive, St. Joseph, with play beginning at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Darvill, charity chairman for Dekka Bridge club, says the public is invited to participate. Playing fee is $2.25.

Players from United States, Canada, Mexico and Bermuda will play the same hands under nearly identical conditions. There will be only one winner — the pair with the best percentage score on the computer-dealt hands.

Also competing for international recognition will be players in the American Contract Bridge League's spring national championships in Honolulu, Hawaii, who will play the same hands at the same time.

Prizes will be presented to the ACBL continent-wide winners as well as the victors in each of the 25 districts within the ACBL. Additionally, masterpoints will be accorded to all who finish well in each and every game. These masterpoints are a method of ranking duplicate bridge players on an international basis.

Proceeds from this game will be distributed through the ACBL charity foundation to the American Cancer Society to be used for research into the causes, cure and prevention of cancer.

Committee chairmen participating in planning the Dekka charity game include Mrs. Robert Darvill, 2035 Fricke, Benton Harbor; Karl Benson, 1001 Trail Lane, St. Joseph; Mrs. Carl Schrenk, 809 Lattimer, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Marshall Feeley, 2135 West Glenlord road, Stevensville.

Persons planning on participating are asked to contact either Mrs. Darvill or Mrs. Feeley as half tables are not permitted.

Dekka Duplicate Bridge club meets every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal church, St. Joseph, with Arthur M. Lorentzsen, director.

Other local clubs include Ryans Duplicate Bridge club with Mrs. Patrick Ryan as director which meets the first and third Sundays of each month, except June, July and August, at 6:45 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Benton Harbor.

Also Twin City Duplicate which meets each Thursday at 12:45 p.m., except June, July and August, at the Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, 500 Market street, St. Joseph. During June, July and August, the club meets each Monday at 12:45 p.m. Mrs. Marshall Feeley is director.

Around the clock with WOMEN

Represents Major Party Change

EAST LANSING — The fact that the new head of Britain's Conservative party is a woman doesn't mean much. What does mean a great deal is the fact that she represents a major change in Conservative party politics.

So says Dr. Robert Banks, an expert on British labor and industrial relations and dean of Michigan State university's James Madison college.

Margaret Thatcher, the new head of the Conservative party, was elected to head the party at a time when Britain is in severe economic trouble.

Inflation has hit Britain hard. Since last year, inflation has gone up to 25 per cent. This means to continue with the same economic standing, a British worker must make 25 per cent more than he did last year.

The balance of payments deficit has skyrocketed, due greatly to the rising cost of petroleum.

None of these things are about to change, says Banks. Miners have just received a 30 per cent pay increase, and this pay increase is expected to cause a "ripple" effect, with other workers demanding the same type of increase. The North Sea oil reserves won't be producing until the late 1970's, so the oil related deficits will remain.

Margaret Thatcher was elected to head the Conservative party in the midst of these economic woes. Her election reflects a mood change in the Conservative party — and a major shift in policies.

Mrs. Thatcher is known as a conservative politician, says Banks. Her election signifies that the Conservative party itself is becoming more conservative, a change from the liberal, moderate welfare state it has advocated in the past.

The Conservative party wants to give a choice to the voters, feeling that there hasn't been one for quite some time.

Mrs. Thatcher has had a great deal of experience in British politics. She's been a member of the party for a long time. When she was the education secretary in the 1970-74 government for former Prime Minister Edward Heath, she changed the education system of Britain from a two-part system of trade schools and college preparatory schools to a system more like the United States. She is well respected in British politics.

Since there is no election scheduled in Britain until 1979, it's hard to know just what her impact would be on the people of Britain, or what programs she would initiate. But, according to Banks, "One would suspect that Mrs. Thatcher would try to balance the budget, even at a cost of higher unemployment."

The outlook for Mrs. Thatcher is somewhat bleak. If she were elected, she would be the first prime minister in over 35 years not to have any experience in foreign affairs. This might be a drawback in the voters' eyes. And the Labour party is assuming that everything being equal, that the British voters still won't trust a woman in the higher political position in Britain. But, Banks cautions, with the economic conditions what they are in Britain today, the situation may change rapidly.

Lenten Meditation

Rev. Ross Bance
Newhope and Scottdale United Methodist Churches
Today's Scripture: John 6:12-13

Indeed this is a miracle! Not the magic of multiplication, but the breaking open of dull perceptions to the incandescent awareness that the life we eat to sustain is, in every dimension, a gift from God.

As we eat and drink we easily recognize that we are nurturing our bodies.

Less transparent is the awareness that we are participating in God's continuing creativity. This was the intent of that marvelous moment when Jesus blessed the loaves and fishes, fed five thousand people, and asked twelve baskets of remainder to be picked up!

As Jesus, the Christ, blessed the ordinary food, it trembled with all the life which God was offering to His people through His Son.

It was received, not as bread only, but as the carrier of eternal life which surrounds every moment of our time with its timelessness.

When the people ate they were filled with the new awareness that God in Christ was the source and center of all that makes any meal worth eating.

"Not I who live, but Christ in me . . . I have eaten bread from his table . . ."

Washing Aids Restoration

If you own a piec of old wood furniture that would look better cleaner, but you aren't sure it can be washed, try working on a small inconspicuous spot first. If the test zone becomes streaked or blossoms a whitish haze, abandon the project and seek the help of an expert.

Should the testing prove safe, use mineral spirits to remove old wax. Prepare a solution of four tablespoons detergent or soap to a half gallon of warm water. Dip a soft-bristled brush into the sudsy solution, lightly shake out excess moisture and proceed carefully. Wash, rinse and dry small areas at a time.

Wait at least 24 hours to be sure the furniture is completely dry; then apply a hard-paste furniture wax and buff with a soft cloth.

Miss Terry To Wed Alan Stybursk

NEW TROY — The engagement of Miss Barbara Terry to Alan Stybursk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stybursk, Box 32, New Troy, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Terry, Jerseyville, Ill.

Her fiance is a graduate of New Troy high school and is employed with his father as a building contractor in New Troy.

Sparkling Chandelier

You can have a sparkling crystal chandelier without taking the whole thing apart.

Wash the parts which do not contain electrical wires by using a tall, narrow olive jar filled with a strong solution of detergent and water.

Place newspapers or towels on the table beneath the fixture, then run the jar well up under those lobes, prisms, and crystal drops. Watch the grime wash away and fall into the jar. Rinse with clear water using the same method — the olive jar.

Mrs. Robert Darvill, charity chairman for Dekka Bridge club, says the public is invited to participate. Playing fee is $2.25.

Players from United States, Canada, Mexico and Bermuda will play the same hands under nearly identical conditions. There will be only one winner — the pair with the best percentage score on the computer-dealt hands.

Also competing for international recognition will be players in the American Contract Bridge League's spring national championships in Honolulu, Hawaii, who will play the same hands at the same time.

Prizes will be presented to the ACBL continent-wide winners as well as the victors in each of the 25 districts within the ACBL. Additionally, masterpoints will be accorded to all who finish well in each and every game. These masterpoints are a method of ranking duplicate bridge players on an international basis.

Proceeds from this game will be distributed through the ACBL charity foundation to the American Cancer Society to be used for research into the causes, cure and prevention of cancer.

Committee chairmen participating in planning the Dekka charity game include Mrs. Robert Darvill, 2035 Fricke, Benton Harbor; Karl Benson, 1001 Trail Lane, St. Joseph; Mrs. Carl Schrenk, 809 Lattimer, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Marshall Feeley, 2135 West Glenlord road, Stevensville.

Persons planning on participating are asked to contact either Mrs. Darvill or Mrs. Feeley as half tables are not permitted.

Dekka Duplicate Bridge club meets every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal church, St. Joseph, with Arthur M. Lorentzsen, director.

Other local clubs include Ryans Duplicate Bridge club with Mrs. Patrick Ryan as director which meets the first and third Sundays of each month, except June, July and August, at 6:45 p.m. at the Ramada Inn, Benton Harbor.

Also Twin City Duplicate which meets each Thursday at 12:45 p.m., except June, July and August, at the Maud Preston Palenske Memorial library, 500 Market street, St. Joseph. During June, July and August, the club meets each Monday at 12:45 p.m. Mrs. Marshall Feeley is director.

Around the clock with WOMEN

Represents Major Party Change

EAST LANSING — The fact that the new head of Britain's Conservative party is a woman doesn't mean much. What does mean a great deal is the fact that she represents a major change in Conservative party politics.

So says Dr. Robert Banks, an expert on British labor and industrial relations and dean of Michigan State university's James Madison college.

Margaret Thatcher, the new head of the Conservative party, was elected to head the party at a time when Britain is in severe economic trouble.

Inflation has hit Britain hard. Since last year, inflation has gone up to 25 per cent. This means to continue with the same economic standing, a British worker must make 25 per cent more than he did last year.

The balance of payments deficit has skyrocketed, due greatly to the rising cost of petroleum.

None of these things are about to change, says Banks. Miners have just received a 30 per cent pay increase, and this pay increase is expected to cause a "ripple" effect, with other workers demanding the same type of increase. The North Sea oil reserves won't be producing until the late 1970's, so the oil related deficits will remain.

Margaret Thatcher was elected to head the Conservative party in the midst of these economic woes. Her election reflects a mood change in the Conservative party — and a major shift in policies.

Mrs. Thatcher is known as a conservative politician, says Banks. Her election signifies that the Conservative party itself is becoming more conservative, a change from the liberal, moderate welfare state it has advocated in the past.

The Conservative party wants to give a choice to the voters, feeling that there hasn't been one for quite some time.

Mrs. Thatcher has had a great deal of experience in British politics. She's been a member of the party for a long time. When she was the education secretary in the 1970-74 government for former Prime Minister Edward Heath, she changed the education system of Britain from a two-part system of trade schools and college preparatory schools to a system more like the United States. She is well respected in British politics.

Since there is no election scheduled in Britain until 1979, it's hard to know just what her impact would be on the people of Britain, or what programs she would initiate. But, according to Banks, "One would suspect that Mrs. Thatcher would try to balance the budget, even at a cost of higher unemployment."

The outlook for Mrs. Thatcher is somewhat bleak. If she were elected, she would be the first prime minister in over 35 years not to have any experience in foreign affairs. This might be a drawback in the voters' eyes. And the Labour party is assuming that everything being equal, that the British voters still won't trust a woman in the higher political position in Britain. But, Banks cautions, with the economic conditions what they are in Britain today, the situation may change rapidly.

Lenten Meditation

Rev. Ross Bunce
Newhope and Scottdale United Methodist Churches
Today's Scripture: John 6:12-13

Indeed this is a miracle! Not the magic of multiplication, but the breaking open of dull perceptions to the incandescent awareness that the life we eat to sustain is, in every dimension, a gift from God.

As we eat and drink we easily recognize that we are nurturing our bodies.

Less transparent is the awareness that we are participating in God's continuing creativity. This was the intent of that marvelous moment when Jesus blessed the loaves and fishes, fed five thousand people, and asked twelve baskets of remainder to be picked up!

As Jesus, the Christ, blessed the ordinary food, it trembled with all the life which God was offering to His people through His Son.

It was received, not as bread only, but as the carrier of eternal life which surrounds every moment of our time with its timelessness.

When the people ate they were filled with the new awareness that God in Christ was the source and center of all that makes any meal worth eating.

"Not I who live, but Christ in me . . . I have eaten bread from his table . . . "

Washing Aids Restoration

If you own a piec of old wood furniture that would look better cleaner, but you aren't sure it can be washed, try working on a small inconspicuous spot first. If the test zone becomes streaked or blossoms a whitish haze, abandon the project and seek the help of an expert.

Should the testing prove safe, use mineral spirits to remove old wax. Prepare a solution of four tablespoons detergent or soap to a half gallon of warm water. Dip a soft-bristled brush into the sudsy solution, lightly shake out excess moisture and proceed carefully. Wash, rinse and dry small areas at a time.

Wait at least 24 hours to be sure the furniture is completely dry; then apply a hard-paste furniture wax and buff with a soft cloth.

Miss Terry To Wed Alan Styburski

NEW TROY — The engagement of Miss Barbara Terry to Alan Styburski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Styburski, Box 32, New Troy, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Terry, Jerseyville, Ill.

Her fiance is a graduate of New Troy high school and is employed with his father as a building contractor in New Troy.

LOTS OF LUMBER

Sparkling Chandelier

You can have a sparkling crystal chandelier without taking the whole thing apart.

Wash the parts which do not contain electrical wires by using a tall, narrow olive jar filled with a strong solution of detergent and water.

Place newspapers or towels on the table beneath the fixture, then run the jar well up under those lobes, prisms, and crystal drops. Watch the grime wash away and fall into the jar. Rinse with clear water using the same method — the olive jar.

Holiday Observance Varies

St. Patrick's Day is celebrated in America March 17 with parades, parties and the exchange of millions of green-tinted greeting cards.

But in Ireland it is primarily a religious occasion, the start of a three-day period of devotion. Dublin's St. Patrick's Day parade is a far more formal procession than those in the United States. Irish inns once offered customers a "Patrick's pot" of beer or whiskey on March 17, along with bread and fish.

Another old tradition was to serve a plateful of shamrocks at breakfast. The master of the house soaked the shamrocks in whiskey and gave the rest of the newly opened bottle to the servants. That tradition lapsed, but shamrocks remain the universal symbol of St. Patrick's Day.

Parental Discretion

At a time of my life when it is difficult for me to make a decision between a cheap weak bleach or a stubborn stain fighter, I am hit with yet another responsibility: PARENTAL DISCRETION.

PARENTAL DISCRETION is a full-time job in this country. You can't turn around without a child shoving a movie ad or a TV Guide into your face with a little box that reads, "Due to mature subject matter, PARENTAL DISCRETION is advised."

I used to read a lot...and needlepoint...now all I get done is discret.

Last week alone I had to discret on a drama dealing with a necktie strangler, a young girl who murdered both of her parents with an axe, Requium For a Nun, a hotel full of weirdos and a chaplain who fooled around.

"Mom, can't we watch the show on the nun?"

"No, the listing says the language and the racial epithets are offensive."

"What are racial epithets?" asked my son.

"Something naval officers wear on their shoulders."

"Are you sure?" he squinted.

"How about a poem on a tombstone?" I asked.

"Yes, but he's doing it on prime time...as a career. Why don't you see a nice movie?"

Actually, my kids and I witness more violence between one another on what they're going to view as they're likely to see on a screen anywhere.

"Can we see Lenny?" one asked.

"No. It's loaded with perversion."

"What's perversion?" he persisted.

"How about Confessions of a Window Cleaner?" he pursued.

"How about Blazing Saddles?"

"I heard there're enough four-letter words in it to open a branch Navy in every country in the world. And the same goes for Young Frankenstein."

As I slumped exhausted into a chair I said to my husband, "You discret for awhile."

"How can you exercise discretion on movies and TV shows you've never seen? I mean, how do you know Young Frankenstein is objectionable?"

"Easy. Everyone in their class loved it!"

Take Your Choice

Do you like your bread with a crisp crust, or do you prefer it tender?

If you bake your own, you can take your choice. For a soft, bright, tender crust, brush the baked loaves with butter. For a crisp crust, let the bread cool naturally — do not butter the crust.

If you like a glazed crust, brush the dough before baking with a mixture of one slightly beaten egg yolk and four tablespoons of water.

Nuptial Vows

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Pastor Warren T. Skilton performed the wedding ceremony March 2 for Miss Kathy Diane Mayer and his son, Gary Charles Skilton in the Milton Seventh-day Adventist church, Milton, Wis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Mayer, Milton. The groom is the son of Pastor and Mrs. Warren T. Skilton, Worland, Wyo.

The bride wore a Victorian gown of nylon organza trimmed with venise and cluny lace and designed with an apron-effect and chapel train. A Camelot headpiece held her cathedral length veil and she carried roses, carnations, spider mums and baby's breath.

Mrs. Gary Hartman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Gail Skilton, twin sister of the groom, Miss Georgia Schricker, Miss Jill Freeman and Miss Maureen McNeilus.

Serving as his brother's best man was Robert Skilton. Ushers were John Hambuch, Allen Rilbro, Bruce Champion, Dennis Haley, Ken Bauer, Bruce Champion and Dennis Haley.

The bride is a graduate of Wisconsin Academy, Columbus, Wis., and attended Andrews university. She was employed at Shumway Appliances, Milton. Her husband is a graduate of Wisconsin Academy and received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Andrews university. He is employed at Raymond D. Roberts CPA firm, Berrien Springs.

Holiday Observance Varies

St. Patrick's Day is celebrated in America March 17 with parades, parties and the exchange of millions of green-tinted greeting cards.

But in Ireland it is primarily a religious occasion, the start of a three-day period of devotion. Dublin's St. Patrick's Day parade is a far more formal procession than those in the United States. Irish inns once offered customers a "Patrick's pot" of beer or whiskey on March 17, along with bread and fish.

Another old tradition was to serve a plateful of shamrocks at breakfast. The master of the house soaked the shamrocks in whiskey and gave the rest of the newly opened bottle to the servants. That tradition lapsed, but shamrocks remain the universal symbol of St. Patrick's Day.

Meetings Set

BUCHANAN — A program on "Global Ministries" will be presented at a meeting of the Friendship Circle of the First United Methodist church at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, March 11.

Guest speaker will be James Brinks of Stone Mountain, Ga., who is in charge of publicity for the United Methodist Board of Missions. He and his wife served as missionaries at Sarawak, Malaysia, for three years.

Mrs. John Heiermann will be chairman of the refreshment committee.

BUCHANAN — Indian Hills School Community club will sponsor its annual roller skating party for students and their families Tuesday, March 11, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Skateland rink, Edwardsburg.

Mrs. Robert Davis is chairman for the event.

BUCHANAN — United Women's group of Faith United Methodist church will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 11, in the Fellowship hall.

Mrs. Robert Surch will present the program, "Easter, The Tree Springs to Life."

Parental Discretion

At a time of my life when it is difficult for me to make a decision between a cheap weak bleach or a stubborn stain fighter, I am hit with yet another responsibility: PARENTAL DISCRETION.

PARENTAL DISCRETION is a full-time job in this country. You can't turn around without a child shoving a movie ad or a TV Guide into your face with a little box that reads, "Due to mature subject matter, PARENTAL DISCRETION is advised."

I used to read a lot...and needlepoint...now all I get done is discret.

Last week alone I had to discret on a drama dealing with a necktie strangler, a young girl who murdered both of her parents with an axe, Requium For a Nun, a hotel full of weirdos and a chaplain who fooled around.

"Mom, can't we watch the show on the nun?"

"No, the listing says the language and the racial epithets are offensive."

"What are racial epithets?" asked my son.

"Something naval officers wear on their shoulders."

"Are you sure?" he squinted.

"How about a poem on a tombstone?" I asked.

"Yes, but he's doing it on prime time...as a career. Why don't you see a nice movie?"

Actually, my kids and I witness more violence between one another on what they're going to view as they're likely to see on a screen anywhere.

"Can we see Lenny?" one asked.

"No. It's loaded with perversion."

"What's perversion?" he persisted.

"How about Confessions of a Window Cleaner?" he pursued.

"How about Blazing Saddles?"

"I heard there're enough four-letter words in it to open a branch Navy in every country in the world. And the same goes for Young Frankenstein."

As I slumped exhausted into a chair I said to my husband, "You discret for awhile."

"How can you exercise discretion on movies and TV shows you've never seen? I mean, how do you know Young Frankenstein is objectionable?"

"Easy. Everyone in their class loved it!"

Take Your Choice

Do you like your bread with a crisp crust, or do you prefer it tender?

If you bake your own, you can take your choice. For a soft, bright, tender crust, brush the baked loaves with butter. For a crisp crust, let the bread cool naturally — do not butter the crust.

If you like a glazed crust, brush the dough before baking with a mixture of one slightly beaten egg yolk and four tablespoons of water.

Nuptial Vows

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Pastor Warren T. Skilton performed the wedding ceremony March 2 for Miss Kathy Diane Mayer and his son, Gary Charles Skilton in the Milton Seventh-day Adventist church, Milton, Wis.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Earl S. Mayer, Milton. The groom is the son of Pastor and Mrs. Warren T. Skilton, Worland, Wyo.

The bride wore a Victorian gown of nylon organza trimmed with venise and cluny lace and designed with an apron-effect and chapel train. A Camelot headpiece held her cathedral length veil and she carried roses, carnations, spider mums and baby's breath.

Mrs. Gary Hartman, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Gail Skilton, twin sister of the groom, Miss Georgia Schricker, Miss Jill Freeman and Miss Maureen McNeilus.

Serving as his brother's best man was Robert Skilton. Ushers were John Hambuch, Allen Rilbro, Bruce Champion, Dennis Haley, Ken Bauer, Bruce Champion and Dennis Haley.

A reception was held in the church.

MRS. GARY SKILTON
Kathy Mayer

The bride is a graduate of Wisconsin Academy, Columbus, Wis., and attended Andrews university. She was employed at Shumway Appliances, Milton. Her husband is a graduate of Wisconsin Academy and received a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Andrews university. He is employed at Raymond D. Roberts CPA firm, Berrien Springs.

Barracks To Meet

THREE OAKS — Veterans of World War I, Barracks No. 3438, will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday, March 12, in the American Legion Hall, Three Oaks.

Ruth Brock, project director of nutrition for Berrien county, will speak on "Nutrition."

REPLANT FORESTS

More than 95 percent of the private forest acreage being clearcut in Washington is being replanted within a year, avers the U.S. Forest Service.

CHILL DOUGH

If you are making a large number of drop cookies and the first batch spreads too much on the cookie sheet, chill the remaining dough and then drop onto a cold cookie sheet.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

The Impractical Jokers

Dear Ann Landers: I've discovered the perfect solution for toning down husband-wife fights. Whenever Mary Jane and I sense an argument is getting too hot, it's a signal to start pulling little jokes on one another to ease the tension.

For example, last week we had a silly dispute about the car. I put an end to it by filling the toes of her house shoes with grape jelly. When she stepped into them I heard her roar with laughter.

It's not all one-sided, however. Three Concerts At WMU

Three concerts, featuring works for two pianos, New York's Western Brass Quintet and the University Percussion Ensemble, will be presented this week at Oakland Recital Hall, Western Michigan university.

The recitals are open to the public free of charge.

A concert of works for two pianos will be given Wednesday, March 12, at 8 p.m. by Madeline Williamson and Janet Meyer.

Williamson, a faculty member in the department of music at WMU where she teaches piano, received her master of music degree from WMU after having done undergraduate work at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Meyer, a graduate assistant in piano for the department of music, has a bachelor of music education degree and a master's in music education from the University of Wisconsin. She will receive her master of music degree in applied piano from WMU in April.

The Western Brass Quintet, which plans a tour of the Eastern United States in late April, will present a preview of its program Friday, March 14, at 8 p.m.

The last stop on its tour will be New York's famed Carnegie Recital Hall.

The quintet is composed of Donald Bullock and Stephen Jones, trumpets; Neill Sanders, French horn; Russell Brown, trombone, and Robert Whaley, tuba.

The March 14 program will include a repertoire from the Baroque and contemporary periods.

The University Percussion Ensemble will present its program Sunday, March 16, at 3 p.m. under the direction of Don Baker.

The Percussion Ensemble is comprised of bob students who are percussion majors as well as those who are merely interested in the study of percussion literature.

Works will range from popular tunes such as "Shaft" and "Summer of '42" to more serious music, "4 for Percussion" and "Ceremonial."

Senior Citizens

THREE OAKS — The first of several events planned for senior citizens of the River Valley area for March is a potluck supper at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 11, in the River Valley high school cafeteria, according to Judy Ponegalek, coordinator of the River Valley Senior Center, Harbert.

Following the supper, Lewis Bartholomew of Niles will present a slide program of Alaska.

Mrs. William Germinder of Three Oaks will demonstrate how to make yarn-covered dress hangers at the arts and crafts session Monday, March 17, at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center.

On Thursday, March 20, a trip to Kalamazoo to tour the Upjohn plant is planned.

Cost for the trip and tour will be $4 and reservations should be made.

The bus will leave the Center at 8 a.m. and return around 5 p.m.

Each Thursday, March 13, 20 and 27, at 1 p.m. cancer dressings will be made at the Center.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have been putting off having a sigmoidoscopy. I hear it is very painful. Is there some other way that the rectum can be studied?

Mrs. J.V., R.I.

Dear Mrs. V.:

The "authority" who told you that a sigmoidoscopy is painful did you an injustice. You have put off a simple examination that obviously was suggested to you by your doctor.

A sigmoidoscopy is gently and painlessly performed. The sigmoidoscopy is insertedinto the rectum to enable the doctor to examine minute areas of the rectum for ulcerations, polyps, inflammation and infection.

Through the instrument, small pieces of tissue can be removed for microscopic examination. There is no better way to study the rectum than by this method.

Other areas of the large bowel which cannot be reached with the sigmoidoscope are studied by barium enema X-rays.

The slight discomfort of this office procedure is more than compensated by the valuable information that is obtained.

It is pointless for you to put off this examination because of misinformation.

Does syphilis occur in people over 40?

Mr. R.R., Mo.

Dear Mr. R.:

The promise that penicillin would eradicate completely this scourge of mankind has not been fulfilled.

Syphilis still rages in epidemic form in young adolescents and adults.

No one is immune to syphilis if direct contact is made with a person infected with the germ. No sex, no age, no social or economic level, no race is free from the possibility of contracting syphilis.

The reason why syphilis occurs less frequently in middle-aged persons is that mature people have more years of education and are more sensible about seeking early advice for medical treatment. They are also less promiscuous than young people.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "How about showing some of Terence Reese's hands. There is plenty to be learned from them."

Oswald: "Most of his hands come from actual play and show declarer struggling with an optimistic contract that he can make, but usually doesn't."

Jim: "Today's hand is typical. South's jump to game is a slight overbid. He would have no play against a diamond opening, but West makes his normal lead of the king of clubs. Now South is in business, if he knows what to do."

Oswald: "At some stage of the early play he will bang down the ace and king of trumps to see if the queen drops. It doesn't but if South just makes a preparatory play he can still bring ten tricks home."

The preparatory play is to ruff one of dummy's clubs at trick two. Then cash the ace and king of spades and ace and king of hearts. Next comes the play of a low heart. West can't afford to ruff and chucks a club. South ruffs in dummy, ruffs a club in his own hand and leads his last heart. Once more West can't afford to ruff and South uses dummy's last trump. Now he leads dummy's last club. If West has discarded his last club, that club in dummy is a winner; if West hasn't discarded that club, South scores his last trump.

Use Electric Mixer

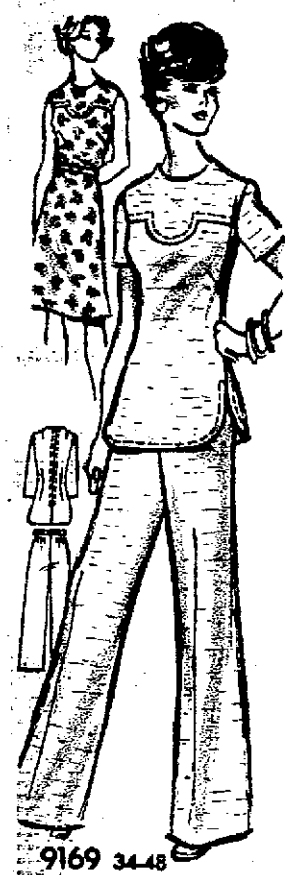

If you like to clean your upholstered, furniture with products which instruct: "Clean with foam only" — put the required amount of water and cleaning solution into a bowl and use your electric mixer.

Beat slowly, increasing the speed as the foam forms. Keep whipping until your bowl is full of foam, then apply to the furniture with a sponge, brush, or cloth as directed.

As the foam is used up and the liquid appears in the bottom of the bowl, use your mixer again. When you are all through, be sure to thoroughly wash your mixer and the beaters before using for food.

PISCES

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Favorable Mars influences stimulate your ingenuity. Managing present situations cleverly will be wiser than reaching for "better prospects," however.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Hold off expansion of activities until you make sure that you are within safe limits and can handle the "extras" without deserting primary interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Beneficient Mercury influences now heighten imagination and encourage your ingenious methods. Capitalize on ALL of your talents and you should do extremely well.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Whatever your plans, take into account new trends and ideas, changing maneuvers to fit situations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Especially favored now: conferences, making plans for the future, pursuits which stimulate the intellect.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Do not answer questions or make commitments if you are unsure of your own stand or abilities. There's a tendency to be overconfident now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors — especially if finances are involved. Keep on an even keel and you should do well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead. Easy does it!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) An associate will offer some unexpected assistance. Be receptive. The proffered help will be genuine, the motive sincere.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Routine will probably bore you now, but don't idle time away. Get busy on one of your pet creative projects. Influences stimulate original ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you've been interested in a new project but have postponed taking action, NOW IS THE TIME! But be sure you have the know-how and enough data to go on.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There are tendencies now to take off on tangents and to ease up in effort just when more persistence is needed. Don't fail yourself by yielding to such inclinations.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intellect which, coupled with a strong intensity of emotion, fits you for a life of creativity. You express yourself best in music and literature, but you could also excel in the ministry, as a teacher of metaphysics, in the entertainment field, or as an actor or painter. Your intuition is outstanding, but you do not always make the most of these intuitive powers—sometimes to ill effect. Governed by Neptune, you are strongly attracted to professions or activities dealing with the sea; could also make a success of physics and chemistry—especially in the mixing and blending of liquids. You are not a good businessman, so don't look to success along those lines. Birthdate of: Lawrence Welk, musical conductor and TV personality.

Please don't tell me to see a shrink. I'm NOT sick. I just need to know what to do about this problem. — Tired Pretender

Dear Tired: Put an end to the masquerade and do yourself, your boyfriend, AND the girls a favor. Women often fall for homosexuals and end up heartsick when they learn the truth, it's a dirty trick to use a girl as a cover.

Three Concerts At WMU

Three concerts, featuring works for two pianos, New York's Western Brass Quintet and the University Percussion Ensemble, will be presented this week at Oakland Recital Hall, Western Michigan university.

The recitals are open to the public free of charge.

A concert of works for two pianos will be given Wednesday, March 12, at 8 p.m. by Madeline Williamson and Janet Meyer.

Williamson, a faculty member in the department of music at WMU where she teaches piano, received her master of music degree from WMU after having done undergraduate work at Ohio Wesleyan university.

Meyer, a graduate assistant in piano for the department of music, has a bachelor of music education degree and a master's in music education from the University of Wisconsin. She will receive her master of music degree in applied piano from WMU in April.

The Western Brass Quintet, which plans a tour of the Eastern United States in late April, will present a preview of its program Friday, March 14, at 8 p.m.

The last stop on its tour will be New York's famed Carnegie Recital Hall.

The quintet is composed of Donald Bullock and Stephen Jones, trumpets; Neill Sanders, French horn; Russell Brown, trombone, and Robert Whaley, tuba.

The March 14 program will include a repertoire from the Baroque and contemporary periods.

The University Percussion Ensemble will present its program Sunday, March 16, at 3 p.m. under the direction of Don Baker.

The Percussion Ensemble is comprised of bob students who are percussion majors as well as those who are merely interested in the study of percussion literature.

Works will range from popular tunes such as "Shaft" and "Summer of '42" to more serious music, "4 for Percussion" and "Ceremonial."

Senior Citizens

THREE OAKS — The first of several events planned for senior citizens of the River Valley area for March is a potluck supper at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 11, in the River Valley high school cafeteria, according to Judy Ponegalek, coordinator of the River Valley Senior Center, Harbert.

Following the supper, Lewis Bartholomew of Niles will present a slide program of Alaska.

Mrs. William Germinder of Three Oaks will demonstrate how to make yarn-covered dress hangers at the arts and crafts session Monday, March 17, at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center.

On Thursday, March 20, a trip to Kalamazoo to tour the Upjohn plant is planned.

Cost for the trip and tour will be $4 and reservations should be made.

The bus will leave the Center at 8 a.m. and return around 5 p.m.

Each Thursday, March 13, 20 and 27, at 1 p.m. cancer dressings will be made at the Center.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I have ben putting off having a sigmoidoscopy. I hear it is very painful. Is there some other way that the rectum can be studied?

Mrs. J.V., R.I.

Dear Mrs. V.:

The "authority" who told you that a sigmoidoscopy is painful did you an injustice. You have put off a simple examination that obviously was suggested to you by your doctor.

A sigmoidoscopy is gently and painlessly performed. The sigmoidoscopy is insertedinto the rectum to enable the doctor to examine minute areas of the rectum for ulcerations, polyps, inflammation and infection.

Through the instrument, small pieces of tissue can be removed for microscopic examination. There is no better way to study the rectum than by this method.

Other areas of the large bowel which cannot be reached with the sigmoidoscope are studied by barium enema X-rays.

The slight discomfort of this office procedure is more than compensated by the valuable information that is obtained.

It is pointless for you to put off this examination because of misinformation.

Does syphilis occur in people over 40?

Mr. R.R., Mo.

Dear Mr. R.:

The promise that penicillin would eradicate completely this scourge of mankind has not been fulfilled.

Syphilis still rages in epidemic form in young adolescents and adults.

No one is immune to syphilis if direct contact is made with a person infected with the germ. No sex, no age, no social or economic level, no race is free from the possibility of contracting syphilis.

The reason why syphilis occurs less frequently in middle-aged persons is that mature people have more years of education and are more sensible about seeking early advice for medical treatment. They are also less promiscuous than young people.

Jim: "How about showing some of Terence Reese's hands. There is plenty to be learned from them."

Oswald: "Most of his hands come from actual play and show declarer struggling with an optimistic contract that he can make, but usually doesn't."

Jim: "Today's hand is typical. South's jump to game is a slight overbid. He would have no play against a diamond opening, but West makes his normal lead of the king of clubs. Now South is in business, if he knows what to do."

Oswald: "At some stage of the early play he will bang down the ace and king of trumps to see if the queen drops. It doesn't but if South just makes a preparatory play he can still bring ten tricks home."

The preparatory play is to ruff one of dummy's clubs at trick two. Then cash the ace and king of spades and ace and king of hearts. Next comes the play of a low heart. West can't afford to ruff and chucks a club. South ruffs in dummy, ruffs a club in his own hand and leads his last heart. Once more West can't afford to ruff and South uses dummy's last trump. Now he leads dummy's last club. If West has discarded his last club, that club in dummy is a winner; if West hasn't discarded that club, South scores his last trump.

Use Electric Mixer

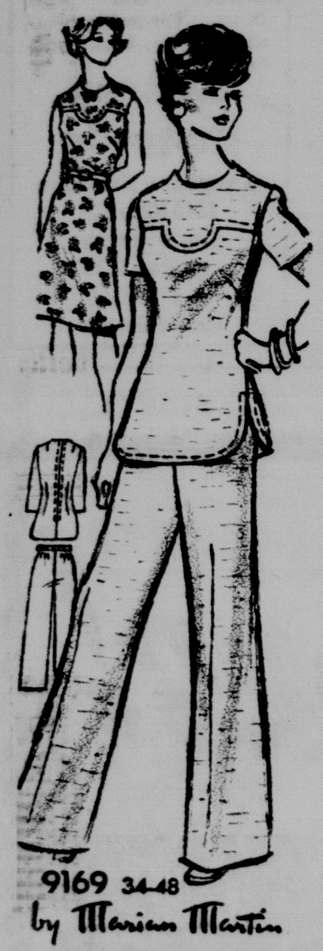

If you like to clean your upholstered furniture with products which instruct: "Clean with foam only" — put the required amount of water and cleaning solution into a bowl and use your electric mixer.

Beat slowly, increasing the speed as the foam forms. Keep whipping until your bowl is full of foam, then apply to the furniture with a sponge, brush, or cloth as directed.

As the foam is used up and the liquid appears in the bottom of the bowl, use your mixer again. When you are all through, be sure to thoroughly wash your mixer and the beaters before using for food.

PISCES

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Favorable Mars influences stimulate your ingenuity. Managing present situations cleverly will be wiser than reaching for "better prospects," however.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Hold off expansion of activities until you make sure that you are within safe limits and can handle the "extras" without deserting primary interests.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Beneficient Mercury influences now heighten imagination and encourage your ingenious methods. Capitalize on ALL of your talents and you should do extremely well.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Whatever your plans, take into account new trends and ideas, changing maneuvers to fit situations.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Especially favored now: conferences, making plans for the future, pursuits which stimulate the intellect.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Do not answer questions or make commitments if you are unsure of your own stand or abilities. There's a tendency to be overconfident now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Pay no heed to glowing reports or sensational rumors — especially if finances are involved. Keep on an even keel and you should do well.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Be ready to face competition. You usually enjoy the stimulation of this, but don't burn the candle at both ends in your desire to get ahead. Easy does it!

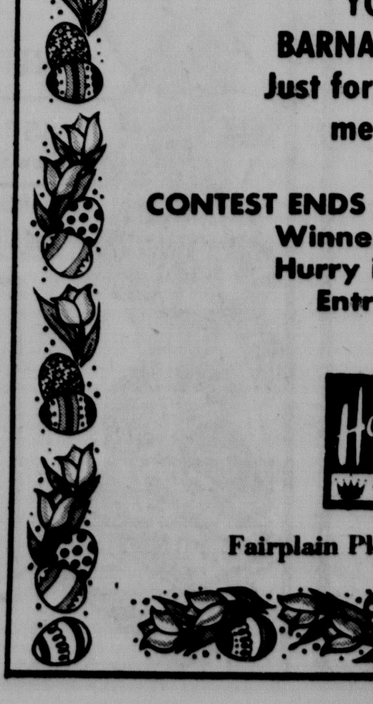

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) An associate will offer some unexpected assistance. Be receptive. The proffered help will be genuine, the motive sincere.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Routine will probably bore you now, but don't idle time away. Get busy on one of your pet creative projects. Influences stimulate original ideas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) If you've been interested in a new project but have postponed taking action, NOW IS THE TIME! But be sure you have the know-how and enough data to go on.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There are tendencies now to take off on tangents and to ease up in effort just when more persistence is needed. Don't fail yourself by yielding to such inclinations.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a high order of intellect which, coupled with a strong intensity of emotion, fits you for a life of creativity. You express yourself best in music and literature, but you could also excel in the ministry, as a teacher of metaphysics, in the entertainment field, or as an actor or painter. Your intuition is outstanding, but you do not always make the most of these intuitive powers—sometimes to ill effect. Governed by Neptune, you are strongly attracted to professions or activities dealing with the sea; could also make a success of physics and chemistry—especially in the mixing and blending of liquids. You are not a good businessman, so don't look to success along those lines. Birthdate of: Lawrence Welk, musical conductor and TV personality.

Car Dealers Fear That Traditional Spring Sale 'Upturn' Won't Happen

DETROIT (AP) — Just 10 days after the close of industry cash rebate plans, car dealers around the country report a sharp drop in sales. And some fear the traditional spring upturn won't arrive this year.

"It's been damn slow since last Saturday (March 1)," said F.M. Constantin Jr., a Pittsburgh Dodge dealer. "People seem to have quit coming around, and we are ordering cars from the factory only on a basis of need — here and there."

Sam Breault, sales manager for a Chrysler-Plymouth agency in Baltimore, added: "We are kind of holding our own, and some dealers here say their showroom traffic has died off completely."

A Buffalo Lincoln-Mercury dealer said sales throughout the area appear down. "It was the consensus of a local association meeting that sales in this area are now down," said Richard Echtenkamp.

Those observations confirm the gloomy forecasts of auto company analysts that sales, already depressed for 18 months, will fall even more in the post-rebate period.

The ailing firms offered unprecedented rebates of up to $600 until Feb. 28 to perk up consumer interest. The costly strategy boosted sales of models carrying the special discounts but did not generate interest in other lines as the firms had hoped.

The companies also are concerned the rebate plans borrowed sales from the spring months by enticing buyers who would have waited until March, April or May to visit their dealers.

There is the additional fear that customers will stay out of the market, waiting for the companies to reinstate the rebates.

"I am afraid that a lot of buyers are hesitating to buy now because they think there is going to be another rebates program," said Victor W. Warrington, a Topeka, Kan., Oldsmobile dealer. "Like one of my customers who wants to buy a Cutlass. They think that if the factory did it once they will do it again."

As a result, several dealers are offering their own rebates to stimulate sales. Some 154 Ford dealers in the Cleveland area are giving $300 rebates on the intermediate Elite, and a GM dealer in the Pittsburgh area is offering $300 rebates on full-size Chevrolets.

"We can't wait for anybody else to do this for us," said Herb Worthy, sales manager of the Chevrolet agency in McKeesport, Pa.

Auto analysts have expected a sales lull in March, when warm weather and income tax refund checks normally kick off a mid-year sales upturn.

Another lull during the industry's worst slump since World War II could mean more worker layoffs as the companies cut production in line with declining sales.

Because of the sales gains from the rebates, the companies are boosting production modestly this month and will have more plants open and people on the job this week than at any time this year.

Even so, 215,000 of the industry's 683,000 workers remain on layoff and production for the month is expected to hit a 14-year low for a March.

Five Communities Pick Blossom Queens; Nine To Go

Community Blossom queens were selected in five southwestern Michigan communities over the weekend.

The five bring to 21 the number of community queens selected so far this year in the build up for the 1975 Miss Blossomtime contest.

The girls will represent their communities in the Miss Blossomtime pageant April 7, in Lakeshore high school.

Nine more communities have yet to select their hometown representative to complete the field of 30.

Naming queens over the weekend were Cassopolis, Decatur, Eau Claire, Galien and New Buffalo.

Cassopolis

By ALAN AREND
Staff Writer

CASSOPOLIS — Joanna L. Hartman, first runner-up in last year's Miss Cassopolis Blossom queen contest, Saturday night was chosen Miss Cassopolis for 1975.

Miss Hartman, an 18-year-old senior at Cassopolis high, a school, is the daughter of Mrs. Darlene Hartman, 305 North O'Keefe street, Cassopolis and Gerald Hartman of Cassopolis.

Selected as first runnerup was Patti Jo Young, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Young, route 1, Lewis Lake road, Vandalia. She's a junior at Cassopolis high school.

Chosen as second runnerup was Donna Kay Lawson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery E. Lawson, route 1, box 198, Cassopolis. She's also a junior at Cassopolis high school.

Named Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants was Velma Jean Taylor, 17, daughter of Mrs. Leona M. Taylor, 224 North Rowland street, Cassopolis, a junior at Cassopolis high school.

The new queen is 5 foot 2½, has auburn hair and hazel eyes and is employed as a nurse's aide at Pawating hospital, Niles. Her hobbies include playing the accordion, reading, all outdoor sports, and raising raccoons for domestic pets. A member of the honor roll her junior and senior years, she plans on furthering her education at Southwestern Michigan college, Dowagiac, to become a registered nurse.

The contest was held in the Cassopolis high school gymnasium and witnessed by an estimated 350 persons. Contest theme was "Good Ship Lollipop."

Judges were Mrs. Jonna R. Reid, a modeling instructor at the Gibson Model Agency, South Bend, Ind.; John W. Wilcox, vice president and cashier of St. Joseph Bank and Trust company, South Bend, Ind.; and Larry G. Alt, assistant station manager of WSJV-TV, Channel 28, Elkhart, Ind.

Master of ceremonies was Parker Ericksen and organ music was provided by Mrs. George Varga. The Cassopolis Community choir preformed a musical interlude.

Contest chairman was Mrs. Dennis (Kay) Wright, who was assisted by co-chairman Mrs. Daniel Herman. Lamda Theta sorority sponsored the contest.

Other contestants in the field of 16 included; Violet Hawkins, Debbie Wanko, Jenice Sorsby, Kathy McKee, Terri Tamlyn, Charmin Hartsell, Jane Barrs, Leigh Ann Akin, Linda Cassel, Shawn Wyant, Lucy Spaniolo, and Darlene Anderson.

Decatur

By DENNIS COGSWELL

DECATUR — Just like the ragtime song, the new Miss Decatur is 5 foot 2 and has eyes of blue.

She's Ruth Parker, a 17-year-old Decatur high school senior, who was also named Miss Congeniality at Saturday night's contest which drew an estimated 500 spectators to the high school gymnasium. Miss Parker said she plans to become a beautician following graduation.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Jean Rhinehart of box 201, Decatur and Gene Parker, Decatur, Ala., and was also the school's winter queen. The new queen, a blonde, wore a blue, long-sleeved dress for the competion.

First runner-up honors went to Debbie Newton, 17, a Decatur senior, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Newton, route 2, Decatur.

Second runner-up was Maryann Rigoni, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dino Rigoni, route 2, Decatur. She is also a Decatur senior.

Judges for the contest, which had a theme of "Sea Magic", included Mrs. Lea Joan Stearns, an advisor to Steketee's of Kalamazoo; Jak Kesterson, an interior designer for Jacobson Home Furnishings, Kalamazoo; and Mrs. Fran Boothby, co-manager of Nancy's Twin Cities Styling Salon.

Contest chairman was Mrs. Robert (Emma Jean) Stambeck, with Richard Jacobsen serving as master of ceremonies. Entertainment was provided by Joe and Kay Polomcak.

Eau Claire

By CLIFF STEVENS
Coloma Correspondent

EAU CLAIRE — A Eau Claire high school senior, Joelene Michelle Nichols, 17, was chosen Miss Eau Claire of 1975 Saturday night before an estimated 500 persons in the gymnasium of the Eau Claire middle school.

The new queen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nichols, P.O. Box 278, Eau Claire, has strawberry blonde hair and blue green eyes and is 5 feet 5. She was chosen from a field of 11.

Miss Eau Claire, whose nickname is "Joe", said she plans to attend Michigan State university after graduation from high school and major in medical technology.

A cheerleader for 3 years, she is a member of the National Honor society and the Eau Claire student council.

For the contest, she wore a blue green gown with high collar and fitted top with a full skirt. The dress was accented with long sleeves and ostrich feathers.

Selected as first runner-up was Judy Chisek, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chisek, route 1, Box 291, Eau Claire. A senior at Eau Claire high school, her sister, Joyce Ann, was chosen Miss Eau Claire of 1967. Judy was also selected as Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants.

Alice McAfee, 18, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Fletcher McAfee, PO Box 313, Eau Claire was selected as second runner-up. She is also a senior at the Eau Claire high school.

Serving as judges were Mrs. Barbara Hebard, model and registered nurse from Lafayette, Ind.; Charles Behner, director of building instruction for South Bend and North Liberty high schools, South Bend, Ind.; and Arthur Hut, field manager of Customer Engineering, International Business Machines, South Bend., Ind.

Co-chairmen for the pageant were Mrs. Jeanette Schlipp and Mrs. Robert (Angela) Rode. "Mickey Mouse and Friends" was the theme for this year's contest, sponsored by the Eau Claire Jaycees.

Eau Claire auctioneer John Glassman was the contest's master of ceremonies. Entertainment was provided by guitar-vocalist Lee LaVanway of Eau Claire and the Eau Claire high school state band. Miss Jean Harman provided organ selections.

Other contestants were Lori Dewey, Hope Hunter, Patricia Wohler, Karla Churchill, Sue Swisher, Sue Simaz, Regeana Karn and Leslie Blighton.

Galien

By STEVE BANYON
Staff Writer

GALIEN — Denise Lockwood, 17, a Galien high school senior, reigns today as Miss Galien 1975.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Lockwood, Karen drive, Galien, Denise was selected from among five contestants Saturday night in the high school cafetorium before an overflow crowd estimated by contest officials at 400.

Miss Lockwood has been a varsity cheerleader for the past four years and has been on the high school year-book staff. A member of the National Honor society, she has also been active in the Girls' Athletic association, the high school band and the Tri-Hy-Y. Denise was selected to the Homecoming queen's court last fall and received the DAR's good citizenship award.

Denise is 5 feet 2, and has dark brown hair and green eyes. After graduation she plans to attend Ferris State college and study court reporting.

Kathy DeForest, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William DeForest, Cleveland avenue, Galien, was named first runner-up. She is a Galien high school unior.

Second runner-up was Vanessa Vigansky, 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Vigansky, 3209 Knight drive, Buchanan. She is a senior at Galien high school.

Sharon Wolfe, 17, was selected Miss Congeniality by the other contestants. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe, Rickerman road, Galien, and a senior at Galien high school.

The other contestant was Kay Shepardson.

Theme of the contest was "The Berrien County Flag." Chairman of the pageant was Mrs. Dale (Norah) Sell, and Mrs. Cora Jane Przybylinski was co-chairman. Master of ceremonies was Keith Welsh of Buchanan.

Judges were Dr. K.R. Jones, a Buchanan chiropractor; Charles McGowan of the Arthur Murray dance studio in South Bend, Ind.; and Bradley Boughner of the Galien River Gazette in Three Oaks.

Entertainment was provided by organist Mrs. Duane (Nancy) Goodenough of Galien; the fifth and sixth grades band; Mrs. Sharon Richter of Three Oaks; a dance duo from the Arthur Murray dance studio; and the Jade's, an area band.

New Buffalo

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NEW BUFFALO — Bambi Lynn O'Connor was crowned Miss New Buffalo of 1975 here last night at a pageant held at the New Buffalo high school gym.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane O'Connor of box 793, route 2, New Buffalo, was named queen from a field of eight other contestants.

A New Buffalo high school senior, Miss O'Connor is 5 feet 8, has blue eyes, and brown hair. She was recently named Valentine's Day queen by her fellow high school students and is a varsity cheerleader.

Miss O'Connor plans to attend college and study business management.

Rhonda Calnin, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Calnin, 1165 Shore drive, New Buffalo, followed a family tradition of being named to the Miss New Buffalo royalty ranks by being selected first runner-up. Her mother, the former Barbara Schock, was the 1954 Miss New Buffalo. A junior at New Buffalo high school, Miss Calnin is 17-years-old.

Second runner-up was Ann Morrison, 16, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Morrison, route 1, box 918, New Buffalo. Miss Morrison's sister, Mrs. Lilly Ballard, was the second runner-up in the 1972 Miss New Buffalo contest. Ann is a junior at New Buffalo high school.

Named Miss Congeniality by her fellow contestants was Joyce Wiedenman, 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wiedenman, 321 East Buffalo street, New Buffalo. Miss Wiedenman is a New Buffalo high school senior.

Pageant co-chairmen Mrs. Sven (Harriet) Ramberg and Mrs. Alvin (Nadra) Kissman said about 600 people attended the event. Theme was "Over the Rainbow."

William Thissen and Miss Phyllis Turner, both of New Buffalo, sang several numbers from "The Wizzard of Oz," and the organist was Earl Veskerna, also of New Buffalo.

Judges were Mrs. Joanna Reid of Niles, an instructor at the Gibson Modeling school in South Bend; Michiana dentist Dr. Wayne Dunlop, a member of the board of directors of the Miss America national association of state pageants; and Ted Thorne of Gary, Ind., program and news director of radio station WWCA in Gary.

Walter Schwarz, New Buffalo schools superintendent, was the master of ceremonies.

Tough Problem For Job-Hunter

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Jeweline Smith was given a choice about three weeks ago: find a job or go back to jail.

With one week to go, she's still looking.

"I don't want welfare. I want to stand on my own feet, but it's hard when doors keep closing," she says.

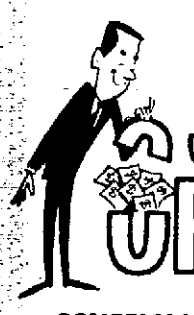

Mrs. Smith was given the choice when she was released from the Connecticut Correctional Institution in Niantic to a halfway house in New Haven. She had spent 12 months in the women's prison awaiting trial on a charge of conspiracy to commit arson.

Underground Gasoline Seepage Is A Threat

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gasoline seepage from underground storage tanks could cause a more serious form of pollution than contaminated air and water, according to state officials.

Officials say they are alarmed enough about the potential hazard of leaks to begin monitoring storage areas around the state.

Leaks can cause explosions and contaminate underground water supplies used for drinking water in small communities, the officials say.

So far this year, there have been five incidents of leaks reported around the state. In many cases, people have been forced to evacuate their homes when fumes from leaking gasoline threatened to explode.

The State Police post in Marquette was filled with fumes last month when 1,000 gallons of motor fuel seeped out from a newly installed storage tank.

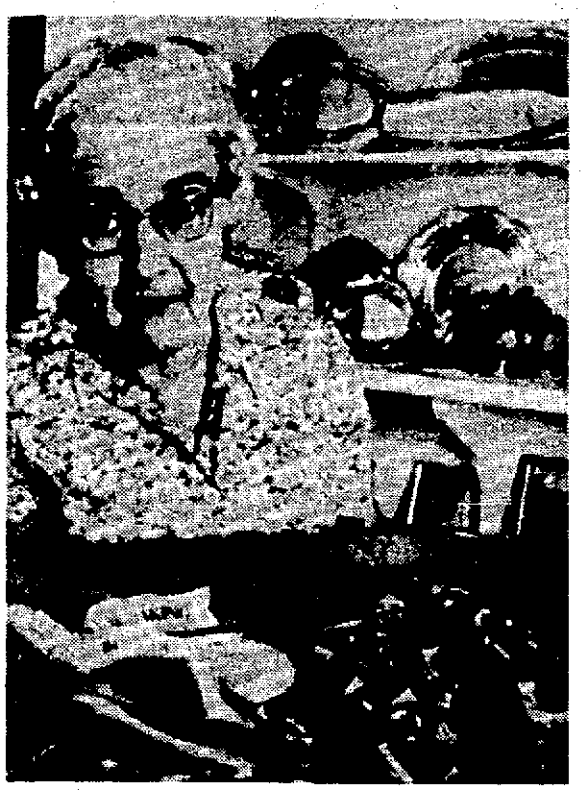

Several residents near a gas station in Reading, a small Hillsdale County community, had to flee when 11,000 gallons of fuel leaked.

The most serious underground spill occurred nearly two years ago at Muskegon when a oil pipeline cracked, releasing thousands of gallons of fuel that mixed with underground water reservoirs.

Another harmful effect of leaks was reported by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. in Detroit, which said a gasoline leak from a storage tank ate through protective insulation, exposing sensitive cables to short circuits from water.

The oil hazard section of the Michigan Water Resources Commission is considering a plan to have state investigators monitor storage tanks and charge the cost of surveillance to tank owners.

The section also is considering the use of sensors to detect leaks in large storage tanks.

Algeria Puts Small Crack In Oil Front

KUWAIT (AP) — Algeria has made another slight break in the oil cartel's price front by lowering the price of its low-sulphur, clean-burning crude oil by 21 cents a barrel, oil sources in Dubai report.

Observers in London had said after an earlier cut that it was difficult to tell what effect, if any, such small reductions might have on retail prices of gasoline and fuel oil in the United States and Europe.

Algeria's reduction from $11.96 a barrel to $11.75 follows a 55-cent-a-barrel cut by Abu Dhabi on oil of higher quality last week.

The sources, in Dubai for a meeting of Arab oil producers, said Libya and Nigeria will probably reduce their prices slightly to compete with the reduced prices.

The London observers said that even if substantial price-cutting developed, the oil companies might not pass on the savings to their American customers because many of them are selling refined products at prices lower than the maximum allowed by U.S. government regulations.

The base price for crude oil set by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is $10.46 a barrel, but prices vary according to the sulphur content of the oil.

Demand for oil has dropped considerably in the West as the result of the economic slowdown and a mild winter. The oil companies responded to the reduced demand by cutting production, and such long-time giants as Iran, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait have been able to weather the drop in revenue without too much difficulty. But some of the smaller producers with ambitious spending programs are feeling the pinch badly.

Abu Dhabi was particularly hard hit because its oil has one of the lowest sulphur contents and hence its price was one of the highest. Although the 13 members of OPEC decided at a meeting in Vienna last month to hold the price line generally, they agreed that small adjustments could be made for special cases.

The sources in Dubai said Algeria notified several foreign oil companies last week that Sonatrach, its national oil company, was reducing the price of crude oil from $11.96 a barrel to $11.75.

The sources said that Libya and Nigeria, whose oil has a higher sulphur content than Algeria's, would probably lower their price from $11.80 to $11.50 to remain competitive.

Besieged Defenders Fighting In Capital

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — North Vietnamese tanks and infantry blasted into Ban Me Thuot before dawn today and battled defenders from house to house in the besieged provincial capital in the Central Highlands all day, field reports said.

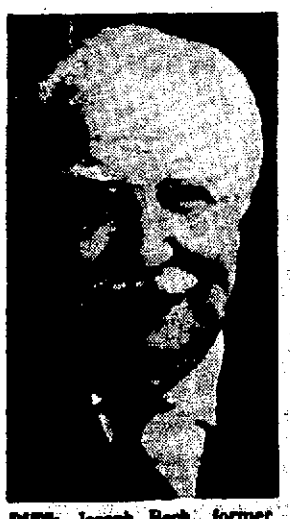

Amid continuous heavy shelling, fighting was reported in the heart of the city of 166,000 as night came.

In Cambodia, the campaign to oust President Lon Nol gathered headway and the U. S. supply airlift continued despite the heaviest shelling of the Phnom Penh airport to date. Airline sources said a Cambodian airliner was set afire and two airport workers were killed, but no American planes were hit.

Ban Me Thuot, 155 miles northeast of Saigon, is the chief center for the mountain tribesmen known as Montagnards, many of whom fought for the U.S. Special Forces during America's war in Vietnam. All roads into the city were cut. One report said the North Vietnamese had taken one of the city's two airstrips and were attacking the main airfield, threatening the government's only route for supplies and reinforcements.

South Vietnamese military headquarters in Pleiku, the capital of the central highlands, claimed a dozen North Vietnamese tanks had been knocked out, including five in the city. But South Vietnamese pilots in Pleiku told Associated Press newsman Huynh Minh Trinh they spotted at least 10 more tanks moving toward Ban Me Thuot from the northwest.

The headquarters claimed as many as 400 North Vietnamese troops were killed out of about 2,000 that launched a three-prong attack against the city.

Is Vitamin C Overrated?

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Chicago scientists say there is little convincing evidence that daily doses of Vitamin C have any effect on the frequency or severity of the common cold.

But Dr. Linus Pauling, a Nobel laureate in chemistry and leading advocate of high doses of Vitamin C for treating colds, says the pair has not looked at all the evidence. Pauling says he is still convinced that Vitamin C — ascorbic acid — is beneficial.

The Chicago scientists, Dr. Michael H.M. Dykes of the American Medical Association's department of drugs, and Dr. Paul Meier, a University of Chicago statistics professor, reviewed studies of Vitamin C in the March 10 issue of the association's journal.

They summarized studies, dating from 1939, in which scientists treated comparable groups of subjects with doses of Vitamin C and with placebos — sugar pills.

Most studies supporting Vitamin C as an effective cold preventive were scientifically unsound, they wrote. They said in some studies the test subjects decided whether Vitamin C had helped, and in other instances scientists doing the studies made such determinations without objective evidence.

Dykes and Meier said potentially harmful side effects from large amounts of ascorbic acid have not been thoroughly established, but a number of side effects, such as diarrhea, have been suggested.

"Until such time as pharmacologic doses of ascorbic acid have been shown to have obvious, important clinical value in the prevention and treatment of the common cold, and to be safe in a large varied population, we cannot advocate its unrestricted use for such purposes," they said.

"Although the common cold is undoubtedly an uncomfortable and inconvenient disease, it is rarely anything but a benign and short-lived one."

In a telephone interview from Menlo Park, Calif., Pauling said concern about harmful side effects is unwarranted. There may be some side effects for some people, but the toxicity of Vitamin C "is surely low," he said.

Pauling noted that there have been no reported deaths from Vitamin C overdoses, while there have been some among persons taking aspirin. "Altogether, I think the American Medical Association is doing a disservice against the American people by continuing to raise objections to the use of ascorbic acid for health," he said.

Pauling took issue with Dykes' and Meier's interpretation of some of the experimental data and said the scientists failed to consider some studies which would have presented Vitamin C more favorably.

Superior Level Is Higher

PARADISE, Mich. (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers program to ease high water levels on the lower Great Lakes has caused abnormally high levels on Lake Superior shoreline residents say.

The Corps of Engineers' program uses Lake Superior as a "holding tank," and regulates lake levels by closing control gates on the Saint Marys River at Sault Ste. Marie.

Dan Reed, chief spokesman for the Whitefish Shore Erosion Association, said the program has meant loss of sandy beaches for nearly all Lake Superior shoreline residents.

He said water levels also have destroyed many of the trees which lined the shore.

While water on the lower lakes is three to four inches below last year's high levels, the Lake Superior level is nearly a foot above a year ago and is nearing a record-high mark, Reed added.

He said Lake Superior, largest of the Great Lakes, is beginning its traditional period of rising which means it is now starting at an already high level.

The association, headquartered in Paradise, west of Sault Ste. Marie, wants the Army Corps of Engineers to embark on a different program to keep Lake Superior at a more normal level.

Panel Asks Fund Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, moving out from under the one-man rule of former chairman Wilbur D. Mills, is seeking an annual budget of $1.5 million after having spent $195,000 during the last two years combined.

The committee chairman and others say new House rules mandated the increased expense. Critics, including some members of the committee, say the higher budget is the price of reform.

Its current annual request of $1.5 million, after being cut by the House Administration Committee from $1.7 million, is less than the largest committee budget request, $2.2 million, by the House Public Works Committee.

Supporters of the budget hike say more funds are necessary because the House expanded the busy committee's membership from 25 to 37 at the beginning of the new Congress and created six subcommittees that will specialize in specific areas under the committee's jurisdiction. Both steps reflected the retirement of Mills from the chair, where he wielded immense power.

"That is one jump that has come about as a result of this 'reform,'" Rep. William R. Archer, R-Tex., a member of Ways and Means, said of the budget increase. "We've always been so prudent in spending money and that's been a trademark of the Ways and Means Committee."

The six subcommittees are the biggest factor in running up the bill.

John M. Martin Jr., the panel's chief counsel, said all but $240,000 of the budgeted funds would pay salaries, as the committee increases its total staff from 35 persons to 100.

Committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said the increase is "completely defensible."

"This is going to be the most productive, prolific, dynamic year the Ways and Means Committee has ever had," he said.

But he said the committee may have trouble spending all the money because it lacks office space to place as many staff members as it thinks it needs. This is why Rep. John J. Duncan, R-Tenn., also a member of the panel, questions the increase.

"I just think it's ridiculous," he said, adding that he didn't think the committee could produce legislation commensurate with the increase.

Lacking large numbers of staff members in the past, the committee has had to rely on services of the Joint House-Senate Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation as well as assistance from agencies in the executive branch.

TODAY In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

In 1876, the first clear telephone call was made when Alexander Graham Bell summoned his assistant from another room in Bell's house in Boston, saying: "Come here, Watson; I want you."

On this date—

In 1864, Ulysses Grant was made Commander in Chief of Union forces in the Civil War.

In 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt signed the Lend-Lease Act, providing for transfer of military equipment to the Allies in World War II.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Justice Department asked for a sweeping Federal court order to prevent Alabama officials from interfering with peaceful demonstrations in behalf of black rights.

Five years ago: Schools were reopened without trouble in Lamar, South Carolina, after being closed one week when whites attacked buses carrying black children.

One year ago: A Japanese intelligence officer in World War Two surfaced after hiding in a Philippine jungle for 30 years.

Today's birthday: Queen Elizabeth's fourth child, Prince Edward, is eleven years old.

Thought for today: There is no friendship, no love, like that of the parent for the child — Henry Ward Beecher, American clergyman, 1813-1887.

Is Vitamin C Overrated?

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Chicago scientists say there is little convincing evidence that daily doses of Vitamin C have any effect on the frequency or severity of the common cold.

But Dr. Linus Pauling, a Nobel laureate in chemistry and leading advocate of high doses of Vitamin C for treating colds, says the pair has not looked at all the evidence. Pauling says he is still convinced that Vitamin C — ascorbic acid — is beneficial.

The Chicago scientists, Dr. Michael H.M. Dykes of the American Medical Association's department of drugs, and Dr. Paul Meier, a University of Chicago statistics professor, reviewed studies of Vitamin C in the March 10 issue of the association's journal.

They summarized studies, dating from 1939, in which scientists treated comparable groups of subjects with doses of Vitamin C and with placebos — sugar pills.

Most studies supporting Vitamin C as an effective cold preventive were scientifically unsound, they wrote. They said in some studies the test subjects decided whether Vitamin C had helped, and in other instances scientists doing the studies made such determinations without objective evidence.

Dykes and Meier said potentially harmful side effects from large amounts of ascorbic acid have not been thoroughly established, but a number of side effects, such as diarrhea, have been suggested.

"Until such time as pharmacologic doses of ascorbic acid have been shown to have obvious, important clinical value in the prevention and treatment of the common cold, and to be safe in a large varied population, we cannot advocate its unrestricted use for such purposes," they said.

"Although the common cold is undoubtedly an uncomfortable and inconvenient disease, it is rarely anything but a benign and short-lived one."

In a telephone interview from Menlo Park, Calif., Pauling said concern about harmful side effects is unwarranted. There may be some side effects for some people, but the toxicity of Vitamin C "is surely low," he said.

Pauling noted that there have been no reported deaths from Vitamin C overdoses, while there have been some among persons taking aspirin. "Altogether, I think the American Medical Association is doing a disservice against the American people by continuing to raise objections to the use of ascorbic acid for health," he said.

Pauling took issue with Dykes' and Meier's interpretation of some of the experimental data and said the scientists failed to consider some studies which would have presented Vitamin C more favorably.

Superior Level Is Higher

PARADISE, Mich. (AP) — The Army Corps of Engineers program to ease high water levels on the lower Great Lakes has caused abnormally high levels on Lake Superior shoreline residents say.

The Corps of Engineers program uses Lake Superior as a "holding tank," and regulates lake levels by closing control gates on the Saint Marys River at Sault Ste. Marie.

Dan Reed, chief spokesman for the Whitefish Shore Erosion Association, said the program has meant loss of sandy beaches for nearly all Lake Superior shoreline residents.

He said water levels also have destroyed many of the trees which lined the shore.

While water on the lower lakes is three to four inches below last year's high levels, the Lake Superior level is nearly a foot above a year ago and is nearing a record-high mark, Reed added.

He said Lake Superior, largest of the Great Lakes, is beginning its traditional period of rising which means it is now starting at an already high level.

The association, headquartered in Paradise, west of Sault Ste. Marie, wants the Army Corps of Engineers to embark on a different program to keep Lake Superior at a more normal level.

Panel Asks Fund Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee, moving out from under the one-man rule of former chairman Wilbur D. Mills, is seeking an annual budget of $1.5 million after having spent $195,000 during the last two years combined.

The committee chairman and others say new House rules mandated the increased expense. Critics, including some members of the committee, say the higher budget is the price of reform.

Its current annual request of $1.5 million, after being cut by the House Administration Committee from $1.7 million, is less than the largest committee budget request, $2.2 million, by the House Public Works Committee.

Supporters of the budget hike say more funds are necessary because the House expanded the busy committee's membership from 25 to 37 at the beginning of the new Congress and created six subcommittees that will specialize in specific areas under the committee's jurisdiction. Both steps reflected the retirement of Mills from the chair, where he wielded immense power.

"That is one jump that has come about as a result of this 'reform,'" Rep. William R. Archer, R-Tex., a member of Ways and Means, said of the budget increase. "We've always been so prudent in spending money and that's been a trademark of the Ways and Means Committee."

The six subcommittees are the biggest factor in running up the bill.

John M. Martin Jr., the panel's chief counsel, said all but $240,000 of the budgeted funds would pay salaries, as the committee increases its total staff from 35 persons to 100.

Committee Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., said the increase is "completely defensible."

"This is going to be the most productive, prolific, dynamic year the Ways and Means Committee has ever had," he said.

But he said the committee may have trouble spending all the money because it lacks office space to place as many staff members as it thinks it needs. This is why Rep. John J. Duncan, R-Tenn., also a member of the panel, questions the increase.

"I just think it's ridiculous," he said, adding that he didn't think the committee could produce legislation commensurate with the increase.

Lacking large numbers of staff members in the past, the committee has had to rely on services of the Joint House-Senate Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation as well as assistance from agencies in the executive branch.

TODAY In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today's highlight in history:

In 1876, the first clear telephone call was made when Alexander Graham Bell summoned his assistant from another room in Bell's house in Boston, saying: "Come here, Watson; I want you."

On this date—

In 1864, Ulysses Grant was made Commander in Chief of Union forces in the Civil War.

In 1941, President Franklin Roosevelt signed the Lend-Lease Act, providing for transfer of military equipment to the Allies in World War II.

Ten years ago: The U.S. Justice Department asked for a sweeping Federal court order to prevent Alabama officials from interfering with peaceful demonstrations in behalf of black rights.

Five years ago: Schools were reopened without trouble in Lamar, South Carolina, after being closed one week when whites attacked buses carrying black children.

One year ago: A Japanese intelligence officer in World War Two surfaced after hiding in a Philippine jungle for 30 years.

Thought for today: There is no friendship, no love, like that of the parent for the child — Henry Ward Beecher, American clergyman, 1813-1887.

Police Hunt Bomb-Makers

NEW YORK (AP) — Police are checking fingerprints from a stolen car filled with explosives to determine if the vehicle is linked to the Puerto Rican terrorist group that claimed responsibility for a bombing in the Wall Street area that killed four persons Jan. 25. Police said they got three clear fingerprints from the auto which apparently had been abandoned over the weekend under the East River Drive on Manhattan's Lower East Side. They said an anonymous tipster directed them to a 1965 Plymouth which contained 75 pounds of a very explosive ammonium nitrate mixture in three 20-by-5 inch cylinders, 250 blasting caps, several tanks of propane gas, and two fully loaded automatic rifles, an M14 and an AR16.

Kissinger Off To Turkey

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger takes a brief break from the Arab-Israeli crisis today and flies to Turkey for talks on another political flashpoint: Cyprus. After a breakfast meeting with Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin and talks with Israel's negotiating team, Kissinger was flying to Ankara to discuss with Turkish officials the prospects for getting negotiations between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots going again.

Cambodia Debate 'Critical'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is about to begin a critical phase of deliberations on the $222-million aid request that President Ford says is essential to prevent the fall of Cambodia to Communist forces. With Ford pressing Congress to approve the funds in less than two weeks, his request is scheduled for consideration Tuesday in a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee. Its chairman, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted Sunday the Senate would reject Ford's $222 million request. He said official cables from the U.S. Embassy in Phnom Penh offer little hope that more military assistance could provide a solution to Cambodia's troubles.

Saved From Icebreaker

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seventy-eight men have been airlifted from the largest U.S. icebreaker, trapped in 25-foot-thick antarctic ice. The Coast Guard says the ship, the Glacier, may be freed in the next two or three days. More than 130 persons remained aboard the ship, which is in no immediate danger and which has adequate food supplies aboard, the Coast Guard said. The Glacier, based in Long Beach, Calif., is icebound in the Weddell Sea just off the tip of the antarctic peninsula.

Firms Blamed For Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Multinational corporations have grown beyond the reach of traditional government controls and are major contributors to today's economic problems, according to the authors of a new study of the giant global firms. In an interview, Richard J. Barnet and Ronald E. Muller, authors of "Global Reach," predicted that if decisive action isn't taken soon to control the multinationals, they will continue feeding instability that could plunge the nation into a depression comparable to that of the 1930s. "Somewhere around the period of 1977 or 1978, because of our inability to control credit and because of our inability to control global money supplies and particularly global banking transactions, we're going to get a crash," said Muller. "And I put that at a 60 per cent probability level."

Three Die In Colorado

DENVER (AP) — Three Michigan residents, including two socially prominent Grosse Pointe coeds, died as a result of two separate traffic accidents in Colorado, the State Patrol reported Saturday. The patrol said Judith Terry Hubbard and Daisy Lynn Sales, both 22 and of Grosse Pointe, and Timothy Foster Briggs, 20, of Denver, were killed and another Denver man was injured seriously in a one-car accident Friday night near Boulder. The two girls were students at the University of Denver. Miss Hubbard is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger C. Hubbard, and Miss Sales is survived by her parents, Carter Sales and Mrs. Edmund Jacoby. Jack Van DeBerg, 18, of Berkley, Mich., died Friday night in a Greeley hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday.

Griffin Blasts Congress

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin has criticized Congress for "its blatant partisanship" and says its members are "stalling when action is needed in the face of domestic and international need." The assistant Senate minority leader, speaking at a Republican party gathering here, specifically singled out the energy dilemma, which he said is "causing recession bordering on the great depression of the 1930s." He said for too many years, the country has used resources and money "as if it were going out of style and would never run out." But, he said, Americans have found "that all things have their limits."

Audit Shows Fund Misuse

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — An authority which operates four suburban Detroit hospitals has spent thousands of dollars for travel, education and banquets despite a court order to limit such spending, a state audit shows. The State Auditor General's office said an audit of Peoples Community Hospital Authority, requested by the legislature, was conducted for the period between April 1966 and March 1973. The authority oversees operations at hospitals in Wayne, Trenton, Ypsilanti and Lincoln Park. The 18 communities and five townships served by the hospitals are each assessed nearly a half-mill to finance the authority. In 1972, the assessment amounted to some $1.4 million.

Detroit Police Live Outside

DETROIT (AP) — Ninety-three Detroit police officers live outside the city, although only 13 had received exemptions from the department's rule requiring them to live in Detroit, city officials said Sunday. During an arbitration panel hearing considering the controversial residency requirement, which the courts have ruled is a negotiable contract issue, a representative of the mayor's office disclosed 80 officers have informed the department of their unauthorized residencies. George C. Edwards III, Mayor Coleman Young's special counsel on the issue, said he did not know if any disciplinary actions have been taken against the officers.

Police Are Motel 'Owners'

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Police-Fire Pension Board has become the new owner two New England motels because a Boston-area developer defaulted on uninsured mortgage loan payments to the fund. The trustees of the $300 million pension system took over the Lewiston (Maine) Inn and Motel 128 in Dedham, Mass., about two weeks ago after defaults by Kanavos Enterprises and rumors of the company's collapse. Kanavos borrowed $3.7 million from the fund in high-risk mortgages. The trustees say they are using $10,000 in pension funds to operate the motels, but plan to use receipts from the inns to cover costs.

Shell Information Series: Gasoline

By John Bame, Shell Senior Staff Engineer

John Bame

All of your car's problems may not be mechanical. A change in gasoline could be all you really need.

Ever notice how some people name their cars as if they were pets? Or think their cars have special quirks? There's good reason for this. Cars really are individuals. Even two cars of the same make and model can react differently to the same gasoline. The differences can cause some irritating problems.

Like a fingerprint, every car has individual characteristics.

Problems that seem mechanical but often aren't

The solution may well be in the gasoline you use.

First the problems:

Stall-out: Your engine keeps dying before it's had a chance to warm up.

Hesitation: While your engine is warming up, it hesitates or stumbles when you step on the gas.

Run-on: Your engine chugs on after you've turned off the key.

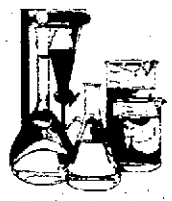

The first two problems may be helped by a gasoline with better driveability. The last two can be helped by higher octane.

Octane numbers explained: Octane numbers measure a fuel's ability to resist knock in an engine. But different engines run with different degrees of severity. The two laboratory engine tests used to rate gasoline octane reflect this difference.

The Research octane test is run with the engine operating under mild conditions. The Motor octane test is run with the engine operating under severe conditions, and gives a lower octane number.

The degree of severity under which your car's engine operates probably falls somewhere in between.

Driveability explained: Gasoline is made of many different ingredients which vaporize at different temperatures. When the engine is cold, some gasolines do not vaporize as well as others. This can lead to the driveability problems I mentioned, like stall-out and hesitation.

Gasoline is a mixture of many hydrocarbons. How they are blended can affect your car's performance.

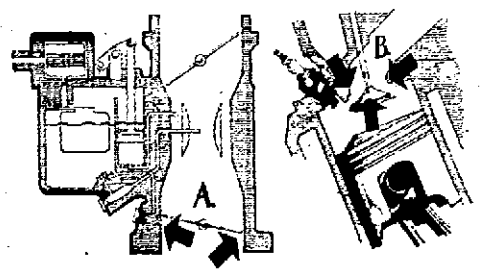

Gasoline to the rescue

If your engine knocks, and is in tune, first try a couple of tankfuls of a different brand of gasoline of the same grade. This can work if you find a combination of Research and Motor octane more suited to your car. If your engine still knocks, then you might try a higher octane gasoline.

If your engine runs on, and is in tune, the same suggestion applies.

If your engine stalls out or hesitates and is in tune, you may need a different gasoline, one blended for better driveability. Different gasolines do have different driveabilities.

Gasoline can cause deposits to build up in your carburetor until they eventually rob you of mileage. Almost all of today's gasoline has a detergent additive to help prevent this problem.

The better additives work throughout the entire inlet system both to clean it up and keep it clean. To find out if your gasoline has this type of additive, write the supplier.

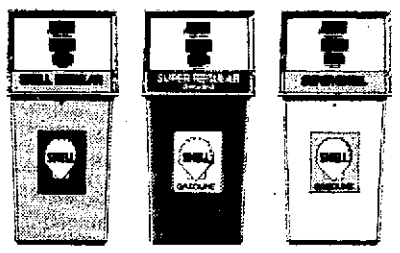

Unleaded gasoline – a more limited choice

Even a brand new car can have stall-out or other driveability problems, as well as knock. If you drive a 1975 car that must use unleaded fuel, your choices are more limited than with cars that can use leaded gasoline.

Though most unleaded fuels are only slightly over the government's minimum requirement of 91 Research octane, some are significantly higher. It's a matter of finding them. Unleadeds can vary in driveability, too. So shop around.

Are you a Shell customer?

Shell Regular: Our lowest-priced leaded gasoline, with good detergent properties. About 93-94 Research octane. Well over half our customers use it.

Super Regular Unleaded: Our mid-priced gasoline, with good driveability and excellent detergent properties. About 94-95 Research octane. Blended to deliver top-rate performance in 1975 cars and with high enough octane for seven out of ten cars already on the road.*

Super Shell: Our top-priced leaded gasoline, with good driveability and excellent detergent properties. About 99-100 Research octane. Blended for top-rate performance in pre-1975 cars that require high octane fuel.

If you use Shell Regular and have driveability or run-on problems, try Super Regular Unleaded * before going all the way up to Super Shell.

*Unless your owner's manual says your car can operate exclusively on unleaded gasoline, use one tankful of Super Shell in every four or five to protect valves against excessive wear.

Any questions? Write me.

FACT or MYTH?

Test yourself

You may have heard some of these things and wondered if they were true. Now you'll know.

1. "Letting the engine run a few minutes will burn less gasoline than starting it up again."
Myth. You're generally ahead if you turn off the engine when stopping for more than a minute.

2. "High octane gasolines always give you better mileage and save money in the long run."
Myth. More octane than you need will not increase your gasoline mileage.

3. "Taking the lead out of gasoline should make it cheaper."
Myth. Lead anti-knock compounds are actually cheaper than the high octane hydrocarbons needed to replace them.

4. "The same brand of gasoline will be blended differently for different areas."
This one is a fact. Gasoline blends are generally adjusted to maintain constant performance at different altitudes and in different climates.

If your engine stalls out or hesitates and is in tune, you may need a different gasoline, one blended for better driveability. Different gasolines do have different driveabilities.

Gasoline can cause deposits to build up in your carburetor until they eventually rob you of mileage. Almost all of today's gasoline has a detergent additive to help prevent this problem.

The better additives work throughout the entire inlet system both to clean it up and keep it clean. To find out if your gasoline has this type of additive, write the supplier.

Unleaded gasoline – a more limited choice

Even a brand new car can have stall-out or other driveability problems, as well as knock. If you drive a 1975 car that must use unleaded fuel, your choices are more limited than with cars that can use leaded gasoline.

Though most unleaded fuels are only slightly over the government's minimum requirement of 91 Research octane, some are significantly higher. It's a matter of finding them. Unleadeds can vary in driveability, too. So shop around.

FACT or MYTH?

Test yourself

You may have heard some of these things and wondered if they were true. Now you'll know.

1. "Letting the engine run a few minutes will burn less gasoline than starting it up again."
Myth. You're generally ahead if you turn off the engine when stopping for more than a minute.

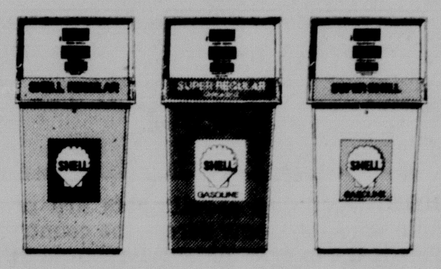

2. "High octane gasolines always give you better mileage and save money in the long run."
Myth. More octane than you need will not increase your gasoline mileage.

3. "Taking the lead out of gasoline should make it cheaper."
Myth. Lead anti-knock compounds are actually cheaper than the high octane hydrocarbons needed to replace them.

4. "The same brand of gasoline will be blended differently for different areas."
This one is a fact. Gasoline blends are generally adjusted to maintain constant performance at different altitudes and in different climates.

Are you a Shell customer?

Shell Regular: Our lowest-priced leaded gasoline, with good detergent properties. About 93-94 Research octane. Well over half our customers use it.

Super Regular Unleaded: Our mid-priced gasoline, with good driveability and excellent detergent properties. About 94-95 Research octane. Blended to deliver top-rate performance in 1975 cars and with high enough octane for seven out of ten cars already on the road.*

Super Shell: Our top-priced leaded gasoline, with good driveability and excellent detergent properties. About 99-100 Research octane. Blended for top-rate performance in pre-1975 cars that require high octane fuel.

If you use Shell Regular and have driveability or run-on problems, try Super Regular Unleaded * before going all the way up to Super Shell.

*Unless your owner's manual says your car can operate exclusively on unleaded gasoline, use one tankful of Super Shell in every four or five to protect valves against excessive wear.

Falling Birth Rate Leaves Once-Full Schools Empty

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer

Declining enrollments are producing a new and vexing problem for public school systems across the country: empty schools and what to do with them. There will be 10 per cent fewer pupils by 1981, if present trends hold, and one school in 10 could be closed.

Fed by the post war baby boom and high birth rates, nationwide enrollment in public elementary and secondary schools grew from 25.1 million in 1950 to 45.9 million in 1970, an increase of about 83 per cent.

Enrollment peaked at 46.1 million in 1971. For the past three years, it has been slipping downward and now stands at about 45 million. Enrollment is declining nationwide at a rate of about 1 per cent annually — 400,000 to 500,000 fewer pupils each year — and should continue to do so until at least the early 1980s.

"One of the largest and most emotion-laden problems that school boards are facing right now is the matter of closing unneeded schools," said Harold Webb, executive director of the National School Boards Association. "It touches the heart of the neighborhoods school idea. The question is: 'Why our school instead of somebody else's?'"

Closing schools is nothing new. The number of public schools nationwide has been dropping for decades, from 262,000 in 1930 to 91,152 in 1970. For the most part, that decline reflected the replacement of antiquated buildings with modern, larger schools.

Now, many school systems must decide what to do with schools built in the 1950s and early 1960s to handle the baby-boom generation. Deciding which should be closed, and what should be done with them, has sparked parental protests, stormy school board hearings and, in some cases, lawsuits.

In some communities the problem of empty classrooms is already a reality. A former elementary school in Bethesda, Md., now houses a post office. In Downey, Calif., a community near Los Angeles, five schools have been closed in the past three years. One of them, the Casler Elementary School, built in 1955, was sold in toto to the local Assembly of God Church. In many districts, unneeded schools have been converted into administrative offices or special education facilities.

In Bloomington, Minn., a proposal to sell an elementary school to the municipal transit company for conversion into a bus barn was scrapped last month because of community objections. The Humboldt Heights School will still be closed in June. District officials said it would save at least $80 000 a year.

The problems of enrollment and economics are invariably intertwined. State aid formulas are almost universally pegged to attendance; fewer pupils, less state money. Beyond that, the school-closing decision is complicated in some communities by racial balance considerations.

In Belmont, Calif., south of San Francisco, the school system is two years away from actually having to close schools. (There are empty classrooms now in two of its seven schools). The superintendent recently proposed a solution: keep the schools open and rent empty classrooms to pediatricians, dentists, hairdressers or public agencies that want neighborhood offices.

"My thought is that instead of having to decide what schools to close, why not, for instance, rent an empty classroom to a beauty parlor where mothers could have their hair done," said School Superintent Claude Turner.

Unfortunately, state law in California now bars commercial use of school property and restricts its use by other public agencies. Turner is seeking funds to study that problem.

Most communities are not yet face-to-face with the decision to close schools. They probably will be in the near future.

The estimated 45 million students now in public schools will shrink to 40.8 million by 1981, according to projections made by the National Center for Educational Statistics, a federal agency. There are no projections on the number of schools they will attend. But, if present attendance rates remain fairly constant, the school population of 1981 would require roughly 8,000 fewer schools.

There were 88,864 public elementary and secondary schools in 1972, the last year for which figures are available. They were attended by 45,754,000 pupils, an average of slightly fewer than 515 pupils per school. If that average holds in 1981 — and experts predict that continued consolidation into larger buildings will raise it, not lower it — then the projected enrollment of 40.8 million could be accommodated in fewer than 80,000 schools.

Nonpublic schools face a similar enrollment decline in the years ahead. There are an estimated 4.7 million pupils now in private and parochial schools. Projections indicate a decline to about 4.3 million bo 1979 — a drop of 8.5 per cent — and then a sustained enrollment at about that level through the early 1980s. However, enrollment in non-public schools is already down 25 per cent from a historic high of 6.3 million in 1964. There were 17,700 nonpublic elementary and secondary schools in 1972, the most recent available figure.

Despite the nationwide drop in enrollment, population shifts will mean continued school construction in some areas. Many major cities are losing population, but Southwestern states are gaining. Older suburbs have fewer families with children, but young families are still moving into newer, still developing communities. Three public schools were closed last year in Wichita, Kan. Voters also passed a $36-million bond issue to build three new schools and make additions to others in still expanding parts of the school district.

There is, for some, a bright side to the prospect of declining enrollment. It will probably bring about the demise of double sessions and temporary classrooms in many school systems. The Wichita public schools now have 7,000 pupils in portable classrooms and a total enrollment that is declining by about 2,000 a year. "We will try to get those children back into the buildings," said Superintendent Alvine Morris.

The implications of declining enrollments are fairly clear for the teaching profession. There will be jobs, but fewer than in the days when school systems had to add teachers every year to stay ahead of the tide.

There are about 2.3 million elementary and secondary school teachers this year. The National Center for Educational Statistics projects a drop of 100,000 teaching positions by 1981, and that projection assumes a continuing decline in the number of pupils each teacher has in class.

EMPTY SCHOOLS: Declining enrollments are producing a new and vexing problem for public school systems across the country; empty schools and what to do with them. This is the interior of a classroom in the Silver Spring Intermediate School in Takoma Park, Md., a community on the border of Washington, D.C. Parents of the community had gone to court to block its closing by the school board, but the court upheld the board's ruling. (AP Wirephoto)

'Dry Run' Will Uncover Problems

Option Bill Awaits Mailing Results

By MARY SCHEER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A pilot program for mailing unemployment compensation checks also will be a dry run for a bill before the House Labor Committee.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Sal Rocca, D-Stegling Heights, gives all people eligible for unemployment compensation the option of receiving their checks by mail intead of picking them up at the local unemployment office.

The committee is holding the bill — cosponsored by eight committee members — to see what problems the pilot mailing program discloses.

S. Martin Taylor, chairman of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, said training of more than 100 extra personnel for the special project begins this week.

"We will keep accurate data on exactly what happens — how many elected to go on the mailing system, what the common errors they made in their applications are and why, whether the claimants show a pattern for certain mistakes in the forms, how many people elect to opt out of the mailing."

If a claimant who tries the mailing doesn't like it, he can go back to picking the mail up, Taylor said. "We have a provision that allows him to opt out but once he does that, that's it, he can't change his mind again. If he opts out, he'll be asked to state his reasons why."

He said he has estimated that if the pilot project ran for a year it would cost the federally funded MESC $1.7 million.

Benefits of the measure, Rocca told the committee, include improved services to claimants, more flexibility for local offices, and giving claimants an option. He said officials he spoke with in Ohio, Minnesota, Indiana and Wisconsin, said their mailing programs have not increased fraud by claimants. He said the spokesmen told him the mailing programs have provided more managerial flexibility and more space.

Spokesmen for labor groups say the bill will make it easier for people to get their unemployment compensation.

On the negative side, Taylor said, are questions of:

—Whether the commission will be able to verify that claimants getting their checks by mail are "able, available and seeking work" as required by law. "The ability to test that would be very very difficult since the person doesn't have to come in," Taylor said.

—The postal system. Taylor said Indiana, which has a centralized mailing system, "is having quite a problem with postal delays. Take claimants who live in the same neighborhood and had the same employer — one gets his check on Tuesday or Wednesday, another on Friday, or maybe not until the following Monday."

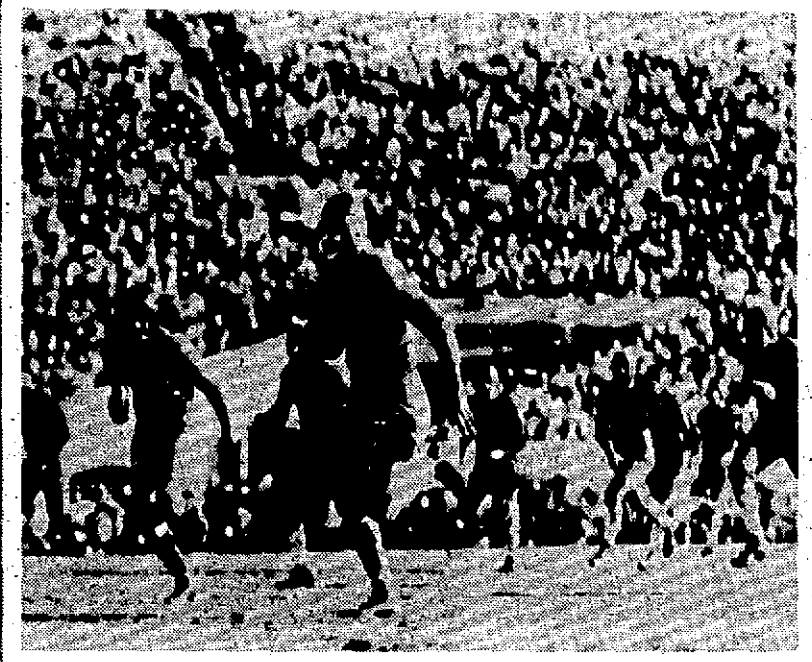

—Facilities. Taylor said equipment, space and personnel to implement a statewide mail option as Rocca's bill asks would force him to "pull people off the current claims process. In addition to budget problems it would require me to decrease my staff which would be disastrous." He said the federal government is cutting his budget 17 per cent.

"There can't be any argument we're not using our best efforts to make the system work," Taylor added. "If it works and claimants accept it we'll expand it to other offices with a heavy load."

Pending final action on the Rocca bill, Taylor uged the committee not to make the measure "a blanket measure requiring us to provide this option to all offices at all times."

Committee members will be in contact with Taylor, Rocca, labor unions and all interested parties to discuss the bill further and a report on their progress is expected next week.

The Instant It Happened

40, 30, 20, OHMYGOD!

Like the guy who asks, when the temperature is 108, if its hotenufforya, like the poor and the dead and the taxes, sports cliche photos are always with us.

Who hasn't flipped the local daily to the jock section just in time to see a snap of a sprinter, arms aloft and teeth bared, at the moment his heaving pectorals popped the tape?

Or that guy you never heard of forming a circle with thumb and forefinger to signify to Mom, the photographer and everyone else that he just threw a no-hitter. . . .

So here we have another. Some hero from yesteryear (note the cocker spaniel ear flaps of the helmet) heel and toeing it for Old Siwash toward the goal line with the enemy in grimacing pursuit.

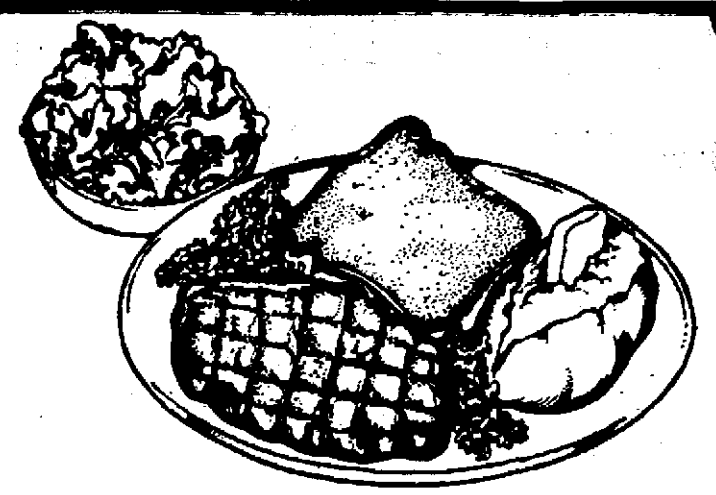

Such seems the case. The ball carrier is one Roy Riegels, center of the Golden Bears of California, who has picked up a fumble and is running to glory in the 1929 Rose Bowl against Georgia Tech.

For this, folks, is a photo of one of those rare moments when The System breaks down, when everything has left-hand threads, when The Course of Human Events turns about face and drowns you. Like when three Dodger runners found themselves on third base, like when Cornwallis woke up and found he had to surrender to Washington, like when Dewey woke up and found he had to phone Truman.

Yes, this is a confused but eager Roy Riegels sprinting 63 yards the wrong way until a teammate nails him on their own two and Tech's winning score is set up, and you are there on the day a player ran not to daylight but to midnight.

Sam Sansone of the Los Angeles Examiner wasn't feeling much better before he took this picutre than Riegels was after. Sansone had a beaut of a hangover from a sleepless night with the boys and had retired to an unpopulated end of the field, away from the action, to contemplate, when he heard the crowd roar. Turning, he saw the ball game coming at him, reflexively made the shot and left for the darkroom to develop what he called an "n.g." (no good) plate. It wasn't until the next day he learned he had caught not a cliche but one of sport's surpassing goofs.

—Facilities. Taylor said equipment, space and personnel to implement a statewide mail option as Rocca's bill asks would force him to "pull people off the current claims process. In addition to budget problems it would require me to decrease my staff which would be disastrous." He said the federal government is cutting his budget 17 per cent.

"There can't be any argument we're not using our best efforts to make the system work," Taylor added. "If it works and claimants accept it we'll expand it to other offices with a heavy load."

Pending final action on the Rocca bill, Taylor uged the committee not to make the measure "a blanket measure requiring us to provide this option to all offices at all times."

Committee members will be in contact with Taylor, Rocca, labor unions and all interested parties to discuss the bill further and a report on their progress is expected next week.

The Instant It Happened

40, 30, 20, OHMYGOD!

Like the guy who asks, when the temperature is 108, if its hotenufforya, like the poor and the dead and the taxes, sports cliche photos are always with us.

Who hasn't flipped the local daily to the jock section just in time to see a snap of a sprinter, arms aloft and teeth bared, at the moment his heaving pectorals popped the tape?

Or that guy you never heard of forming a circle with thumb and forefinger to signify to Mom, the photographer and everyone else that he just threw a no-hitter. . . .

So here we have another. Some hero from yesteryear (note the cocker spaniel ear flaps of the helmet) heel and toeing it for Old Siwash toward the goal line with the enemy in grimacing pursuit.

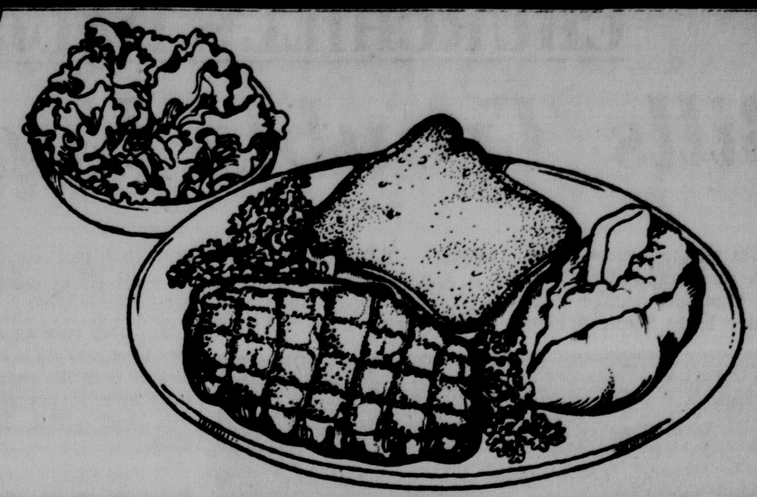

Such seems the case. The ball carrier is one Roy Riegels, center of the Golden Bears of California, who has picked up a fumble and is running to glory in the 1929 Rose Bowl against Georgia Tech.

For this, folks, is a photo of one of those rare moments when The System breaks down, when everything has left-hand threads, when The Course of Human Events turns about face and drowns you. Like when three Dodger runners found themselves on third base, like when Cornwallis woke up and found he had to surrender to Washington, like when Dewey woke up and found he had to phone Truman.

Yes, this is a confused but eager Roy Riegels sprinting 63 yards the wrong way until a teammate nails him on their own two and Tech's winning score is set up, and you are there on the day a player ran not to daylight but to midnight.

Sam Sansone of the Los Angeles Examiner wasn't feeling much better before he took this picutre than Riegels was after. Sansone had a beaut of a hangover from a sleepless night with the boys and had retired to an unpopulated end of the field, away from the action, to contemplate, when he heard the crowd roar. Turning, he saw the ball game coming at him, reflexively made the shot and left for the darkroom to develop what he called an "n.g." (no good) plate. It wasn't until the next day he learned he had caught not a cliche but one of sport's surpassing goofs.

CHURCHILL'S DAUGHTER

Bills Trouble Lady Sarah

LADY SARAH: Probably broke again.

ADELA: A 'producer' of money.

Q: Did all those recent films and TV productions about Winston Churchill make his daughter Lady Sarah a rich woman? — T.T., Boston, Mass.

A: Apparently Lady Sarah did get some money but she seems to be nearly broke again. A wine merchant just sued her for about $1,000 in unpaid liquor and cigarette bills.

Q: I keep reading about how sick George Segal is and yet his picture is in the papers all the time here at parties. What's with him? — P.K., Hollywood, Calif.

A: According to George, he has a bad knee which kept him off the film "Lucky Lady," with Liza Minnelli and Burt Reynolds. What's unlucky for George proved lucky for George proved lucky for Gene Hackman, who's getting a million plus for replacing him. George's friends report him still acting strangely but no one wants to say anything for publication. . . "he who casts the first stone" or something like that.

SEGAL: He's around, but ....

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Who's the woman producer taking all the play away from David Merrick and Alex Cohen these days? She is a former Spanish Lit teacher from Columbia university — one Adela Holzer, a self-made millionairess who owns rice, cement, trucks, tractors and now two Broadway comedy hits, "The Ritz" and "All Over Town." Adela did it the easy way. She put $57,000 into "Hair" and made $2 million. So now she has 10 different plays coming up.

Q: Isn't Dean Martin awfully quiet these days? — Y.T., Meridian, Miss.

A: Old Dino is just pulling his usual Garbo bit. He always wants to be alone, stay home and watch westerns on TV, and play golf with a few select pals. But these days, with Dean's marriage to Cathy Hawn in the touch-and-go stage, he is even freezing his best buddies and they profess not to know why.

Q: I am an avid watcher of Rhoda and must know who plays Carlton, the drunken doorman. Will we ever see him? — T.P., San Diego, Calif.

A: "Carlton" is played by the talented co-producer of Rhoda, Lorenzo Music. He has vowed never to be seen on the show but will continue to be heard as "Carlton, your friendly doorman," since h gets so much fan mail.

Q: How did they make the breaking of the dam for the movie "Earthquake"? — E.T., El Centro, Calif.

A: The set cost a quarter of a million dollars and was a miniature reproduction 56 feet long and 10 to 20 feet high. Everything was in perfect scale but there was a problem because water is hard to "miniaturize." (A drop of water is still a drop of water.) The experts, some of them quite old and fished out of retirement for the picture, filmed this scene with a special filter to further disguise any imperfections and make it seem more realistic.

Portuguese Arming Against Leftist Mobs

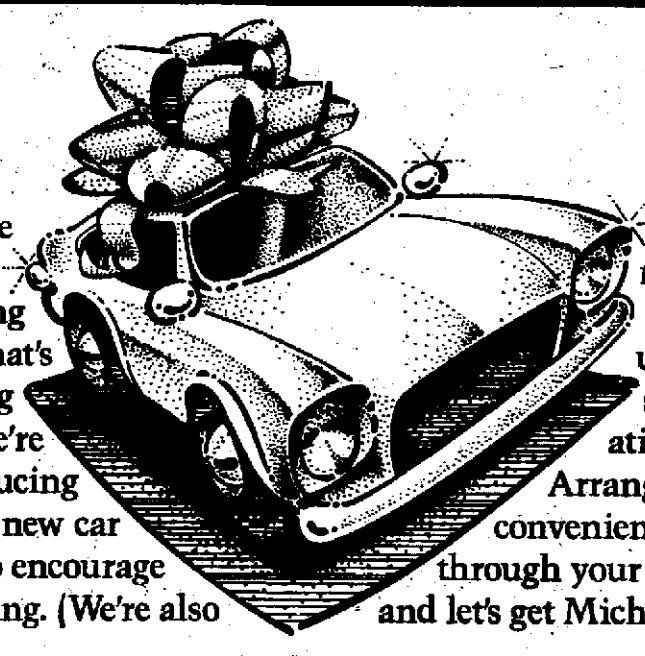

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Centrist political leaders say their supporters are arming to defend themselves against leftist mobs attacking their political rallies.

"We have assurances that the military will support us," said Julio Castro Caldas, a member of the Popular Democrats' national committee. "We also have to organize our own self-defense. We are planning that now."

Castro Caldas told a news conference Sunday that several armed leftist groups made the attack Friday night on a rally his party was holding in Setubal. Two persons were killed, dozens were injured, and the leftists besieged the local police station until the army intervened.

Hart's Decided Whether To Run-- But He Won't Tell

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., said Sunday he has made a decision on whether to run for reelection in 1976. But the 16-year Senate veteran refused to say what the decision is.

SEN. PHILIP HART

Year-long speculation that Hart would retire at the end of his current term has fueled the campaign fires of numerous Senate aspirants from both parties.

But Hart told reporters Sunday he won't tell anyone what his plans are until the summer.

"Some days I think the world can't get along without me. Other days I say 'What am I doing here?'" he said in response to questions about his rumored retirement. "If I was on the truth serum you could get an answer. But this isn't the time."

The 62-year-old Hart, considered one of the most liberal members of the Senate, said he would have to announce his plans by summer because new campaign financing laws would require candidates to begin setting up campaign committees by that time.

Meanwhile, Michigan Republicans plan to conduct an opinion poll of state residents to find out, in part, whether Hart would be successful if he ran again.

Some GOP strategists feel the bearded Hart has become too liberal for his constituency — especially because of his stands against handgun ownership and for busing to achieve racial integration in schools.

Hart also recently announced plans to sponsor a bill calling for unconditional amnesty for Vietnam deserters and draft resisters.

Several state Republicans already have shown considerable interest in running for Hart's seat, including U.S. Reps. Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor and Philip E. Ruppe of of Houghton.

Democratic interest in the seat isn't lacking either. "If Hart doesn't run again, we'll need a primary ballot like a bedsheet to list all the candidates," said one Democrat.

BLOOMINGDALE

Unfair Labor Suit Filed Against Board

BLOOMIMGDALE — Service Employes International union (AFL-CIO) Local 586, Muskegon, has filed an unfair labor practice suit against the Bloomingdale school board, according to Neil Detochey, president of Local 586.

Local 586 has charged the school board with interfering with, coercing, and restraining three secretaries employed by the school board from exercising their rights to organize, he said. The secretaries named in the suit are Marge Mathews, Brenda Martin and Flora Petrick, according to Derochey.

Derochey said the suit claims the three secretaries have requested membership and representation by Local 586 and were, as a result of this action, discharged by the school board on Feb. 28.

The suit was filed last week the Michigan Department of Labor's employment relations commission, Detroit, Derochey said.

BUCHANAN WOMAN

High Speed Chase Ends With Arrest

BUCHANAN — Police here arrested a Buchanan woman early Sunday morning after chasing a reported stolen van across the state line into LaPorte, Ind.

Taken into custody on charges of unlawfully driving away a vehicle, fleeing and eluding police and reckless driving was Debra Bowker, 19, 101½ Lake street, Buchanan.

Police said the arrest came after partolman Jim Ellis and reserve officer Wally Casto attempted to stop a van-type truck near the intersection of Red Bud Trail and River street about 12:50 a.m. Sunday and then had to chase it. Police said the officers tried to stop the vehicle because it matched the description of a vehicle reported stolen from Niles Saturday night.

The van was stopped with the assistance of LaPorte police inside the limits of the Indiana city after a chase of over 30 miles over icy roads throughout southwestern Berrien county and northeastern Indiana. The chase reached speeds in excess of 80 miles per hour at some points, police said.

Police said the driver waived extradition and was returned to Michigan. A van matching the description of the van was reported stolen to Niles police about 6:30 p.m. Saturday by its owner, Ronald Brinkley, 5455 US-12, Buchanan.

Both Niles and Buchanan police identified the van owner as an ex-boy friend of the woman who was arrested.

Lacy Trial Will Open Tomorrow

Trial is scheduled to begin tomorrow in Berrien circuit court for George Lacy, Jr., 22, of 524 Whitcomb court, Benton Harbor, who faces a first-degree murder charge in connection with the death of storekeeper John Govatos.

The trial is slated for four days in Judge Julian E. Hughes' court. Lacy is currently being held in the county jail without bond.

He is charged with murdering Govatos Jan. 4 at Govatos' Oasis party store in Hagar township. Prosecutor John A. Smietanka will present the state's case against Lacy, who will be defended by Benton Harbor Atty. James Ford.

Hughes earlier reserved an opinion on a motion by Ford for a change of venue, saying he would wait and see if a jury can be picked.

Muir SDD Appeal Up For Hearing

The Michigan Liquor Control commission Tuesday will hear an appeal by the Muir Co., seeking a package liquor (SDD) license for the Muir drug store in Fairplain Plaza, Benton township. The hearing will be in Lansing.

The liquor commission earlier denied the request, stating "the quota (for liquor take-out licenses) is filled and the area is adequately serviced with existing SDD outlets."

The commission Tuesday also will hear a similar appeal for five other Muir Co. stores throughout the state.

Trooper Is Picked By Niles

NILES — Sgt. Raymond Rudman, assistant commander of the Niles state police post, has been named the new Niles police chief by the city's safety board.

Rudman, 52, will assume the chief's duties April 1, after he officially retires from the state police on March 22.

Making the announcement of Rudman's appointment this morning were Malcolm House, safety board chairman, and Donald Tennyson, safety board member. House said the board selected Rudman as chief during an executive session Saturday.

Rudman was selected from 10 applicants, six of whom were from the Niles police department, House said. The new chief's starting salary will be $18,000 a year.

Rudman has lived in the Niles area for over 20 years. His wife, Ann, is a teacher at St. Mary's school in Niles. They are the parents of one son, a graduate student at Wayne State university in Detroit.

Tax Rebate May Top $21 Billion

5 or 10 per cent to families that buy homes or new cars.

Such a move would provide dramatic aid to two of the nation's most depressed industries, and the effect could be a quick shot-in-the-arm for the entire economy, Long says.

Ford has proposed a $16-billion tax cut and has not stated whether he would accept a bigger one. Presidential Assistant Donald H. Rumsfeld, appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," also declined to speculate on whether Ford would approve a larger tax cut. Ford would have to weigh the size of the cut against any actions taken by Congress toward controlling federal spending, Rumsfeld said.

How quickly the bill is passed and the effects felt by American businesses and families likely will depend on how persistent congressional liberals will be in their effort to take away a tax break enjoyed by the oil companies.

When the House passed the tax cut, it attached an amendment repealing the oil depletion allowance retroactive to Jan. 1. Senate conservatives have promised an extensive fight to retain the depletion allowance.

The depletion allowance authorizes producers and holders of oil property to deduct for tax purposes 22 per cent of their income from oil operations. This saves the industry about $2.5 billion a year in taxes.

A bloc led by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., is insisting that the depletion allowance be repealed now.

Under the new rule, only 60 votes — compared with up to 67 under the old provision — would be required to choke off the expected filibuster of oil-state senators who oppose depletion repeal.

In related developments:

—Treasury Secretary William E. Simon predicted over the weekend that Congress and the Ford adminsitration would reach a compromise by May 1 on programs to help the economy and cope with the energy problem.

—The House is scheduled to debate Tuesday on whether to vote soon to override Ford's veto of the bill that would delay his imported oil tariff program for 90 days. After the President agreed to halt the last two parts of his tariff plan for 60 days, the Senate called off its plan to vote on whether to override. House Democrats also sought a delay but Republican representatives said they would like to see a vote now.

Van Buren Slaying Arrests Mount

Willis said that no definite motive for the killing had yet been established. It was known, he said, that Miss Strickler and Miss Towne knew each other when both were patients at the Kalamazoo state hospital. Willis said Vaughn had also been a patient at the Northville state hospital.

Willis and deputies spent much of yesterday afternoon combing the slaying site, an open field near CR-652 and 86th avenue, for clues. He said additional evidence had been gathered.

According to Kalamazoo city police, they received a call from Miss Strickler late Thursday saying that she knew where the body of a woman could be found. She identified the area as "Dead Man's Hill," police said. Police said they checked out a location on Douglas avenue known as Dead Man's Hill but found nothing.

Another woman, Miss Cook, called Friday afternoon and told police she would take them to the location of the body in a section of Porter township also referred to as Dead Man's Hill.

Police and deputies located Miss Towne next to a stand of trees about 5:45 p.m. Friday. Deputies used a snowmobile to remove the bodh at 1:30 a.m.

According to deputies, it appears that Miss Towne was forced into a car in Kalamazoo, then driven to the site where she was forced to disrobe. They said she was reportedly molested with a piece of wood and then stabbed repeatedly.

Funeral services for Miss Towne will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Hoag-gswitzer Funeral Home, Gale burg with burial at the Mount Ever-Rest cemetery.

Charge Boys With Arson

the other is 15.

Police identified the people arrested in connection with the house burglary as Rita Ann DeLaney, 19, of 675 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property and Michael Lee Byers, 18, of 665 East Vineyard, Benton Harbor on a charge of breaking and entering.

A boy and girl, both 15, and two boys, 16 years old, were also charged in the house burglary.

Police said furniture which had allegedly been stolen from a house at 700 East Washington street was recovered.

Thursday Coloma School Activities

COLOMA — Saturday's editions of this newspaper inadvertently omitted Thursday's activities of the Coloma school calendar. Slated events on Thursday, March 13 are: Lunch — chicken and gravy and at Washington elementary, men's club, 7 p.m., in gym.; at the high school, girls' volleyball, Brandywine and River Valley at Coloma, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

BH Blaze Extinguished

Benton Harbor firemen extinguished a fire Sunday at the home of Mrs. Sam Edwards, 373½ Miller street. Firemen said the blaze apparently was started by children playing with matches.

The fire started in the rug of the living room, then spread to furniture and walls. Fire damaged the living room and a second story room. Firemen said two of the owner's nephews, 11 and 12 years old, may have thrown matches on the floor.

'UNDERMINING' AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette advertisements are undermining the impact of health warnings about smoking, the Federal Trade Commission says.

Gunshot Wound Hospitalizes Man

Hornes told officers he was shot about 10:48 p.m., while walking on Weld, near Agard. Hornes reported he was approached by three men, wearing stockings over their faces. One fired a shot, officers were told.

Hornes reported that after the shooting, the three fled, and he went to the residence of an uncle, James Rice, 1190 Pearl street. Police were called about the shooting by Rice at 10:55 p.m. Officers found Hornes at the Rice residence.

Police reported the Hornes said he went to his uncle's, instead of to Mercy hospital, near the shooting scene, because he was frightened.

The shooting of Hornes was reported shortly after one or two shots were fired in an attempted robbery of Ron's Party store, 990 Pipestone street, at the corner of Weld.

Police said two men wearing ski masks attempted to rob the store but fled empty-handed when an employe went to call for help. Police said one of the shots may have accidentally wounded a bandit.

BERRIEN SPRINGS

Friday Fire Brief, Principal Reports

BERRIEN SPRINGS — School officials here said a fire in the metals work shop Friday afternoon was put out in about 25 seconds and caused little damage to the school and no injuries to students.

Gerald Craig, high school principal, said all students were evacuated from the building as a safety precaution.

He said that while one fire emtinguisher in the shop was inoperable, another one, 30 feet away in a hallway, was used by the shop teacher to put out the flames in and around a metal barrel students had been cutting with an acetylene torch.

Craig commented on the fire in denying allegations by a Berrien Springs woman that school officials had endangered lives of students and cancelled the fire alarm before determining whether it was real.

Mrs. Daniel (Lila) Davis, 442 Ferry Street, asserted that the flames spread close to 11 acetylene tanks and that "Two of the nearest fire extinguishers were empty."

She made her charges in letters to the Berrien Springs Journal Era newspaper and to this newspaper.

She wrote that "...after much confusion, the fire alarm was sounded...but cancelled," before he (Craig) had determined whether the alarm was real.

Craig said students had been cutting on a barrel about 2 p.m. when heat from the torch apparently ignited chemicals on the inside of the barrel.

He said fumes around the barrel ignited but were put out "...in 25 or 30 seconds" by shop instructor Edward Hempel.

Craig said a fire extinguisher in the shop was inoperable, but said he doesn't know why.

"They are checked on a regular basis," Craig said.

He added that acetylene tanks in the shop are stored in compliance with state standards.

He denied that the fire ever came close to being a real disaster as indicated by Mrs. Davis in her letter.

Mrs. Davis said she learned of the fire through accounts from two nephews who are students at the school.

Officers Find Stolen Air Pistol

GALIEN — A burglar stole an air pistol from the Berrien sheriff's department substation, then discarded the gun in the driveway of the nearby Galien fire station.

Fireman Dennis Geik told sheriff's officers he found the pistol in driveway about 5:50 p.m. Saturday. Deputies said the gun had been stolen from a locker in the substation where it had been stored since being confiscated last summer.

The sheriff's department report said officers have discovered other items missing from the substation at various times. The other items were not specified.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Traffic Stops Lead To Charges For 4

State police of the Benton Hharbor post arrested four men on charges of violating the controlled substance act after suspected marijuana was found during three separate traffic investigations.

Troopers Sunday arrested Roy Lee Walker, 23, of 1383 Monroe street, Benton Harbor, and William Ray Spinks, 26, also of 1383 Monroe, after stopping a car on Britain avenue, Benton township, for making a turn without signaling. Five plastic bags with suspected marijuana, valued at about $45, and a partly consumed can of beer were confiscated.

Also arrested Sunday was J.T. Suttles, 22, of 660 McGuigan street, Benton Harbor. Suspected marijuana was found after a car was stopped on Highland avenue for allegedly weaving in the lane.

Arrested Saturday night was Tommie Lee Adams, 18, of 1265 Blossom lane, Benton township. He was arrested after troopers stopped a car that was allegedly weaving on Territorial road, Benton township. Troopers said a small quantity of alleged marijuana was found.

Burglars stole 1,500 disposable syringes, 25 cans of anesthetic and a stereo from the Oak Ridge Professional building, 2800 Niles road, St. Joseph township.

The theft occurred Friday night from the offices of John S. Duda, D.D.S.; W. Richard Kuball, D.D.S., and John Gregory, O.D. St. Joseph township police reported.

Police also said burglars entered the Ponderosa Steak House, 2075 Niles road, St. Joseph township, but apparently did not take anything. Entry was gained through a vent in the roof, police reported.

Benton township police reported two coats and a piggy bank filled with pennies were stolen from the home of Gloria Elims, 1490 Union street. The theft of the items, valued at $200, was reported to police Sunday evening.

Hart's Decided Whether To Run-- But He Won't Tell

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — U.S. Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., said Sunday he has made a decision on whether to run for reelection in 1976. But the 16-year Senate veteran refused to say what the decision is.

Year-long speculation that Hart would retire at the end of his current term has fueled the campaign fires of numerous Senate aspirants from both parties.

But Hart told reporters Sunday he won't tell anyone what his plans are until the summer.

"Some days I think the world can't get along without me. Other days I say 'What am I doing here?'" he said in response to questions about his rumored retirement. "If I was on the truth serum you could get an answer. But this isn't the time."

SEN. PHILIP HART

The 62-year-old Hart, considered one of the most liberal members of the Senate, said he would have to announce his plans by summer because new campaign financing laws would require candidates to begin setting up campaign committees by that time.

Meanwhile, Michigan Republicans plan to conduct an opinion poll of state residents to find out, in part, whether Hart would be successful if he ran again.

Some GOP strategists feel the bearded Hart has become too liberal for his constituency — especially because of his stands against handgun ownership and for busing to achieve racial integration in schools.

Hart also recently announced plans to sponsor a bill calling for unconditional amnesty for Vietnam deserters and draft resisters.

Several state Republicans already have shown considerable interest in running for Hart's seat, including U.S. Reps. Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor and Philip E. Ruppe of of Houghton.

Democratic interest in the seat isn't lacking either. "If Hart doesn't run again, we'll need a primary ballot like a bedsheet to list all the candidates," said one Democrat.

BLOOMINGDALE

Unfair Labor Suit Filed Against Board

BLOOMIMGDALE — Service Employes International union (AFL-CIO) Local 586, Muskegon, has filed an unfair labor practice suit against the Bloomingdale school board, according to Neil Derochey, president of Local 586.

Local 586 has charged the school board with interfering with, coercing, and restraining three secretaries employed by the school board from exercising their rights to organize, he said. The secretaries named in the suit are Marge Mathews, Brenda Martin and Flora Petrick, according to Derochey.

Derochey said the suit claims the three secretaries have requested membership and representation by Local 586 and were, as a result of this action, discharged by the school board on Feb. 28.

The suit was filed last week the Michigan Department of Labor's employment relations commission, Detroit, Derochey said.

Trooper Is Picked By Niles

NILES — Sgt. Raymond Rudman, assistant commander of the Niles state police post, has been named the new Niles police chief by the city's safety board.

Rudman, 52, will assume the chief's duties April 1, after he officially retires from the state police on March 22.

Making the announcement of Rudman's appointment this morning were Malcolm House, safety board chairman, and Donald Tennyson, safety board member. House said the board selected Rudman as chief during an executive session Saturday.

Rudman was selected from 10 applicants, six of whom were from the Niles police department, House said. The new chief's starting salary will be $18,000 a year.

Rudman has lived in the Niles area for over 20 years. His wife, Ann, is a teacher at St. Mary's school in Niles. They are the parents of one son, a graduate student at Wayne State university in Detroit.

Rudman replace Jack Mast as police chief.

Tax Rebate May Top $21 Billion

5 or 10 per cent to families that buy homes or new cars.

Such a move would provide dramatic aid to two of the nation's most depressed industries, and the effect could be a quick shot-in-the-arm for the entire economy, Long says.

Ford has proposed a $16-billion tax cut and has not stated whether he would accept a bigger one. Presidential Assistant Donald H. Rumsfeld, appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," also declined to speculate on whether Ford would approve a larger tax cut. Ford would have to weigh the size of the cut against any actions taken by Congress toward controlling federal spending, Rumsfeld said.

How quickly the bill is passed and the effects felt by American businesses and families likely will depend on how persistent congressional liberals will be in their effort to take away a tax break enjoyed by the oil companies.

When the House passed the tax cut, it attached an amendment repealing the oil depletion allowance retroactive to Jan. 1. Senate conservatives have promised an extensive fight to retain the depletion allowance.

The depletion allowance authorizes producers and holders of oil property to deduct for tax purposes 22 per cent of their income from oil operations. This saves the industry about $2.5 billion a year in taxes.

A bloc led by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C., is insisting that the depletion allowance be repealed now.

Under the new rule, only 60 votes — compared with up to 67 under the old provision — would be required to choke off the expected filibuster of oil-state senators who oppose depletion repeal.

In related developments:

—Treasury Secretary William E. Simon predicted over the weekend that Congress and the Ford adminsitration would reach a compromise by May 1 on programs to help the economy and cope with the energy problem.

—The House is scheduled to debate Tuesday on whether to vote soon to override Ford's veto of the bill that would delay his imported oil tariff program for 90 days. After the President agreed to halt the last two parts of his tariff plan for 60 days, the Senate called off its plan to vote on whether to override. House Democrats also sought a delay but Republican representatives said they would like to see a vote now.

Van Buren Slaying Arrests Mount

Willis said that no definite motive for the killing had yet been established. It was known, he said, that Miss Strickler and Miss Towne knew each other when both were patients at the Kalamazoo state hospital. Willis said Vaughn had also been a patient at the Northville state hospital.

Willis and deputies spent much of yesterday afternoon combing the slaying site, an open field near CR-652 and 88th avenue for clues. He said additional evidence had been gathered.

According to Kalamazoo city police, they received a call from Miss Strickler late Thursday saying that she knew where the body of a woman could be found. She identified the area as "Dead Man's Hill," police said. Police said they checked out a location on Douglas avenue known as Dead Man's Hill but found nothing.

Another woman, Miss Cook, called Friday afternoon and told police she would take them to the location of the body in a section of Porter township also referred to as Dead Man's Hill.

Police and deputies located Miss Towne next to a stand of trees about 5:45 p.m. Friday. Deputies used a snowmobile to remove the bodh at 1:30 a.m.

According to deputies, it appears that Miss Towne was forced into a car in Kalamazoo, then driven to the site where she was forced to disrobe. They said she was reportedly molested with a piece of wood and then stabbed repeatedly.

Funeral services for Miss Towne will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at the Hoag-gswitzer Funeral Home. Gale burg with burial at the Mount Ever Rest cemetery.

Police identified the people arrested in connection with the house burglary as Rita Ann DeLaney, 19, of 675 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property and Michael Lee Byers, 18, of 665 East Vineyard, Benton Harbor on a charge of breaking and entering.

A boy and girl, both 15, and two boys, 16 years old, were also charged in the house burglary.

Police said furniture which had allegedly been stolen from a house at 700 East Washington street was recovered.

Thursday Coloma School Activities

COLOMA — Saturday's editions of this newspaper inadvertently omitted Thursday's activities of the Coloma school calendar. Slated events on Thursday, March 13 are: Lunch — chicken and gravy and at Washington elementary, men's club, 7 p.m., in gym.; at the high school, girls' volleyball, Brandywine and River Valley at Coloma, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

BH Blaze Extinguished

Benton Harbor firemen extinguished a fire Sunday at the home of Mrs. Sam Edwards, 373½ Miller street. Firemen said the blaze apparently was started by children playing with matches.

The fire started in the rug of the living room, then spread to furniture and walls. Fire damaged the living room and a second story room. Firemen said two of the owner's nephews, 11 and 12 years old, may have thrown matches on the floor.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette advertisements are undermining the impact of health warnings about smoking, the Federal Trade Commission says.

Gunshot Wound Hospitalizes Man

Hornes told officers he was shot about 10:48 p.m., while walking on Weld, near Agard. Hornes reported he was approached by three men, wearing stockings over their faces. One fired a shot, officers were told.

Hornes reported that after the shooting, the three fled, and he went to the residence of an uncle, James Rice, 1190 Pearl street. Police were called about the shooting by Rice at 10:55 p.m. Officers found Hornes at the Rice residence.

Police reported the Hornes said he went to his uncle's, instead of to Mercy hospital, near the shooting scene, because he was frightened.

The shooting of Hornes was reported shortly after one or two shots were fired in an attempted robbery of Ron's Party store, 990 Pipestone street, at the corner of Weld.

Police said two men wearing ski masks attempted to rob the store but fled empty-handed when an employe went to call for help. Police said one of the shots may have accidentally wounded a bandit.

BERRIEN SPRINGS

Friday Fire Brief, Principal Reports

BERRIEN SPRINGS — School officials here said a fire in the metals work shop Friday afternoon was put out in about 25 seconds and caused little damage to the school and no injuries to students.

Gerald Craig, high school principal, said all students were evacuated from the building as a safety precaution.

He said that while one fire emtinguisher in the shop was inoperable, another one, 30 feet away in a hallway, was used by the shop teacher to put out the flames in and around a metal barrel students had been cutting with an acetylene torch.

Craig commented on the fire in denying allegations by a Berrien Springs woman that school officials had endangered lives of students and cancelled the fire alarm before determining whether it was real.

Mrs. Daniel (Lila) Davis, 442 Ferry Street, asserted that the flames spread close to 11 acetylene tanks and that "Two of the nearest fire extinguishers were empty."

She made her charges in letters to the Berrien Springs Journal Era newspaper and to this newspaper.

She wrote that "...after much confusion, the fire alarm was sounded...but cancelled," before he (Craig) had determined whether the alarm was real.

Craig said students had been cutting on a barrel about 2 p.m. when heat from the torch apparently ignited chemicals on the inside of the barrel.

He said fumes around the barrel ignited but were put out "...in 25 or 30 seconds" by shop instructor Edward Hempel.

Craig said a fire extinguisher in the shop was inoperable, but said he doesn't know why.

"They are checked on a regular basis," Craig said.

He added that acetylene tanks in the shop are stored in compliance with state standards.

He denied that the fire ever came close to being a real disaster as indicated by Mrs. Davis in her letter.

Mrs. Davis said she learned of the fire through accounts from two nephews who are students at the school.

Officers Find Stolen Air Pistol

GALIEN — A burglar stole an air pistol from the Berrien sheriff's department substation, then discarded the gun in the driveway of the nearby Galien fire station.

Fireman Dennis Geik told sheriff's officers he found the pistol in driveway about 5:50 p.m. Saturday. Deputies said the gun had been stolen from a locker in the substation where it had been stored since being confiscated last summer.

The sheriff's department report said officers have discovered other items missing from the substation at various times. The other items were not specified.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Traffic Stops Lead To Charges For 4

State police of the Benton Hharbor post arrested four men on charges of violating the controlled substance act after suspected marijuana was found during three separate traffic investigations.

Troopers Sunday arrested Roy Lee Walker, 23, of 1383 Monroe street, Benton Harbor, and William Ray Spinks, 26, also of 1383 Monroe, after stopping a car on Britain avenue, Benton township, for making a turn without signaling. Five plastic bags with suspected marijuana, valued at about $45, and a partly consumed can of beer were confiscated.

Also arrested Sunday was J.T. Suttles, 22, of 660 McGuigan street, Benton Harbor. Suspected marijuana was found after a car was stopped on Highland avenue for allegedly weaving in the lane.

Arrested Saturday night was Tommie Lee Adams, 18, of 1265 Blossom lane, Benton township. He was arrested after troopers stopped a car that was allegedly weaving on Territorial road, Benton township. Troopers said a small quantity of alleged marijuana was found.

Burglars stole 1,500 disposable syringes, 25 cans of anesthetic and a stereo from the Oak Ridge Professional building, 2800 Niles road, St. Joseph township.

The theft occurred Friday night from the offices of John S. Duda, D.D.S.; W. Richard Kuball, D.D.S., and John Gregory O.D. St. Joseph township police reported.

Police also said burglars entered the Ponderosa Steak House, 2075 Niles road, St. Joseph township, but apparently did not take anything. Entry was gained through a vent in the roof, police reported.

Benton township police reported two coats and a piggy bank filled with pennies were stolen from the home of Gloria Elims, 1490 Union street. The theft of the items, valued at $200, was reported to police Sunday evening.

Income Tax Hike Bill Starts Obstacle Course

By MARY SCHEIER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The bill raising the personal income tax is shakily set to start a danger-filled course through the legislature this week.

House Speaker Bobby Crim says he's promised Gov. William Milliken he'll try to get the bill out of the House Taxation Committee this week.

Milliken wants the bill, incresing the personal income tax by 0.7 of one per cent, pased by April 1 and in effect by May 1. The measure's designed to replace $210 million-$220 million the state expects to lose annually due to repeal of the sales tax on food and drugs.

If the bill's not in effect by May 1, Milliken says, then for each month of delay the rate will have to be raised on additional 0.1 of one per cent just to generate the same amount of revenue.

The uncertainties in the bill's future are whether it has enough Republican and Democratic votes in the 110-member House to be passed and sent to the Senate, and whether the House Taxation Committee will report it out this week.

House Republicans caucused Friday to discuss the bill. But Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, said no vote count was taken.

Legislators from both parties have said the proposed increase is not large enough to balance next year's record $3 billion budget.

After meeting with Milliken last week, Crim said that as long as this year's budget can be balanced he believes the increase wil be large enough.

Rep. George Montgomery, D-Detroit, chairman of the House Taxation Committee, said he thinks there's "a good chance" the bill will be reported out this week, possibly at a special Tuesday meeting.

"I don't know for sure," he added. "The committee has something to say about that."

The committee already has amended another section of the bill to wipe out total tax exemptions enjoyed by retirement and pension benefits of public retirement systems created by state act.

Montgomery said further amendments to that pension section might be forthcoming.

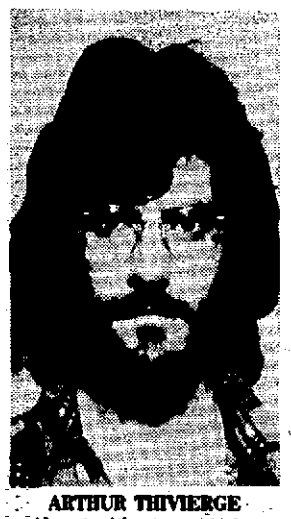

Coming up for debate in the Senate this week is a bill to provide monetary compensation for crime victims. The measure would provide help for injured victims or their relatives who face medical expenses or lost wages, if the cost would mean serious financial difficulties.

The Senate also will discuss a package of bills to stabilize property tax values for four years at a time.

The bills would not affect the property assessments of individual owners, which could still vary from year to year.

Supporters say they would freeze the valuation of the local unit, insuring that taxpayers would not be hit with increases from the county or state equalization boards once their assessment was set.

SUSPECT IS REHAB SCHOOL RUNAWAY

ARTHUR THIVIERGE
Absent without permission

South Havenite Under Sentence When Nabbed On Drug Count

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

SOUTH HAVEN — A state parole official has said a South Haven man arrested Feb. 12 on a drug charge here was absent without permission from a rehabilitation school for convicts when taken into custody.

Warren Enyart of the parole office in Kalamazoo said the man, Arthur Thivierge, 27, was absent from the Pine Lake vocational rehabilitation school near Plainwell.

According to Enyart the man had been on Christmas furlough from the school when the alleged drug offense occurred Dec. 17.

Thivierge had been assigned to the school to learn watch and clock repair and was receiving $10 a week through a federal grant program, a school official said.

State police from South Haven arrested Thivierge and 10 other people in a move they described as a crackdown on drug traffic in the South Haven area.

State police said they had not been notified by state department of correction officials that the South Haven man was absent from the school without permission.

Thivierge is awaiting arraignment in Van Buren circuit court on a charge of illegal delivery (sale) of a drug, Phencyclidine (PCP). Van Buren sheriff's deputies said the man was being held in the county jail in Paw Paw under $30,000 bond.

Kenneth Buelow, principal of the training center, said Thivierge had been assigned to the school April 22 by state corrections officials while serving a prison term.

He had been sentenced to a prison term of from two to four years in October, 1973, after pleading guilty in Van Buren circuit court to a charge of delivery (sale) of marijuana.

According to Buelow, students at the school are expected to abide by a set of rules and regulations, but said the center has no bars on its windows or fences to keep someone from leaving.

Students are expected to live at the school during the week, but may receive passes on weekends from the state corrections department officer in charge of their case, he added. The responsibility of screening applicants and knowing of their whereabouts belogs to the state corrections office, he said.

Buelow admitted the chances of rehabilitating an inmate were tough but said that some had managed to become worthy citizens. He estimated that only 10 per cent of the inmates undergoing training would be rehabilitated.

"I know that sounds terrible, but it's a fact," he said. "When you put human values to statistics everybody comes up with a different conclusion."

According to court records, Thiverige has been convicted of eight misdemeanors and five felonies since 1966. Until he was sentenced in August, 1973 for selling marijuana, he had never gone to prison, although he served several short jail sentences.

Two of the convictions were for probation violations, in which Thiverige had absconded from supervision, according to Van Buren Prosecuting Atty. Frank Willis.

The prosecutor said that while he thought the concept at the Pine Lake training school was good, Thivierge's case pointed out the need for improved screening and supervision.

Gary Man Charged With Carrying Pistol

PAW PAW — Odie V. Sharp, 44, of Gary, Ind., was to be arraigned today in Seventh district court here on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Sharp was arrested by state police at Paw Paw, at 1:30 p.m. yesterday after police had stopped a car on I-94 near CR-657 for a traffic violation. A .38 caliber pistol was found during a search of the car, police said.

State Slates Three Area Highway Jobs

LANSING — Three highway improvement projects have been announced for southwestern Michigan as part a record $200 million construction program being instituted by the state highway department during the remaining four months of fiscal 1974-75.

The highway department advised the office of State Sen. Charles Zollar that widening of a small section of US-31-33 in Niles, and construction of two rest areas on I-196 in Allegan county will be started as soon as possible. Contracts will be let before June 30.

The accelerated program was made possible by President Ford's recent release of $2 billion of impounded funds in the federal Highway Trust fund as a move to stimulate employment. Michigan's share is $89 million. Coupled with state matching money and federal funds previously allocated, the President's action enabled the state highway commission to increase its intended construction program from $95 million to $200 million.

Zollar said the highway department reported it was the largest amount of work, dollarwise, in any four-month period in the history of the department.

Scheduled for Berrien county is the widening of nine-tenths of a mile of US-31-33 from US-12 north to Fort street in Niles. Curb and gutter will be included.

A rest area for northbound I-196 will be built just north of the Van Buren-Allegan county line in Allegan county. Another rest are for southbound traffic on I-196 will be constructed north of Saugatuck in Allegan county.

The biggest project in western Michigan will be construction of 9.2 miles of US-31 freeway from M-20 (extended) to Polk road west of Hart, plus three miles of US-31 business route into the City of Hart.

A big portion of the work is scheduled in central and eastern Michigan, in line with an effort to stimulate employment in areas were jobs are needed most, according to the highway department.

Berrien Springs Names Its First Man Of Year

By KERMIT NETTEBURG
Berrien Springs Correspondent

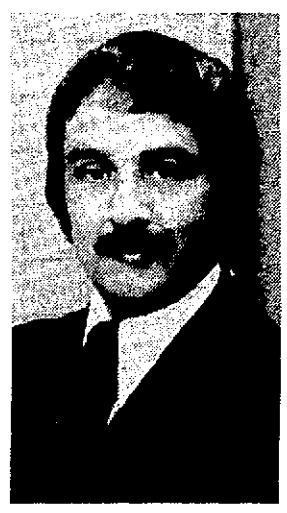

BERRIEN SPRINGS—David Gordon was named Berrien Springs' first man of the year at a banquet Saturday night, culminating a two-month search by the five Berrien Springs service clubs.

Gordon, 34, is manager of Leisure Living trailer village in Berrien Springs. He is also the past president of the Berrien Springs Jaycees.

In reading the citation for Gordon, Bill Warren, master of ceremonies for the banquet, said that Gordon had held at least 17 offices in volunteer organizations during the past four years and had initiated seven community service projects.

Gordon was born in Benton Harbor and moved to Berrien Springs nine years ago.

Five local service clubs—Jaycees, Lions, Rotary, Masons, and American Legion—were asked to nominate two men for outstanding man of the year. The winner was chosen by a committee of judges from outside Berrien Springs.

Hartford Woman Is Killed, 2 Hurt In Sunday Crash

The death was the third fatality in southwestern Michigan since Friday night and among 12 during the same period across the state, according to the Associated Press weekend traffic death report.

The AP weekend count began Friday night and ended Sunday night.

Coloma township police identified the victim of the early Sunday crash as Mrs. Jocelyn Keebaugh, 44, Beechwood Trailer court, Hartford. She died in Memorial hospital, St. Joseph about three hours after the crash.

3 Auto Deaths In Berrien County In 1975

Two of three people in her car were also injured, one requiring hospitalization.

Police said the crash occurred at 12:35 a.m. when Mrs. Keebaugh's car left Coloma road west of Coloma, hit a tree stump and flipped over.

The death was the third traffic fatality in Berrien county so far this year.

The passenger hospitalized was Mrs. Mabel L. Liebers, 51, 123 Olds street, Hartford, who was reported in good condition in Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Mrs. Liebers' husband, Fredrick, 49, was treated and released and a third passenger, Otto Brunner, 69, Park hotel, Hartford, did not require medical attention.

Two deaths in southwestern Michigan Friday night occurred in Cass county, when William Wicks, 46, and his wife, Norma Jean, 40, of Jones, were killed when their auto smashed head-on with a pickup truck east of Edwardsburg.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Keebaugh were incomplete today at the Calvin funeral home in Hartford where friends may call after 7 p.m., Tuesday.

Mrs. Keebaugh was a member of Prospect Methodist church, Marion, Ohio.

Survivors include her husband, Carl, New Albany, Ohio; two sons, Jack Pecoraro, Bremerton, Wash., and David Pecoraro, Benton Harbor; her father, Niegel Austin, Hartford; two brothers, Erwin and Vernon Austin, both of Hartford.

Associated Press reported these other weekend traffic deaths.

A Port Huron woman, killed Sunday when her car was struck broadside by a Grand Trunk freight train, according to State Police.

Sharon A. Spears, 34, was dead at the scene of the accident, about five miles from Port Huron, according to St. Clair County sheriff's deputies. Her daughter, Heidi, 6, was admitted in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens. Her two sons, Shannon, 14, and Mitchell, 11, were treated and released.

Deputies said the family was returning from church services in Marysville when the accident occurred. They said the Spears car braked but was unable to stop in time. The crossing, they said, is marked by bells and flashers that apparently were operating. The vehicle was dragged 800 feet along the tracks.

Sherry Lynn Rockafellow, 11, of Midland, died Friday night when she fell out of an auto near Edenville in Midland County.

Rhonda Lee Richmond, 2;, of Flushing, lost her life Friday night when the car in which she was riding hit a poll near Mount Morris.

Millie Juanita Somerville, 63, of Mason, was killed Saturday in Oscoda County when the snowmobile she was driving collided with a car.

Jackie Lynn Hubbard, 19, of Flint, died Sunday on Michigan 57 in Saginaw County when the car in which she was riding and another auto met head-on.

Maynard Andrew Pyper, 19, of Grand Rapids, was killed early Sunday when the car in which he was riding rann off a road in Mason County's Sheridan Township.

Jay Garrett Scheider, 29, of Traverse City, died Saturday in Grand Traverse County when his car and a second vehicle collided head-on.

The responsibility of screening applicants and knowing of their whereabouts belogs to the state corrections office, he said.

Buelow admitted the chances of rehabilitating an inmate were tough but said that some had managed to become worthy citizens. He estimated that only 10 per cent of the inmates undergoing training would be rehabilitated.

"I know that sounds terrible, but it's a fact," he said. "When you put human values to statistics everybody comes up with a different conclusion."

According to court records, Thiverige has been convicted of eight misdemeanors and five felonies since 1966. Until he was sentenced in August, 1973 for selling marijuana, he had never gone to prison, although he served several short jail sentences.

Two of the convictions were for probation violations, in which Thiverige had absconded from supervision, according to Van Buren Prosecuting Atty. Frank Willis.

The prosecutor said that while he thought the concept at the Pine Lake training school was good, Thivierge's case pointed out the need for improved screening and supervision.

Gary Man Charged With Carrying Pistol

PAW PAW — Odie V. Sharp, 44, of Gary, Ind., was to be arraigned today in Seventh district court here on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Sharp was arrested by state police at Paw Paw, at 1:30 p.m. yesterday after police had stopped a car on I-94 near CR-657 for a traffic violation. A .38 caliber pistol was found during a search of the car, police said.

Berrien Springs Names Its First Man Of Year

By KERMIT NETTEBURG
Berrien Springs Correspondent

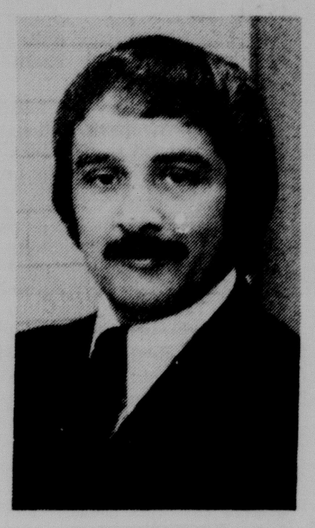

BERRIEN SPRINGS—David Gordon was named Berrien Springs' first man of the year at a banquet Saturday night, culminating a two-month search by the five Berrien Springs service clubs.

Gordon, 34, is manager of Leisure Living trailer village in Berrien Springs. He is also the past president of the Berrien Springs Jaycees.

In reading the citation for Gordon, Bill Warren, master of ceremonies for the banquet, said that Gordon had held at least 17 offices in volunteer organizations during the past four years and had initiated seven community service projects.

Gordon was born in Benton Harbor and moved to Berrien Springs nine years ago.

Five local service clubs—Jaycees, Lions, Rotary, Masons, and American Legion—were asked to nominate two men for outstanding man of the year. The winner was chosen by a committee of judges from outside Berrien Springs.

State Slates Three Area Highway Jobs

LANSING — Three highway improvement projects have been announced for southwestern Michigan as part a record $200 million construction program being instituted by the state highway department during the remaining four months of fiscal 1974-75.

The highway department advised the office of State Sen. Charles Zollar that widening of a small section of US-31-33 in Niles, and construction of two rest areas on I-196 in Allegan county will be started as soon as possible. Contracts will be let before June 30.

The accelerated program was made possible by President Ford's recent release of $2 billion of impounded funds in the federal Highway Trust fund as a move to stimulate employment. Michigan's share is $89 million. Coupled with state matching money and federal funds previously allocated, the President's action enabled the state highway commission to increase its intended construction program from $95 million to $200 million.

Zollar said the highway department reported it was the largest amount of work, dollarwise, in any four-month period in the history of the department.

Scheduled for Berrien county is the widening of nine-tenths of a mile of US-31-33 from US-12 north to Fort street in Niles. Curb and gutter will be included.

A rest area for northbound I-196 will be built just north of the Van Buren-Allegan county line in Allegan county. Another rest are for southbound traffic on I-196 will be constructed north of Saugatuck in Allegan county.

The biggest project in western Michigan will be construction of 9.2 miles of US-31 freeway from M-20 (extended) to Polk road west of Hart, plus three miles of US-31 business route into the City of Hart.

A big portion of the work is scheduled in central and eastern Michigan, in line with an effort to stimulate employment in areas were jobs are needed most, according to the highway department.

Hartford Woman Is Killed, 2 Hurt In Sunday Crash

The death was the third fatality in southwestern Michigan since Friday night and among 12 during the same period across the state, according to the Associated Press weekend traffic death report.

The AP weekend count began Friday night and ended Sunday night.

Coloma township police identified the victim of the early Sunday crash as Mrs. Jocelyn Keebaugh, 44, Beechwood Trailer court, Hartford. She died in Memorial hospital, St. Joseph about three hours after the crash.

3 Auto Deaths In Berrien County In 1975

Two of three people in her car were also injured, one requiring hospitalization.

Police said the crash occurred at 12:35 a.m. when Mrs. Keebaugh's car left Coloma road west of Coloma, hit a tree stump and flipped over.

The death was the third traffic fatality in Berrien county so far this year.

The passenger hospitalized was Mrs. Mabel L. Liebers, 51, 123 Olds street, Hartford, who was reported in good condition in Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Mrs. Liebers' husband, Fredrick, 49, was treated and released and a third passenger, Otto Brunner, 69, Park hotel, Hartford, did not require medical attention.

Two deaths in southwestern Michigan Friday night occurred in Cass county, when William Wicks, 46, and his wife, Norma Jean, 40, of Jones, were killed when their auto smashed head-on with a pickup truck east of Edwardsburg.

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Keebaugh were incomplete today at the Calvin funeral home in Hartford where friends may call after 7 p.m., Tuesday.

Mrs. Keebaugh was a member of Prospect Methodist church, Marion, Ohio.

Survivors include her husband, Carl, New Albany, Ohio; two sons, Jack Pecoraro, Bremerton, Wash., and David Pecoraro, Benton Harbor; her father, Niegel Austin, Hartford; two brothers, Erwin and Vernon Austin, both of Hartford.

Associated Press reported these other weekend traffic deaths.

A Port Huron woman, killed Sunday when her car was struck broadside by a Grand Trunk freight train, according to State Police.

Sharon A. Spears, 34, was dead at the scene of the accident, about five miles from Port Huron, according to St. Clair County sheriff's deputies. Her daughter, Heidi, 6, was admitted in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in Mount Clemens. Her two sons, Shannon, 14, and Mitchell, 11, were treated and released.

Deputies said the family was returning from church services in Marysville when the accident occurred. They said the Spears car braked but was unable to stop in time. The crossing, they said, is marked by bells and flashers that apparently were operating. The vehicle was dragged 800 feet along the tracks.

Sherry Lynn Rockafellow, 11, of Midland, died Friday night when she fell out of an auto near Edenville in Midland County.

Rhonda Lee Richmond, 2;, of Flushing, lost her life Friday night when the car in which she was riding hit a poll near Mount Morris.

Millie Juanita Somerville, 63, of Mason, was killed Saturday in Oscoda County when the snowmobile she was driving collided with a car.

Jackie Lynn Hubbard, 19, of Flint, died Sunday on Michigan 57 in Saginaw County when the car in which she was riding and another auto met head-on.

Maynard Andrew Pyper, 19, of Grand Rapids, was killed early Sunday when the car in which he was riding rann off a road in Mason County's Sheridan Township.

Jay Garrett Scheider, 29, of Traverse City, died Saturday in Grand Traverse County when his car and a second vehicle collided head-on.

New Champion Certain In NCAA Tourney

RIVAL TARHEELS SIDELINE WOLFPACK, THOMPSON

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

It could be UCLA for the 10th time in 12 years. Or it could be Indiana for the third time in 36...or North Carolina for the second time in 19...or Maryland for the first time ever.

Or it could be any one of 28 other teams.

Only one thing is certain now. When the National Collegiate Athletic Association crowns its new king on Monday night, March 31, it won't be the defending champion.

North Carolina State's Wolfpack, last year's champions after knocking off perennial champ UCLA 80-77 in double overtime in the semifinals and crunching Marquette 76-64 in the final, won't be in the NCAA tourney this time around.

In fact, they won't be anywhere—except wherever it is that young basketball players go when their season has ended. After failing to get an invitation to the 32-team NCAA extravaganza which begins Saturday, superstar David Thompson and the rest of the eighth-ranked Wolfpack turned down one from the National Invitation Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"Personally, I don't want to play another basketball game unless it's in the NCAA," said little guard Monte Towe, expressing the feelings of the downcast N.C. State squad after it lost 70-66 to 12-ranked North Carolina in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs, a result that sent the Tar Heels into a first-round game against New Mexico State.

But missing out in a conference championship or being an independent team overlooked by the NCAA doesn't necessarily mean going home empty handed. Along with the 16-team field in the NIT is the NCIT, the eight-team National Commissioners Invitational Tournament in Louisville.

And, like the NCAA, the NIT and NCIT won't have champions defending their titles. Purdue, winner of the NIT last year, is NCIT-bound this time around while Indiana, which won the NCIT a year ago when it was called the Collegiate Commissioners Association Tournament, is in the NCAA tourney now.

In major NCAA first-round matchups:

—UCLA's fourth-ranked Bruins, once again the Pacific-8 Conference champs following a 72-68 squeaker over Southern Cal, faces Michigan of the Big Ten and No. 15 Oregon State, runnerup in the Pac-8, goes against Ohio Valley Conference champ Middle Tennessee.

"That's wonderful, just wonderful!" Michigan Coach Johnny Orr said when told he'd be facing UCLA. He may not think so next Saturday, barring a major upset.

—Indiana's top-ranked Hoosiers, who wrapped up a perfect season in the Big Ten and everywhere else with a 94-79 rout of Michigan State, faces Texas-El Paso, runnerup in the Western Athletic Conference.

"It's been a long 29 games and I would have hated to have lost one of them," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, who's got to worry about five more—the games that lead to the NCAA championship showdown in San Diego.

—Maryland's second-ranked Terrapins, who finished first in the ACC during the regular season before N.C. State knocked them off in the playoffs, face 13th-ranked independent Creighton.

Marquette's fifth-ranked Warriors, another independent, play sixth-ranked Kentucky, which walloped Mississippi State 11880 and won a share of the Southeastern Conference title when seventh-ranked Alabama was upset 76-70 by Auburn.

Elsewhere in the NCAA opening-round play, it's Central Michigan playing Georgetown, La Salle against Syracuse, Furman facing Boston College, Texas A&M opposing Cincinnati, Notre Dame playing Kansas, Montana battling Utah State and Nevada-Las Vegas meeting San Diego State.

In New York, meanwhile, Lafayette, 22-4; Connecticut, 189; Pittsburgh, 17-10; Providence, 17-10, Memphis State, 206; St. Peter's, 15-11, and Manhattan, 13-11, were picked by the NIT to round out its field. The tournament begins next Saturday and ends March 23.

Picked earlier were Princeton, Oregon, Southern Illinois, South Carolina, Oral Roberts, Massachussetts, Holy Cross, St. John's and 14th-ranked Clemson, only team from The Associated Press Top Twenty in the field.

In the NCIT, which begins Thursday night and runs through Sunday, a pair of teams listed in The AP poll could head for a showdown.

Southern California's 11th-ranked Trojans will be in one bracket while Arizona, No. 19 in the ratings, is in the other one.

In the opener, Arizona, 20-6 and third in the Western Athletic Conference, faces East Carolina, 19-8 and second in the Southern Conference. In Thursday night's second game, Drake, 16-10 and from the Missouri Valley Conference, plays Southern Cal, 18-7 and third in the Pac-8.

On Friday night, three more third-place teams and one runnerup take the floor. First it's Purdue, 16-10, which shared third in the Big Ten, against Missouri, 18-8 and third in the Big Eight, followed by Tennessee, 18-7, which shared third in the Southeastern Conference, against Bowling Green, 17-9, second in the Mid-American Conference.

Hoosiers To Meet UTEP, 'M' Opens Against UCLA

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indiana's powerful Hoosiers, having made shambles of the Big Ten basketball race, turn their talents toward the NCAA Tournament.

Undefeated and ranked No. 1, the Hoosiers will be favored to capture the coveted championship and, if things break right, there is a possibility of an all-Big Ten showdown.

Michigan, finishing second in the conference race after an 83-64 triumph over Ohio State last Saturday, also earned a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Indiana has been seeded in the Eastern half of the playoffs and opens next Saturday against Texas-El Paso. Michigan plays in the West and opens against UCLA. Indiana and Michigan cannot face each other unless both make it to the championship game.

The Big Ten has had only three NCAA champions. Indiana won it in 1940 and again in 1953. Ohio State captured the title in 1960.

Completing the first undefeated season in Indiana cage history, the Hoosiers rolled by Michigan State 94-79 Saturday. The Hoosiers finished 18-0 in the Big Ten and 29-0 overall as they stretched their victory string to 32 games including their three triumphs in winning the Conference Commissioners championship last season.

Purdue will have the opportunity of winning the Commissioners title this season. The Boilermakers, who won the NIT a year ago, were selected for the Commissioners Tournament after a surprisingly easy 100-72 victory over Minnesota. Although Purdue and Minnesota finished in a tie for third place with 11-7 records and Minnesota had an 18-10 overall record to Purdue's 16-10, the Boilermakers were extended the tournament bid. Iowa and Wisconsin also closed the regular season with victories. Iowa downed Illinois 73-70 and Wisconsin smashed Northwestern 94-70.

Purdue faces Missouri in its tournament opener at Louisville Friday night. Missouri finished third in the Big Eight and had an 18-8 overall record.

There was some indication that the Hoosiers are beginning to show the strain of being undefeated and ranked No. 1.

"It has been a long 29 games and I would have hated to have lost one of them," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight following Saturday night's victory over Michigan State. "Going undefeated is a rarity and to have an attempt at something like that is really great."

Steve Green and Quinn Buckner paced the Hoosier attack with 25 and 23 points respectively. Bill Glover topped MSU with 20 points and Terry Furlow, the Big Ten's new scoring champion, added 15.

"The outcome of the game was decided by brawn, not speed," said Michigan State Coach Gus Ganakas. "Indiana is aggressive and they force you to make mistakes. It's hard to control the tempo — they don't let you pass the ball much."

Indiana will be shooting for its third NCAA crown and the fourth in Big Ten history. The Hoosiers won it in 1940 and again in 1953. Ohio State won the title in 1960.

Michigan got 25 points from Steve Grote and 20 from C. J. Kupec in whipping the Buckeyes to clinch second place with a 12-6 record. Bill Andreas topped the Buckeyes with 19 points.

Purdue, scoring 61 points in a blitzing second half, had five players in double figures with Walter Jordan scoring 22. Mark Olberding was high for the Gophers with 17.

"Three things happened in that second half," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus. "We got our hands on a lot of balls, they missed some shots and we were rebounding and running well."

Coach Bill Musselman of Minnesota said "We played their game in the second half. We forgot how we got this far."

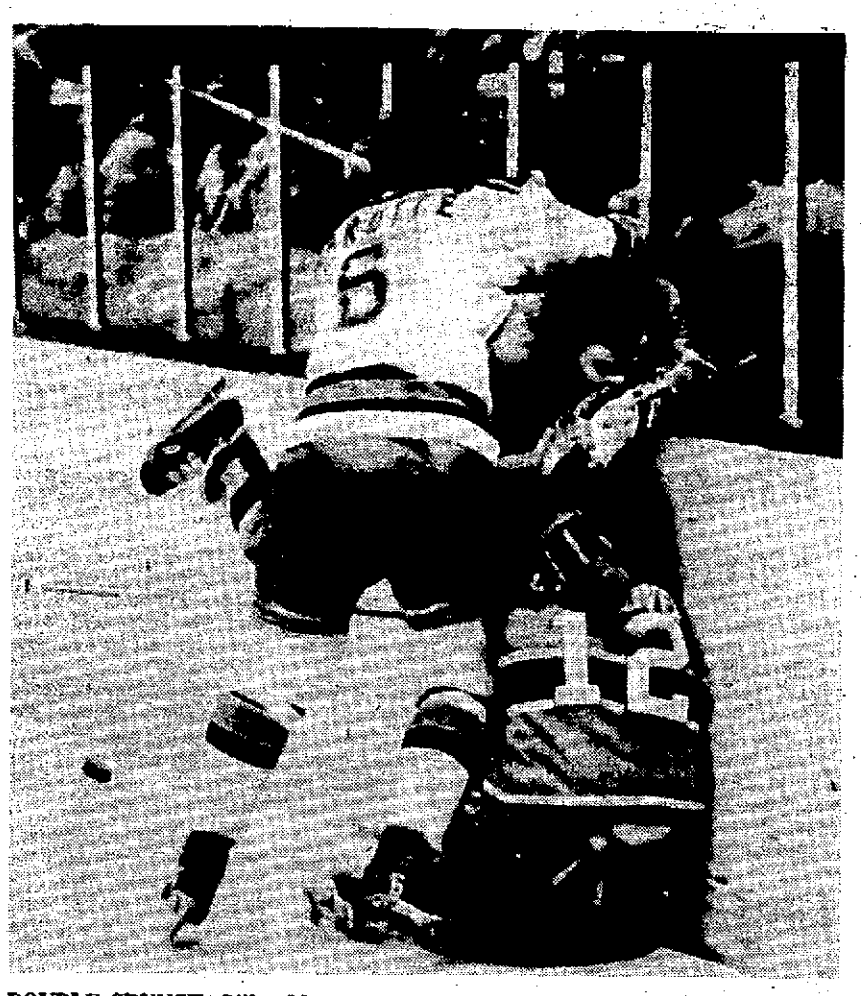

Bruce McCauley scored 25 points and senior Bob Luchsinger added 21 in Wisconsin's rout of Northwestern. Willie Williams topped the Wildcats with 24 points.

Illinois went cold in the closing minutes and Iowa scored the game's last seven points as the Hawkeyes upped their record to 7-11 to finish seventh. Illinois dropped into a last place tie with Northwestern-both finishing with 4-14 records.

Rick Schmidt with 29 points and Nate Williams with 20 made up most of Illinois' attack. Fred Haberecht topped the Hawkeyes with 19.

Foyt Takes Opener, Building Faster Car

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — After completly dominating the California 500 to open the U.S. Auto Club's 1975 championship season, A.J. Foyt has some demoralizing news for his competition—he's building a faster car.

Foyt, four miles an hour faster than anyone else in qualiufying, led the race nearly at will Sunday and was almost a full lap in front of his closest competition, 1974 USAC and California 500 champion Bobby Unser, when the checkered flag fell.

Later Foyt let slip that he had another car under construction at his Houston shop that he thinks will be much better than the winning Coyote-Foyt.

"I think I've got one that's gonna be a lot quicker at Indianapolis," drawled Foyt, 40, who has won 49 USAC championship events, more than anyone else ever.

Foyt said his reddish-orange car that led all but 12 of the 200 laps of the California 500 would be demoted to a backup role at Indianapolis.

What's so special about the new machine?

"Well," answered Foyt, "it's just a new car. That's all."

The only cars that were able to keep Foyt in sight were the Eagle-Offy of Unser, Johnny Rutherford's McLaren-Offy and the team of Wally Dallenbach and Gordon Johncock.

Rutherford, who led two laps, lost his engine while ahead on the 86th lap.

Johncock was in fourth place right behind Dallenbach when the engine in his Wildcat-Offy overheated 51 laps from the finish. Then the power plant in the Eagle Offy of Dallenbach, the 1973 California 500 winner, melted the piston when he was trying to get past Unser into second with 11 laps to go in the wide 2.5-mile oval track.

That left only Unser to chase Foyt, who had a lead of over 40 seconds at the time and coasted to victory at an average of 154.344 miles per hour in a race that saw the yellow caution flag out five times for a total of 31 laps. No crashes occurred, however.

Foyt, who won $90,112 for the victory, became the first driver to win all three of the 500-mile USAC races, coming on top of three Indy triumphs and one at Pocono, Pa.

Unser won $22,015 and was the only driver on the same lap with Foyt. Steve Krisiloff was three laps behind in third, followed by Lee Kunzman. John Martin was fifth, completing 193 laps. Only 11 of 33 starters were still running at the finish.

Track officials said before the race that they hoped to draw up to 100,000. However, paid attendance was reported at 51,218 after a week of cloudy skies and rain.

Nystrom Named Coach At NMU

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — Carl "Buck" Nystrom, captain and most valuable player on Michigan State's 1955 Big Ten and Rose Bowl championship football team, has been named offensive line coach at Northern Michigan University.

For the past few years, he has been operating a chain of men's clothing stores in Marquette.

Lee Trevino Paying Price

Hated Jogging Key To Citrus Victory

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — There's a price to victory in pro golf.

Lee Trevino knows it. And he'll pay it. But he doesn't have to like it.

"I hate it," Trevino said.

"Starting back in November, I quit my jogging and exercising. And I played terrible. Last week I started up again. Exercising, sit-ups and such like, and jogging two miles every day."

And he won the Citrus Open Sunday with a front-running, one-under-par 71 that turned back the upset bids of Hale Irwin and Ben Crenshaw.

"That's terrible," Trevino said. "I don't jog and I play bad. I do my jogging and I win. That means I've got to keep on jogging and I hate it."

There's a reason for it.

"I'm a leg-hitter," Trevino said. "I use my body and my legs to hit the ball, not my hands and arms. So I'm gonna play better if my legs are in shape. And it looks like I'm gonna have to keep jogging."

"Right to the nearest bar. That's all the running I'm gonna do today. You've got to give yourself one day off," he said.

The victory, Trevino's 18th official tour triumph in his storybook career, came in highly undramatic fashion. He started the final round in front. He stayed in front. He finished in front, with a 277 total, 121-under-par on the 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course.

Irwin, the U.S. Open champion who now has finished sixth or better in four consecutive starts, was one stroke back at 276 after a closing 68. Trevino led by at least two until Irwin cut the gap with a birdie on the 17th hole.

Crenshaw was another shot back at 71-278.

"If you give a player of Trevino's caliber the amount of room we did, he can dance with it," Irwin said.

Trevino started the final round with a two-shot advantage, birdied the first hole from five feet, bogeyed the third from a bunker, scrambled for a couple of holes—then hit the last 12 greens in regulation in a winning display of consistency. He birdied the 10th from 35 feet and parred the rest—just as he needed to do.

No one got closer than two shots until Irwin's magnificent wedge shot stopped only six inches from the cup for a birdie on the 17th.

Former Masters champion Charles Coody claimed fourth with a 71-279. The group at 281 included Australian Bruce Devlin, Forrest Fezler and Rik Massengale. Fezler had a closing 67, Massengale 70 and Devlin matched par 72.

"They should have," Trevino said. "Maybe I'd have played better."

It could be UCLA for the 10th time in 12 years. Or it could be Indiana for the third time in 36...or North Carolina for the second time in 19...or Maryland for the first time ever.

Or it could be any one of 28 other teams.

Only one thing is certain now. When the National Collegiate Athletic Association crowns its new king on Monday night, March 31, it won't be the defending champion.

North Carolina State's Wolfpack, last year's champions after knocking off perennial champ UCLA 80-77 in double overtime in the semifinals and crunching Marquette 76-64 in the final, won't be in the NCAA tourney this time around.

In fact, they won't be anywhere—except wherever it is that young basketball players go when their season has ended. After failing to get an invitation to the 32-team NCAA extravaganza which begins Saturday, superstar David Thompson and the rest of the eighth-ranked Wolfpack turned down one from the National Invitation Tournament in New York's Madison Square Garden.

"Personally, I don't want to play another basketball game unless it's in the NCAA," said little guard Monte Towe, expressing the feelings of the downcast N.C. State squad after it lost 70-66 to 12-ranked North Carolina in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs, a result that sent the Tar Heels into a first-round game against New Mexico State.

But missing out in a conference championship or being an independent team overlooked by the NCAA doesn't necessarily mean going home empty handed. Along with the 16-team field in the NIT is the NCIT, the eight-team National Commissioners Invitational Tournament in Louisville.

And, like the NCAA, the NIT and NCIT won't have champions defending their titles. Purdue, winner of the NIT last year, is NCIT-bound this time around while Indiana, which won the NCIT a year ago when it was called the Collegiate Commissioners Association Tournament, is in the NCAA tourney now.

In major NCAA first-round matchups:

—UCLA's fourth-ranked Bruins, once again the Pacific-8 Conference champs following a 72-68 squeaker over Southern Cal, faces Michigan of the Big Ten and No. 15 Oregon State, runnerup in the Pac-8, goes against Ohio Valley Conference champ Middle Tennessee.

"That's wonderful, just wonderful!" Michigan Coach Johnny Orr said when told he'd be facing UCLA. He may not think so next Saturday, barring a major upset.

—Indiana's top-ranked Hoosiers, who wrapped up a perfect season in the Big Ten and everywhere else with a 94-79 rout of Michigan State, faces Texas-El Paso, runnerup in the Western Athletic Conference.

"It's been a long 29 games and I would have hated to have lost one of them," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, who's got to worry about five more—the games that lead to the NCAA championship showdown in San Diego.

—Maryland's second-ranked Terrapins, who finished first in the ACC during the regular season before N.C. State knocked them off in the playoffs, face 13th-ranked independent Creighton.

Marquette's fifth-ranked Warriors, another independent, play sixth-ranked Kentucky, which walloped Mississippi State 11880 and won a share of the Southeastern Conference title when seventh-ranked Alabama was upset 76-70 by Auburn.

Elsewhere in the NCAA opening-round play, it's Central Michigan playing Georgetown, La Salle against Syracuse, Furman facing Boston College, Texas A&M opposing Cincinnati, Notre Dame playing Kansas, Montana battling Utah State and Nevada-Las Vegas meeting San Diego State.

In New York, meanwhile, Lafayette, 22-4; Connecticut, 189; Pittsburgh, 17-10; Providence, 17-10, Memphis State, 206; St. Peter's, 15-11, and Manhattan, 13-11, were picked by the NIT to round out its field. The tournament begins next Saturday and ends March 23.

Picked earlier were Princeton, Oregon, Southern Illinois, South Carolina, Oral Roberts, Massachussetts, Holy Cross, St. John's and 14th-ranked Clemson, only team from The Associated Press Top Twenty in the field.

In the NCIT, which begins Thursday night and runs through Sunday, a pair of teams listed in The AP poll could head for a showdown.

Southern California's 1 th-ranked Trojans will be in one bracket while Arizona, No. 19 in the ratings, is in the other one.

In the opener, Arizona, 20-6 and third in the Western Athletic Conference, faces East Carolina, 19-8 and second in the Southern Conference. In Thursday night's second game, Drake, 16-10 and from the Missouri Valley Conference, plays Southern Cal, 18-7 and third in the Pac-8.

On Friday night, three more third-place teams and one runnerup take the floor. First it's Purdue, 16-10, which shared third in the Big Ten, against Missouri, 18-8 and third in the Big Eight, followed by Tennessee, 18-7, which shared third in the Southeastern Conference, against Bowling Green, 17-9, second in the Mid-American Conference.

Hoosiers To Meet UTEP, 'M' Opens Against UCLA

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indiana's powerful Hoosiers, having made shambles of the Big Ten basketball race, turn their talents toward the NCAA Tournament.

Undefeated and ranked No. 1, the Hoosiers will be favored to capture the coveted championship and, if things break right, there is a possibility of an all-Big Ten showdown.

Michigan, finishing second in the conference race after an 83-64 triumph over Ohio State last Saturday, also earned a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Indiana has been seeded in the Eastern half of the playoffs and opens next Saturday against Texas-El Paso. Michigan plays in the West and opens against UCLA. Indiana and Michigan cannot face each other unless both make it to the championship game.

The Big Ten has had only three NCAA champions. Indiana won it in 1940 and again in 1953. Ohio State captured the title in 1960.

Completing the first undefeated season in Indiana cage history, the Hoosiers rolled by Michigan State 94-79 Saturday. The Hoosiers finished 18-0 in the Big Ten and 29-0 overall as they stretched their victory string to 32 games including their three triumphs in winning the Conference Commissioners championship last season.

Purdue will have the opportunity of winning the Commissioners title this season. The Boilermakers, who won the NIT a year ago, were selected for the Commissioners Tournament after a surprisingly easy 100-72 victory over Minnesota. Although Purdue and Minnesota finished in a tie for third place with 11-7 records and Minnesota had an 18-10 overall record to Purdue's 16-10, the Boilermakers were extended the tournament bid. Iowa and Wisconsin also closed the regular season with victories. Iowa downed Illinois 73-70 and Wisconsin smashed Northwestern 94-70.

Purdue faces Missouri in its tournament opener at Louisville Friday night. Missouri finished third in the Big Eight and had an 18-8 overall record.

There was some indication that the Hoosiers are beginning to show the strain of being undefeated and ranked No. 1.

"It has been a long 29 games and I would have hated to have lost one of them," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight following Saturday night's victory over Michigan State. "Going undefeated is a rarity and to have an attempt at something like that is really great."

Steve Green and Quinn Buckner paced the Hoosier attack with 25 and 23 points respectively. Bill Glover topped MSU with 20 points and Terry Furlow, the Big Ten's new scoring champion, added 15.

"The outcome of the game was decided by brawn, not speed," said Michigan State Coach Gus Ganakas. "Indiana is aggressive and they force you to make mistakes. It's hard to control the tempo — they don't let you pass the ball much."

Indiana will be shooting for its third NCAA crown and the fourth in Big Ten history. The Hoosiers won it in 1940 and again in 1953. Ohio State won the title in 1960.

Michigan got 25 points from Steve Grote and 20 from C. J. Kupec in whipping the Buckeyes to clinch second place with a 12-6 record. Bill Andreas topped the Buckeyes with 19 points.

Purdue, scoring 61 points in a blitzing second half, had five players in double figures with Walter Jordan scoring 22. Mark Olberding was high for the Gophers with 17.

"Three things happened in that second half," said Purdue Coach Fred Schaus. "We got our hands on a lot of balls, they missed some shots and we were rebounding and running well."

Coach Bill Musselman of Minnesota said "We played their game in the second half. We forgot how we got this far."

Bruce McCauley scored 25 points and senior Bob Luchsinger added 21 in Wisconsin's rout of Northwestern. Willie Williams topped the Wildcats with 24 points.

Illinois went cold in the closing minutes and Iowa scored the game's last seven points as the Hawkeyes upped their record to 7-11 to finish seventh. Illinois dropped into a last place tie with Northwestern-both finishing with 4-14 records.

Rick Schmidt with 29 points and Nate Williams with 20 made up most of Illinois' attack. Fred Haberecht topped the Hawkeyes with 19.

Foyt Takes Opener, Building Faster Car

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — After completly dominating the California 500 to open the U.S. Auto Club's 1975 championship season, A.J. Foyt has some demoralizing news for his competition—he's building a faster car.

Foyt, four miles an hour faster than anyone else in qualiufying, led the race nearly at will Sunday and was almost a full lap in front of his closest competition, 1974 USAC and California 500 champion Bobby Unser, when the checkered flag fell.

Later Foyt let slip that he had another car under construction at his Houston shop that he thinks will be much better than the winning Coyote-Foyt.

"I think I've got one that's gonna be a lot quicker at Indianapolis," drawled Foyt, 40, who has won 49 USAC championship events, more than anyone else ever.

Foyt said his reddish-orange car that led all but 12 of the 200 laps of the California 500 would be demoted to a backup role at Indianapolis.

What's so special about the new machine?

"Well," answered Foyt, "it's just a new car. That's all."

The only cars that were able to keep Foyt in sight were the Eagle-Offy of Unser, Johnny Rutherford's McLaren-Offy and the team of Wally Dallenbach and Gordon Johncock.

Rutherford, who led two laps, lost his engine while ahead on the 86th lap.

Johncock was in fourth place right behind Dallenbach when the engine in his Wildcat-Offy overheated 51 laps from the finish. Then the power plant in the Eagle Offy of Dallenbach, the 1973 Calfornia 500 winner, melted the piston when he was trying to get past Unser into second with 11 laps to go in the wide 2.5-mile oval track.

That left only Unser to chase Foyt, who had a lead of over 40 seconds at the time and coasted to victory at an average of 154.344 miles per hour in a race that saw the yellow caution flag out five times for a total of 31 laps. No crashes occurred, however.

Foyt, who won $90,112 for the victory, became the first driver to win all three of the 500-mile USAC races, coming on top of three Indy triumphs and one at Pocono, Pa.

Unser won $22,015 and was the only driver on the same lap with Foyt. Steve Krisiloff was three laps behind in third, followed by Lee Kunzman. John Martin was fifth, completing 193 laps. Only 11 of 33 starters were still running at the finish.

Track officials said before the race that they hoped to draw up to 100,000. However, paid attendance was reported at 51,218 after a week of cloudy skies and rain.

Nystrom Named Coach At NMU

MARQUETTE, Mich. (AP) — Carl "Buck" Nystrom, captain and most valuable player on Michigan State's 1955 Big Ten and Rose Bowl championship football team, has been named offensive line coach at Northern Michigan University.

For the past few years, he has been operating a chain of men's clothing stores in Marquette.

Lee Trevino Paying Price

Hated Jogging Key To Citrus Victory

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — There's a price to victory in pro golf.

Lee Trevino knows it. And he'll pay it. But he doesn't have to like it.

"I hate it," Trevino said.

"Starting back in November, I quit my jogging and exercising. And I played terrible. Last week I started up again. Exercising, sit-ups and such like, and jogging two miles every day."

And he won the Citrus Open Sunday with a front-running, one-under-par 71 that turned back the upset bids of Hale Irwin and Ben Crenshaw.

"That's terrible," Trevino said. "I don't jog and I play bad. I do my jogging and I win. That means I've got to keep on jogging and I hate it."

There's a reason for it.

"I'm a leg-hitter," Trevino said. "I use my body and my legs to hit the ball, not my hands and arms. So I'm gonna play better if my legs are in shape. And it looks like I'm gonna have to keep jogging."

"Right to the nearest bar. That's all the running I'm gonna do today. You've got to give yourself one day off," he said.

The victory, Trevino's 18th official tour triumph in his storybook career, came in highly undramatic fashion. He started the final round in front. He stayed in front. He finished in front, with a 277 total, 121-under-par on the 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course.

Irwin, the U.S. Open champion who now has finished sixth or better in four consecutive starts, was one stroke back at 276 after a closing 68. Trevino led by at least two until Irwin cut the gap with a birdie on the 17th hole.

Crenshaw was another shot back at 71-278.

"If you give a player of Trevino's caliber the amount of room we did, he can dance with it," Irwin said.

Trevino started the final round with a two-shot advantage, birdied the first hole from five feet, bogeyed the third from a bunker, scrambled for a couple of holes—then hit the last 12 greens in regulation in a winning display of consistency. He birdied the 10th from 35 feet and parred the rest—just as he needed to do.

No one got closer than two shots until Irwin's magnificent wedge shot stopped only six inches from the cup for a birdie on the 17th.

Former Masters champion Charles Coody claimed fourth with a 71-279. The group at 281 included Australian Bruce Devlin, Forrest Fezler and Rik Massengale. Fezler had a closing 67, Massengale 70 and Devlin matched par 72.

"They should have," Trevino said. "Maybe I'd have played better."

Only 12 Top Ten Teams Among Final 32

Many Surprises In Quarterfinals

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

So you think Cinderella had problems?

Listen, if old Cindy had to cart around all the unranked basketball teams that will go into the Michigan High School quarterfinals Thursday, she'd have to call rent-a-pumpkin.

Of the 32 teams who captured regional crowns over the weekend, only 12 were ranked in the Top 10 of their class in the final Associated Press poll when the regular season ended.

There are surprises in virtually every class. Also a few Prince Charmings.

Class A

The most charming basketball prince on the entire schoolboy scene at this moment has to be Berkley's Bruce Flowers. The 6-foot-8 All-Stater left a sick bed Friday to lead second-ranked Berkley to a 63-50 regional victory over Detroit Kettering. For his next dragon-slaying act he gets to try No. 6 Highland Park before an expected 10,000 fans in University of Detroit's Memorial Building.

The only other ranked team in Class A is No. 4 Lansing Everett. The rest of the field is full of sleepers, like Plymouth Salem which checks in at 22-2. And a few flat-out dreamers, like Pontiac Central. The Chiefs enter the quarterfinals with 10 defeats on their record.

Class B

Unheralded Ecorse laid waste to the top two teams in Class B, but No. 3 Jackson Lumen Christi sent Ecorse packing with a convincing victory in the regional finals. Still, there are a few good teams left and nobody can be considered a favorite. Yet.

Fourth-ranked Wyoming Godwin Heights and No. 5 Albion both are alive. But they meet in the quarterfinals, so one must go.

The rest are unranked. Worth watching, however, are Detroit Lutheran West, sporting a 24-1 record, and Lake Odessa Lakewood, also 24-1. Ironwood is alive and kicking with a 21-2 record.

Class C

Finally. Here's one class Cinderalla can count on.

Nobody has laid a glove on defending state champ Bay City All-Saints, and it appears that nobody will. The No. 1 Cougars take their frenzied band of about 3,000 loyal rooters everywhere they go, so every game's a "home" game. How are you going to beat that?

Third-ranked White Cloud, with its perfect 23-0 record, gets a chance to answer that question Thursday. Others who would like a shot at All Saints include No. 5 Benzonia and No 7 Cassopolis.

Unheralded clubs going to the quarterfinals include the likes of Muskegon Christian with six defeats in 25 starts and East Jackson with seven defeats in 24 games.

Class D

There are so many strange faces in Class D they could hold a "mixer" instead of a basketball tournament. Only top-ranked Detroit East Catholic and No. 10 Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart made it to the quarterfinals.

A pair of Class D teams, Waterford Our Lady and Allendale, have seven and eight defeats respectively. But, still, there could be a couple of sleepers here. Like Crystal Falls Forest Park, 22-3, or tournament-wise Harbor Springs, 21-3.

Fourth By Pompey Tops Area Matmen

Chief Ace Finishes At 33-3-1

Dowagiac's Randy Pompey (155) took fourth at the Class B event as the area failed to produce a state champ for the first time in three years.

Southwestern Michigan sent 13 athletes into the three tournaments — eight were unable to win a bout and were bounced out of competition with two losses each.

Pompey had three wins and a pair of losses to finish the season with a very creditable 33-3-1 record — tops among area matmen.

"This was the worst showing by Southwestern Michigan area wrestlings that I can remember," said Lakeshore coach Brurce Bittenbender, six years with the Lancer program.

"There are more schools getting through with less kids," said the coach. "The tournament is much more balanced than before...there's more talent around and better coaching."

At the Class C meet in Middleville, only two of the six area entries managed at least one victory.

"He wrestled well," said his coach Tim McCoy. "Two wins at this level is quite an achievement."

Decatur 167 pounder Brent Robinson logged a victory at the tourney, while Eau Claire's Taylor Lanier lost in two-appearances to wrestlers who both placed last winter.

"Competition is so stiff at the state meet now," said Beaver coach Paul Bergan, "that it's honor just to make it this far."

Lanier lost his bouts 9-7 and 4-1. An illustration of the caliber of wrestling at this level can be seen when an athlete like Bob Gross of Constantine never placed after taking a 33-0 record into the event.

"But you've got to remember schools in this part of the state have only had programs for several years," said Bergan, "while some other areas in Michigan have had programs for decades."

Crack Top 10

Two bowlers broke into the top ten singles standings at the state Knights of Colombus tournament being held at Blossom Lanes.

No changes were made in the doubles standings.

In team events, Barnosky Oil of Wyandotte took over seventh with a 3099 series. Overall scoring this year has been higher than in previous seasons.

Birmingham Groves State Swim Champ

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Birmingham Groves and aptly named Riverview, sparked by water wizards Gary Bice and Jeff Trylch, have splashed to Class A and B titles in the state high school swimming championships.

In East Lansing, Bice won the 100-yard backstroke and contributed in the 400-yard freestyle relay victory as Groves swamped its Class A opposition. Groves had 204 points to only 130 for Dearborn and just 93 for Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Dave Wright won in diving and the medley relay team won its event to lengthen the lopsided margin.

The suburban Detroit school qualified 14 individuals and two relay teams for the finals, while Dearborn landed seven individuals and one relay team in the lineup for the final showdown.

St. Joseph tied for 14th place with 16 points as sophomore John Worthington finished sixth in the 100-yard butterfly.

Worthington set a St. Joe varsity record with a time of 54.50 seconds and Rick Kinney lowered his own school breaststroke record to 1:03.912 while placing seventh.

Dan Stephenson, of Ann Arbor Pioneer, who won the 500-yard freestyle in a Class A record 4:36.73, and the 200-yard freestyle in a record 1:41.34, unofficially broke the national prep record in the 100-yard freestyle. He turned in a 44.98 in the anchor leg of the freestyle, betspring the 45.00 mark held by Joe Bottom of Santa Clara, Calif.

Dave Kalcher, Grand Blanc, won the 50-yard freestyle in a record 21.31 and the 100-yard freestyle in 46.79. Martin Szabo of Dearborn turned in a record 56.82 in the 100-yard butterfly and also won the 200-yard individual medley.

Trylch's pace-setting Class B performance came in the 100-yard breaststroke as he set a meet record. When the 200-yard medley relay came around he was in on another record as Riverview swam to its class crown, piling up 149 points while East Grand Rapids got 138 and Okemos managed 136.

Riverview broke its own record, set in Friday's preliminaries, with a 1:42.60 clocking in the medley relay.

Trylch bettered his state record in the 100-yard breaststroke, chopping the 1975 mark by five one-hundredths of a second, to 1:02.31.

Only 12 Top Ten Teams Among Final 32

Many Surprises In Quarterfinals

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

So you think Cinderella had problems?

Listen, if old Cindy had to cart around all the unranked basketball teams that will go into the Michigan High School quarterfinals Thursday, she'd have to call rent-a-pumpkin.

Of the 32 teams who captured regional crowns over the weekend, only 12 were ranked in the Top 10 of their class in the final Associated Press poll when the regular season ended.

There are surprises in virtually every class. Also a few Prince Charmings.

Class A

The most charming basketball prince on the entire schoolboy scene at this moment has to be Berkley's Bruce Flowers. The 6-foot-8 All-Stater left a sick bed Friday to lead second-ranked Berkley to a 63-50 regional victory over Detroit Kettering. For his next dragon-slaying act he gets to try No. 6 Highland Park before an expected 10,000 fans in University of Detroit's Memorial Building.

The only other ranked team in Class A is No. 4 Lansing Everett. The rest of the field is full of sleepers, like Plymouth Salem which checks in at 22-2. And a few flat-out dreamers, like Pontiac Central. The Chiefs enter the quarterfinals with 10 defeats on their record.

Class B

Unhearalded Ecorse laid waste to the top two teams in Class B, but No. 3 Jackson Lumen Christi sent Ecorse packing with a convincing victory in the regional finals. Still, there are a few good teams left and nobody can be considered a favorite. Yet.

Fourth-ranked Wyoming Godwin Heights and No. 5 Albion both are alive. But they meet in the quarterfinals, so one must go.

The rest are unranked. Worth watching, however, are Detroit Lutheran West, sporting a 24-1 record, and Lake Odessa Lakewood, also 24-1. Ironwood is alive and kicking with a 21-2 record.

Class C

Finally. Here's one class Cinderalla can count on.

Nobody has laid a glove on defending state champ Bay City All-Saints, and it appears that nobody will. The No. 1 Cougars take their frenzied band of about 3,000 loyal rooters everywhere they go, so every game's a "home" game. How are you going to beat that?

Third-ranked White Cloud, with its perfect 23-0 record, gets a chance to answer that question Thursday. Others who would like a shot at All Saints include No. 5 Benzonia and No 7 Cassopolis.

Unheralded clubs going to the quarterfinals include the likes of Muskegon Christian with six defeats in 25 starts and East Jackson with seven defeats in 24 games.

Class D

There are so many strange faces in Class D they could hold a "mixer" instead of a basketball tournament. Only top-ranked Detroit East Catholic and No. 10 Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart made it to the quarterfinals.

A pair of Class D teams, Waterford Our Lady and Allendale, have seven and eight defeats respectively. But, still, there could be a couple of sleepers here. Like Crystal Falls Forest Park, 22-3, or tournament-wise Harbor Springs, 21-3.

Fourth By Pompey Tops Area Matmen

Chief Ace Finishes At 33-3-1

Dowagiac's Randy Pompey (155) took fourth at the Class B event as the area failed to produce a state champ for the first time in three years.

Southwestern Michigan sent 13 athletes into the three tournaments — eight were unable to win a bout and were bounced out of competition with two losses each.

Pompey had three wins and a pair of losses to finish the season with a very creditable 33-3-1 record — tops among area matmen.

"This was the worst showing by Southwestern Michigan area wrestlings that I can remember," said Lakeshore coach Brurce Bittenbender, six years with the Lancer program.

"There are more schools getting through with less kids," said the coach. "The tournament is much more balanced than before...there's more talent around and better coaching."

At the Class C meet in Middleville, only two of the six area entries managed at least one victory.

"He wrestled well," said his coach Tim McCoy. "Two wins at this level is quite an achievement."

Decatur 167 pounder Brent Robinson logged a victory at the tourney, while Eau Claire's Taylor Lanier lost in two-appearances to wrestlers who both placed last winter.

"Competition is so stiff at the state meet now," said Beaver coach Paul Bergan, " that it's honor just to make it this far."

Lanier lost his bouts 9-7 and 4-1. An illustration of the caliber of wrestling at this level can be seen when an athlete like Bob Gross of Constantine never placed after taking a 33-0 record into the event.

"But you've got to remember schools in this part of the state have only had programs for several years," said Bergan, "while some other areas in Michigan have had programs for decades."

Crack Top 10

Two bowlers broke into the top ten singles standings at the state Knights of Colombus tournament being held at Blossom Lanes.

No changes were made in the doubles standings.

In team events, Barnosky Oil of Wyandotte took over seventh with a 3099 series. Overall scoring this year has been higher than in previous seasons.

Hunt Honored

Former Benton Harbor and Lake Michigan College standout John Hunt has been named to the all-NAIA District 21 basketball team. Hunt is averaging about 18 points a game for Earlham College in Richmond, Ind.

Birmingham Groves State Swim Champ

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Birmingham Groves and aptly named Riverview, sparked by water wizards Gary Bice and Jeff Trylch, have splashed to Class A and B titles in the state high school swimming championships.

In East Lansing, Bice won the 100-yard backstroke and contributed in the 400-yard freestyle relay victory as Groves swamped its Class A opposition. Groves had 204 points to only 130 for Dearborn and just 93 for Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Dave Wright won in diving and the medley relay team won its event to lengthen the lopsided margin.

The suburban Detroit school qualified 14 individuals and two relay teams for the finals, while Dearborn landed seven individuals and one relay team in the lineup for the final showdown.

St. Joseph tied for 14th place with 16 points as sophomore John Worthington finished sixth in the 100-yard butterfly.

Worthington set a St. Joe varsity record with a time of 54.50 seconds and Rick Kinney lowered his own school breaststroke record to 1:03.912 while placing seventh.

Dan Stephenson, of Ann Arbor Pioneer, who won the 500-yard freestyle in a Class A record 4:38.73, and the 200-yard freestyle in a record 1:41.34, unofficially broke the national prep record in the 100-yard freestyle. He turned in a 44.98 in the anchor leg of the freestyle, bettering the 45.60 mark held by Joe Bottom of Santa Clara, Calif.

Dave Kulchar, Grand Blanc, won the 50-yard freestyle in a record 21.33 and the 100-yard freestyle in 46.79. Martin Szuba of Dearborn turned in a record 51.92 in the 100-yard butterfly and also won the 200-yard individual medley.

Trylch's pace-setting Class B performance came in the 100-yard breaststroke as he set a meet record. When the 200-yard medley relay came around he was in on another record as Riverview swam to its class crown, piling up 149 points while East Grand Rapids got 138 and Okemos managed 136.

Riverview broke its own record, set in Friday's preliminaries, with a 1:42.60 clocking in the medley relay.

Trylch bettered his state record in the 100-yard breaststroke, chopping the 1975 mark by five one-hundredths of a second, to 1:02.31.

Stanley Starter Unless Kid Steals Job

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Stanley will be a starting outfielder for the Detroit Tigers this baseball season, manager Ralph Houk says, unless one of the three top young prospects steals the job from him.

Stanley, however, doesn't sound that optimistic about his chances of being a regular — not with Ron LeFlore, Dan Meyer and Leon Roberts around.

He played rightfield Sunday in the Tigers' 5-0 exhibition loss to the Minnesota Twins. Willie Horton still is recovering from knee surgery and was Detroit's designated hitter, while rookie Meyer played in Horton's usual leftfield spot.

LeFlore was in center while rookie Roberts, who started the first two exhibitions in right, didn't play.

"There's a pretty good scramble in the outfield. Let it take care of itself," Houk said.

When pressed about Stanley's status, Houk said: "Someone is going to have to take his job. You don't take a Stanley and say he has to win a job. You'd have to have three young players do better than him before he would be out of a job. And if they did better, we'd use them. That would be a pretty good outfield."

Stanley, not quite a 10-year veteran with Detroit and therefore subject to trade without his permission, said "there's a chance" he could be a starter "otherwise there's no sense keeping me around."

However, "I feel like an outsider looking in. I'm struggling to stay here," he said.

"Maybe I do have the inside track. I don't know. They haven't told me. I'd like to think I have it because of my defense and experience."

Stanley said Sunday his new position felt "a little strange, a little different. It will take awhile to get used to."

Longer throws, more trouble with the sun and not seeing the ball as well off the bat are problems he must face in right, he said.

"I have to have a good spring to be a starter. I'm going to have to play well down here, that's what it amounts to."

Ray Corbin and Bill Campbell split the final six for Minnesota, Campbell striking out seven although Detroit managed singles off him by Meyer and catcher Terry Humphrey in the ninth.

Mickey Lolich got his first start and was tagged for three runs on four hits in the second inning, while rookies Vern Ruhle and Fred Holdsworth gave up a run each in the fifth and ninth.

SCREAM OF JOY: Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia screams with joy after beating favored Evonne Goolagong of Australia 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 Sunday in Boston to win $75,000 U.S. Women's Inoor Tennis Championship. (AP Wirephoto)

Luce, Sheppard Best Shorthanded

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo's Don Luce and Boston's Gregg Sheppard were at their best with their teams shorthanded Sunday night. The only difference was that Sheppard didn't have to worry about a goalie.

While Sheppard scored two shorthanded goals into an empty Atlanta net in the final minute to seal the Bruins' 5-2 victory over the Flames Sunday night, Luce tied a National Hockey League record with his eighth shorthanded goal of the season as the Sabres trimmed the Pittsburgh Penguins 8-4.

Bobby Orr broke his own record for goals by a defenseman with his 38th of the season in the Bruins' triumph over Atlanta, their sixth straight victory. Orr also assisted on three other goals and took a three-point lead over teammate Phil Esposito in the NHL scoring race.

Carol Vadnais and Ken Hodge also scored for Boston before Sheppard got two shorthanded goals into the empty net in the final minute.

Luce's shorthanded goal tied the NHL mark set by Toronto's Dave Keon. It came in the third period exactly one minute after a penalty to Buffalo's Jocelyn Guevremont and came when Luce blocked a Pittsburgh pass in his own end, fed Craig Ramsay, then took a return pass and beat goalie Michel Plasse from 20 feet out.

That made it 7-3 and Luce scored again, his 31st of the season, with 3½ minutes left in the game after Jean Pronovost scored his 42nd goal and second of the game for the Penguins.

Elsewhere, the Montreal Canadiens downed the New York Rangers 5-3, the California Seals topped the New York Islanders 4-2, the Philadelphia Flyers outlasted the Detroit Red Wings 8-5, the St. Louis Blues edged the Minnesota North Stars 5-4 and the Toronto Maple Leafs turned back the Washington Capitals 4-2.

Montreal's Pete Mahovlich scored two goals and added three assists to reach the 100-point plateau.

Larry Patey scored three times as California kept the third-place Islanders four points behind the Rangers in Division 1.

Hubby Bench Makes Debut

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Isn't he cute," marveled newlywed Vickie Chesser Bench. "I love the way he puts his cap on backwards."

With his cap on backwards, hubby Johnny Bench caught five innings in his spring baseball debut for Cincinnati Sunday and only signaled for one bad pitch. Don Gullett threw it in the fifth inning and Pittsburgh's Willie Randolph slammed it for a two-run homer that started the Pirates to a 7-1 exhibition victory over the Reds.

With his cap on straight, Bench grounded into a forceout and lined to third, giving him an average of .000 in the Grapefruit League and 1.000 in the matrimonial league.

Vickie, a former New York model, threw a two-handed kiss to Johnny when he was introduced to the crowd before the game. And Bench repeatedly looked in her direction during the contest.

"I saw Johnny practice hitting one day, but this is the first time I've ever seen him in a real game," said Vickie. "This is the biggest thrill I've ever had."

Following Randolph's homer, the Pirates tagged 19-game winner Jack Billingham for three runs in the sixth inning on singles by Al Oliver, Bill Flowers and Dave Parker and a two-run double by Duffy Dyer.

Wayne Simpson, an ex-Red pitcher trying to make a comeback with Pittsburgh after arm miseries, hurled three innings of one-hit ball, striking out four and walking one.

In other exhibition games, two major league teams suffered embarrassing setbacks at the hands of foreign clubs. Japan's Chunichi Dragons whipped another band of Pirates 9-2 while the Mexico City Tigers trounced a split squad of Texas Rangers 8-2. The rest of the Rangers battered the Atlanta Braves' 'B' squad 12-4 while the main group of Braves bowed to the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2.

Elsewhere, the New York Yankees edged the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 in 10 innings, the Boston Red Sox crushed the Chicago White Sox 8-0, the New York Mets nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4, the Minnesota Twins blanked the Detroit Tigers 5-0, the Philadelphia Phillies outslugged the Kansas City Royals 13-6 and the Houston Astros shaded the Montreal Expos 7-5.

Hiroaki Inoue drove in four runs with a single and homer as the Nagoya Chunichi Dragons trounced the Pirates 9-2. Inoue's two-run single came in the top of the seventh, when the Dragons broke open a scoreless contest with seven runs off Ramon Hernandez after Dave Giusti and rookie John Candelaria pitched six shutout innings. His homer capped the scoring in the ninth.

Alfredo Meza scattered six hits in pitching the Mexico City Tigers over the Rangers. Meza baffled the major leaguers with his assortment of knuckleballs. He struck out seven and didn't issue a walk.

The Tigers got one run off Clyde Wright, two off Steve Hargan and shelled Steve Foucault with a six-hit, five-run attack in the seventh.

Cesar Tovar, who reported to camp a week late, homered in his first at-bat of the spring to spark the rest of the Rangers over the Braves' 'B' team.

Steve Garvey, the National League's Most Valuable Player, singled in the winning run in the last of the ninth inning as Los Angeles to defeat the Atlanta 'A' squad.

Graig Nettles' sacrifice fly in the 10th inning gave the Yankees their victory over Baltimore. Alex Johnson opened the 10th with a single off rookie Doug Wessel and advanced to third on a wild pitch and a groundout before Nettles came through.

Jim Palmer, bothered by a sore elbow most of 1974, pitched the first three innings for Baltimore, giving up three hits and a run, all in the first inning.

Home runs by Dwight Evans and Fred Lynn powered the Red Sox over the White Sox behind the seven-hit pitching of Dick Pole, Rick Kruger and Lance Clemons.

Dave Kingman and John Milner homered and Jorge Roque slashed a two-run single, helping the Mets defeat the Cardinals. Ron Fairly of the Cards hit a three-run homer off Randy Sterling in the ninth.

Joe Decker, Ray Corbin and Bill Campbell teamed for a three-hitter to lead Minnesota over Detroit. Bill Freehan's second-inning single off Decker was the only Tiger hit until a pair of singles off Campbell in the ninth.

Two-run doubles by Don Hahn, Tommy Hutton and Jerry Martin keyed a pair of five-run innings as the Phillies swatted Kansas City.

Capitols' Streak Ended By 76ers

Turnabout is just fine as far as the Philadelphia 76ers and Doug Collins are concerned.

Beaten by 21 points in Philadelphia by the Washington Bullets Saturday night, the 76ers invaded the Capital Center in Landover, Md., Sunday and came away with a 113-100 triumph, with Collins hitting a career-high 39 points. That snapped Washington's eight-game winning streak and it's club-record string of 22 consecutive home victories.

"Last night the Bullets took everything away from us," said 76ers Coach Gene Shue, "but this was a complete reversal. Today we just got going, and the ball kept going in for us."

It particularly kept going in for Philadelphia's starting backcourtmen, Collins and Fred Carter, who combined for 69 points.

Collins, Philadelphia's No. 1 draft choice two years ago, scored just seven points Saturday night. But Sunday he sank 13 of 17 field goal attempts — including 11 in a row — and made 13 of 14 free throws.

The loss snapped an eight-game Washington winning streak and preserved the National Basketball Association homecourt winning streak record of 29, set by Minneapolis in 1949-50.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Golden State Warriors edged the Boston Celtics 102-101, the New Orleans Jazz defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers 90-86, the Detroit Pistons beat the Kansas City-Omaha Kings 106-99 and Los Angeles downed Houston 116-95.

Golden State fell behind by 16 points in the second period, then rallied to beat Boston. Rick Barry scored 31 points to lead the Warriors.

Stanley Starter Unless Kid Steals Job

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Stanley will be a starting outfielder for the Detroit Tigers this baseball season, manager Ralph Houk says, unless one of the three top young prospects steals the job from him.

Stanley, however, doesn't sound that optimistic about his chances of being a regular — not with Ron LeFlore, Dan Meyer and Leon Roberts around.

He played rightfield Sunday in the Tigers' 5-0 exhibition loss to the Minnesota Twins. Willie Horton still is recovering from knee surgery and was Detroit's designated hitter, while rookie Meyer played in Horton's usual leftfield spot.

LeFlore was in center while rookie Roberts, who started the first two exhibitions in right, didn't play.

"There's a pretty good scramble in the outfield. Let it take care of itself," Houk said.

When pressed about Stanley's status, Houk said: "Someone is going to have to take his job. You don't take a Stanley and say he has to win a job. You'd have to have three young players do better than him before he would be out of a job. And if they did better, we'd use them. That would be a pretty good outfield."

Stanley, not quite a 10-year veteran with Detroit and therefore subject to trade without his permission, said "there's a chance" he could be a starter "otherwise there's no sense keeping me around."

However, "I feel like an outsider looking in. I'm struggling to stay here," he said.

"Maybe I do have the inside track. I don't know. They haven't told me. I'd like to think I have it because of my defense and experience."

Stanley said Sunday his new position felt "a little strange, a little different. It will take awhile to get used to."

Longer throws, more trouble with the sun and not seeing the ball as well off the bat are problems he must face in right, he said.

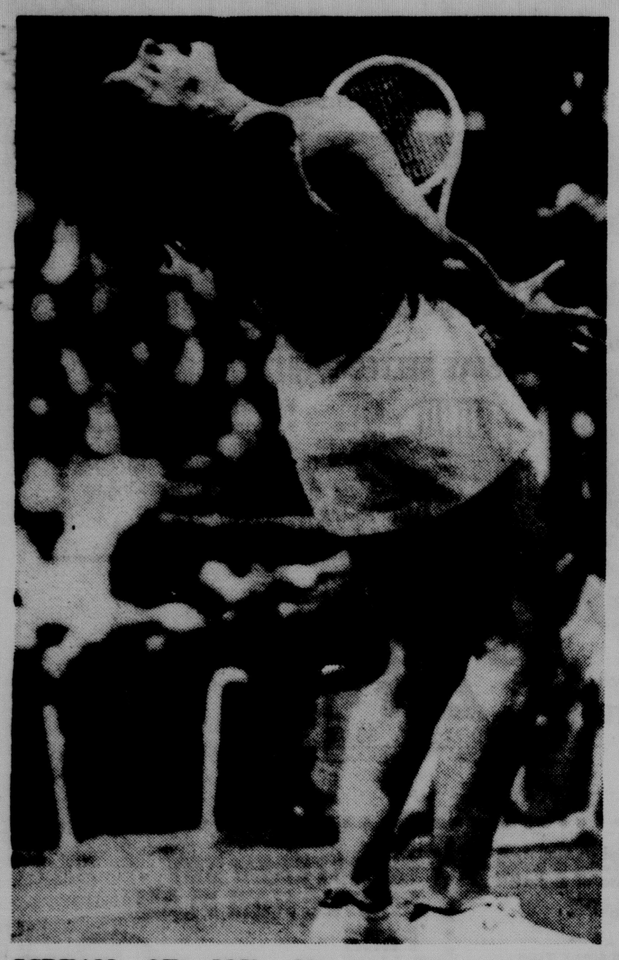

"I have to have a good spring to be a starter. I'm going to have to play well down here, that's what it amounts to."

Ray Corbin and Bill Campbell split the final six for Minnesota, Campbell striking out seven although Detroit managed singles off him by Meyer and catcher Terry Humphrey in the ninth.

Mickey Lolich got his first start and was tagged for three runs on four hits in the second inning, while rookies Vern Ruhle and Fred Holdsworth gave up a run each in the fifth and ninth.

Luce, Sheppard Best Shorthanded

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo's Don Luce and Boston's Gregg Sheppard were at their best with their teams shorthanded Sunday night. The only difference was that Sheppard didn't have to worry about a goalie.

While Sheppard scored two shorthanded goals into an empty Atlanta net in the final minute to seal the Bruins' 5-2 victory over the Flames Sunday night, Luce tied a National Hockey League record with his eighth shorthanded goal of the season as the Sabres trimmed the Pittsburgh Penguins 8-4.

Bobby Orr broke his own record for goals by a defenseman with his 38th of the season in the Bruins' triumph over Atlanta, their sixth straight victory. Orr also assisted on three other goals and took a three-point lead over teammate Phil Esposito in the NHL scoring race.

Carol Vadnais and Ken Hodge also scored for Boston before Sheppard got two shorthanded goals into the empty net in the final minute.

Luce's shorthanded goal tied the NHL mark set by Toronto's Dave Keon. It came in the third period exactly one minute after a penalty to Buffalo's Jocelyn Guevremont and came when Luce blocked a Pittsburgh pass in his own end, fed Craig Ramsay, then took a return pass and beat goalie Michel Plasse from 20 feet out.

Elsewhere, the Montreal Canadiens downed the New York Rangers 5-3, the California Seals topped the New York Islanders 4-2, the Philadelphia Flyers outlasted the Detroit Red Wings 8-5, the St. Louis Blues edged the Minnesota North Stars 5-4 and the Toronto Maple Leafs turned back the Washington Capitals 4-2.

Champ Central In First NCAA Tourney

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The game went into overtime so Coach Dick Parfitt of Central Michigan's Mid-American Conference basketball champions figured to win.

"We expected to win if it was close. We've been making the big shots all year," said Parfitt after the Chippewas' 82-80 overtime decision Saturday at Bowling Green.

That earned Central Michigan, the undisputed MAC titleholder and 20-5 for all games, its first NCAA Division I basketball tournament berth. The Chippewas will meet Georgetown in a first-round Mideast regional game Saturday at the University of Alabama. Earlier this year, CMU won the NCAA Division II football crown.

Bowling Green received a bid to the National Commissioners Invitational Tournament in Louisville, Ky. The Falcons setback dropped them into a second-place tie with Toledo, a surprise 85-68 home loser to Western Michigan. Both finished 9-5 in the conference, and it was the WMU victory that saved the NCAA bid for sister college CMU. Had Toledo won too, it would have gotten the tourney bid, having stopped Central Michigan twice in season play.

In other conference finales, Greg Olson's two free throws in the closing seconds gave Miami of Ohio an 81-80 victory over Ohio University and Ricky Gates' 20 points and seven steals led Kent State past Eastern Michigan 75-69.

"In the big games, Roundfield plays big," the Chippewas' coach said of the 6-foot-8 forward's 18 points, 19 rebounds and 8 blocked shots.

"We didn't play very well. We shot poorly. It's unfortunate Jeff Montgomery had to go out this way," said Bowling Green Coach Pat Haley.

Montgomery pumped in 32 points before leg cramps forced him to the sidelines with two minutes remaining in the overtime. "If there's a better guard," Haley said, "I haven't seen him."

Jeff Tyson's 26 points led Western Michigan's upset at Toledo, spoiling the Rockets' hopes of a cochampionship and the NCAA berth.

Randy Ayers' 25 points and 13 rebounds helped Miami master Ohio, paced by Walter Luckett's 33 points. The Redskins had the second best record in the MAC with a 19-7 overall mark.

Russian Skaters Dominate Event

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — After the Soviet Union's near-sweep of the 1975 World Figure Skating Championships, only one question remained: When would the Russians develop ladies' singles skaters to match their other gold-medal winners?

Irina Moiseeva and Andrei Minenkov, a pair of artistic skaters, captured the third of four possible gold medals Saturday night by winning the dance title.

Miss Moiseeva and Minenkov received marks of 5.9 out of a perfect 6.0 from all nine judges in the artistic impression category.

Miss O'Connor and Millns skated last in the program and knew they had to hold their first-place marks from five of the judges. But their effort fell short as the Canadian, Swiss and Hungarian judges all switched their preference to the Soviets.

It gave the Russian duo seven first-place marks and 13 total ordinals for 205.48 points. The Americans, with the remaining two first-place marks, received 19 ordinals and 205.12 points and settled for the silver medal. Britain's Hilary Green and Glyn Watts, who won the silver medal last year, took the bronze this time.

The only defending champions to successfully defend their titles were Irina Rodnina and Alexander Zaitsev of the Soviet Union, who won their third straight pairs' crown. Miss Rodnina now has been part of the winning pairs team for seven consecutive years.

Sergei Volkov, a steady, imperturbable Soviet skater who normally fades during freeskating events, held onto his margin to become the first Soviet skater ever to win the world men's title. Countryman Vladimir Kovalev was second, and Britain's John Curry took third. Gordon McKellen Jr. of Lake Placid, N.Y., was fifth and Terry Kubicka of Cypress, Calif., finished seventh.

The ladies' title was the lone gold medal escaping the Soviets. Diane deLeeuw, a 19year-old California girl who competes for The Netherlands, outclassed her competition with a strong showing in both the figures and free skating.

Dorothy Hamill, whose official residence is Riverside, Conn., but who has trained in Denver for the past three years, rallied with a brilliant performance in the final freeskating event to win a silver medal for the second straight year. Defending champion Christine Errath of East Germany won the bronze while Wendy Burge of Garden Grove, Calif., finished fourth and Kathy Malmberg of Rockford, Ill., was fifth.

Aquatics Club Tankers Romp In Final Dual

The St. Joseph Aquatics Club had five swimmers with fours firsts and two with three individual wins apiece while closing out its dual season with a 397-183 victory over South Haven Saturday in the St. Joseph high school pool.

Harvey Johnson and Blair Bowser were credited with four victories each in the 13-14 boys division. Johnson won the 200 individual medley (2:38.2) and the 200 freestyle (2:19.0) and joined Bowser on the winning 200 medley and freestyle relay teams. Bowser added individual wins in the 100 freestyle (58.8) and 100 breaststroke (1:15.4).

Kevin Brown and Mike Kolenda pulled off the same feat among 11-12 boys. Brown won the 100 individual medley (1:08.9) and 50-backstroke (32.7) and swam with Kolenda on the winning relay squads. Kolenda took the 50 butterfly (31.0) and 100 freestyle (59.8).

Also posting four wins was Peter Seng among 9-10 boys. He won the 100 individual medley (1:23.6), 100 freestyle (1:18.4) and was on two winning relay teams.

Mike Borre was one of the triple individual winners while winning the 200 individual medley (2:18.2), 100 breaststroke (1:09.6) and 100 backstroke (1:08.4) among 15-18 boys. The other was Mellisa Parks among eight and under girls in the 25 freestyle (19.2), 50 freestyle (45.5) and 25 breaststroke (29.7). Parks also had a relay first.

Sims Is Second In NJCAA Meet

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Carl Sims of Southwestern Michigan College placed second in the high jump at 6-8 and was named a second team All-American at the National Junior College Athletic Association indoor track championships here over the weekend.

The Roadrunners' two-mile relay team of Greg Lozeau, Dave Baltosser, Chad Curtis and John Hobson was fourth in 7:52.6 and John Roscoe also took fourth in the two-mile with a time of 9:04.6.

The only other SMC entrant to place was high jumper Bill Bradford, who took fifth behind Sims at 6-6.

MPT Wins Title

Tim Strunk popped in 21 points for Methodist Peace Temple which won the YMCA youth church league basketball championship Saturday.

The Temple downed Presbyterian 40-32 as Randh Paxson netted 20 for the runnerup squad.

Stevensville Methodist turned back St. Joseph Congregational 35-30 for third place. St. Joe's Rick Rogacki led all scorers with 20 points, while John Hou e had a dozen for the winners.

Champ Central In First NCAA Tourney

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We expected to win if it was close. We've been making the big shots all year," said Parfitt after the Chippewas' 82-80 overtime decision Saturday at Bowling Green.

That earned Central Michigan, the undisputed MAC titleholder and 20-5 for all games, its first NCAA Division I basketball tournament berth. The Chippewas will meet Georgetown in a first-round Mideast regional game Saturday at the University of Alabama. Earlier this year, CMU won the NCAA Division II football crown.

Bowling Green received a bid to the National Commissioners Invitational Tournament in Louisville, Ky. The Falcons setback dropped them into a second-place tie with Toledo, a surprise 85-68 home loser to Western Michigan. Both finished 9-5 in the conference, and it was the WMU victory that saved the NCAA bid for sister college CMU. Had Toledo won too, it would have gotten the tourney bid, having stopped Central Michigan twice in season play.

In other conference finales, Greg Olson's two free throws in the closing seconds gave Miami of Ohio an 81-80 victory over Ohio University and Ricky Gates' 20 points and seven steals led Kent State past Eastern Michigan 75-69.

"In the big games, Roundfield plays big," the Chippewas' coach said of the 6-foot-8 forward's 16 points, 19 rebounds and 8 blocked shots.

"We didn't play very well. We shot poorly. It's unfortunate Jeff Montgomery had to go out this way," said Bowling Green Coach Pat Haley.

Montgomery pumped in 32 points before leg cramps forced him to the sidelines with two minutes remaining in the overtime. "If there's a better guard," Haley said, "I haven't seen him."

Jeff Tyson's 26 points led Western Michigan's upset at Toledo, spoiling the Rockets' hopes of a cochampionship and the NCAA berth.

Randy Ayers' 25 points and 13 rebounds helped Miami master Ohio, paced by Walter Luckett's 33 points. The Redskins had the second best record in the MAC with a 19-7 overall mark.

Sims Is Second In NJCAA Meet

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Carl Sims of Southwestern Michigan College placed second in the high jump at 6-8 and was named a second team All-American at the National Junior College Athletic Association indoor track championships here over the weekend.

The Roadrunners' two-mile relay team of Greg Lozeau, Dave Baltosser, Chad Curtis and John Hobson was fourth in 7:52.6 and John Roscoe also took fourth in the two-mile with a time of 9:04.6.

MPT Wins Title

Tim Strunk popped in 21 points for Methodist Peace Temple which won the YMCA youth church league basketball championship Saturday.

The Temple downed ,Presbyterian 40-32 as Randh Paxson netted 20 for the runnerup squad.

Stevensville Methodist turned back St. Joseph Congregational 35-28 for third place. St. Joe's Rick Rogacki led all scorers with 20 points, while John Hou e had a dozen for the winners.

TO LOTTERY TICKET BUYERS:

Remember: There's a new way to win $1,000,000

1. Starting with tickets dated February 27, 1975 and thereafter, every 50¢ Green ticket has a 6-digit "Million Dollar" Number at the top of the ticket. If your ticket exactly matches the announced weekly Million Dollar Number, make a claim at a Lottery Claim Center, and you will be invited to the big drawing. That's all there is to it!

2. Effective with tickets dated February 27, 1975 matching one 3-digit box and winning $25 does not earn entry into the Million Dollar Drawing. You must match the 6-digit Million Dollar Number on your ticket. Every ticket is eligible for that week's drawing. $25 winning tickets can be redeemed for cash immediately at almost all lottery ticket agencies.

NOTE: Special provision has been made for winning $25 tickets dated through February 20, 1975. They will have the same chance as before at the Million Dollar prize. These tickets are good for one year from the drawing date printed on the ticket. Just claim and you are automatically in a special elimination drawing.

Tech Also In NCAA Ice Tourney

Gophers Seek Repeat Title

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The aggressive University of Minnesota hockey team shoots for its second straight national championship in a renewed bid to continue its takeover of the "Canadian pasttime" this week in St. Louis.

The Gopher skaters, who are all from the state of Minnesota, crushed Michigan 5-2 Sunday to gain a berth along with Michigan Tech, Boston University and Harvard in Thursday night's National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) semifinals. Mike Zuke and George Lyle scored two goals apiece for Tech, the WCHA runnerup to Minnesota, to pace a 9-4 rout of Michigan State in the other league playoff finale Sunday.

Minnesota defeated Tech, which has a strong Canadian representation on its team, for the NCAA title last year.

"We'll just have to prove it to everybody again," said Minnesota center Mike Polich. "We're even better than last year. More depth, more balance and this group's a lot more physical."

The Gophers, who carry the Western Collegiate Hockey Association championship and a 30-9-1 record to the NCAA finals, outshot Michigan 47-28 with sophomore Tom Vannelli scoring three goals. Vannelli's third goal was a shorthanded effort 1:52 into the final period and gave the Gophers a 5-1 lead.

"Michigan has been on the road a lot in the last few days," noted Vannelli. "They really looked tired and the Polich line loosened them up a lot. I've only scored two goals in a game once in college. . .three goals, that's really nice especially in a game like this."

Michigan Coach Danny Farrel noted, "We were dead tired and Minnesota was just too fast. They're so strong. If they play like this against Harvard Thursday they'll blow 'em off the ice."

Vannelli's first goal gave Minnesota 1-0 advantage in a first period, which required over an hour to play because of four fights and an injury to Michigan goalie Robbie Moore.

"Moore really held them in," said Polich. "We had an awful lot of good shots and he was keeping them out."

"Oh sure, Harvard may be quicker and Tech has a better goalie and shoots better maybe, but Minnesota does so much well. They're so strong. They just wear you out."

The two teams battled to a 3-3 tie Saturday in the two-game "most goals" series.

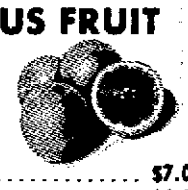

Lyle added three assists for Tech, which finished off Michigan State 15-8 in its two game set.

The Huskies jumped off to a 5-1 advantage after the first period and built it to 8-2 after two.

World Cup Team Misses Connors

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimmy Connors, a tennis name frequently in the spotlight and even more frequently involved in controversy, made his presence felt Sunday without even attending a tournament.

While the impish Connors has insisted he will avoid controversy in the future, his name came up after the World Cup Tennis event at Hartford, Conn.

He refused to represent the United States in World Cup play, just as he has in Davis Cup action. After Sunday's fourth straight United States loss to the Australians, however, the captains of both teams admitted that the absence of the world's top-ranked male player had weakened the Americans.

The afternoon began with Rod Laver, the 36-year-old lefthander, tripping Arthur Ashe 6-2, 7-6 to give the Aussies a 5-1 lead at the time. Laver had an easy time in the first set, then copped a 7-3 tiebreaker in the second in the nationally televised event.

In a doubles match which was the final event of the day, Ashe teamed with Dick Stockton to beat Australia's John Alexander and Ken Rosewall, 3-6, 6-3, 7-6.

The victory earned the Australians $35,000. The United States got $20,000.

"I think they would have had a better chance (with Connors)," said Laver. "But it's a team effort and Jimmy's not a team man."

The U.S. fell behind 1-0 in the opening match Thursday when Laver downed Stockton, 5-7, 6-4, 7-6. The Australians won another point on Friday when Newcombe beat Ashe, 6-7, 6-4, 6-2.

The first U.S. point came late Friday when Stan Smith defeated Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 7-6. On Saturday, Stockton beat Newcombe 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, to pull the U.S. into a 2-2 tie.

The Aussie doubles team of Newcombe and Laver defeated Smith and Bob Lutz 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 Saturday night and the defending champions went into Sunday's matches with a 3-2 lead.

At Shreveport, La., second-ranked Juan Gisbert of Barcelona, Spain, downed Poland's Wojtek Fibba, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, in the finals of the Shreveport International Tennis Tournament.

Gisbert landed his first service break of the duel in game five of the opening set after play was interrrupted for 30 minutes by a power failure. Down love-15 when the match was halted, Fibba lost service swiftly when the lights were turned on again.

INVEST IN A

AND EARN 9% ANNUAL INTEREST ON $1000 MINIMUM INVESTMENT

Right in the heart of Michigan, John Wesley College is building a unique, old English "Learning Village." The campus has been expanded to twice its original size; new and existing buildings have been dressed in the old English motif to provide a village-like atmosphere that encourages students and faculty to live together as a community of learners.

The "Learning Village" is only one reason why the student enrollment at John Wesley College has increased by 218 per cent over the past five years.

To help finance the development of the "Learning Village," John Wesley College has chosen not to insulate itself from investors by borrowing money from lending institutions, but rather go directly to the initial investor and pay him 9% annual interest.

Investors in John Wesley College can earn 9.3% interest on $1,000 minimum investment by leaving their interest in to compound quarterly; John Wesley investors are not penalized for withdrawing their investments in less than a year.

Most of all, investors can have the satisfaction of knowing that while their money is earning 9% annual interest, it is being used to help make a difference in the lives of hundreds of our nation's youth.

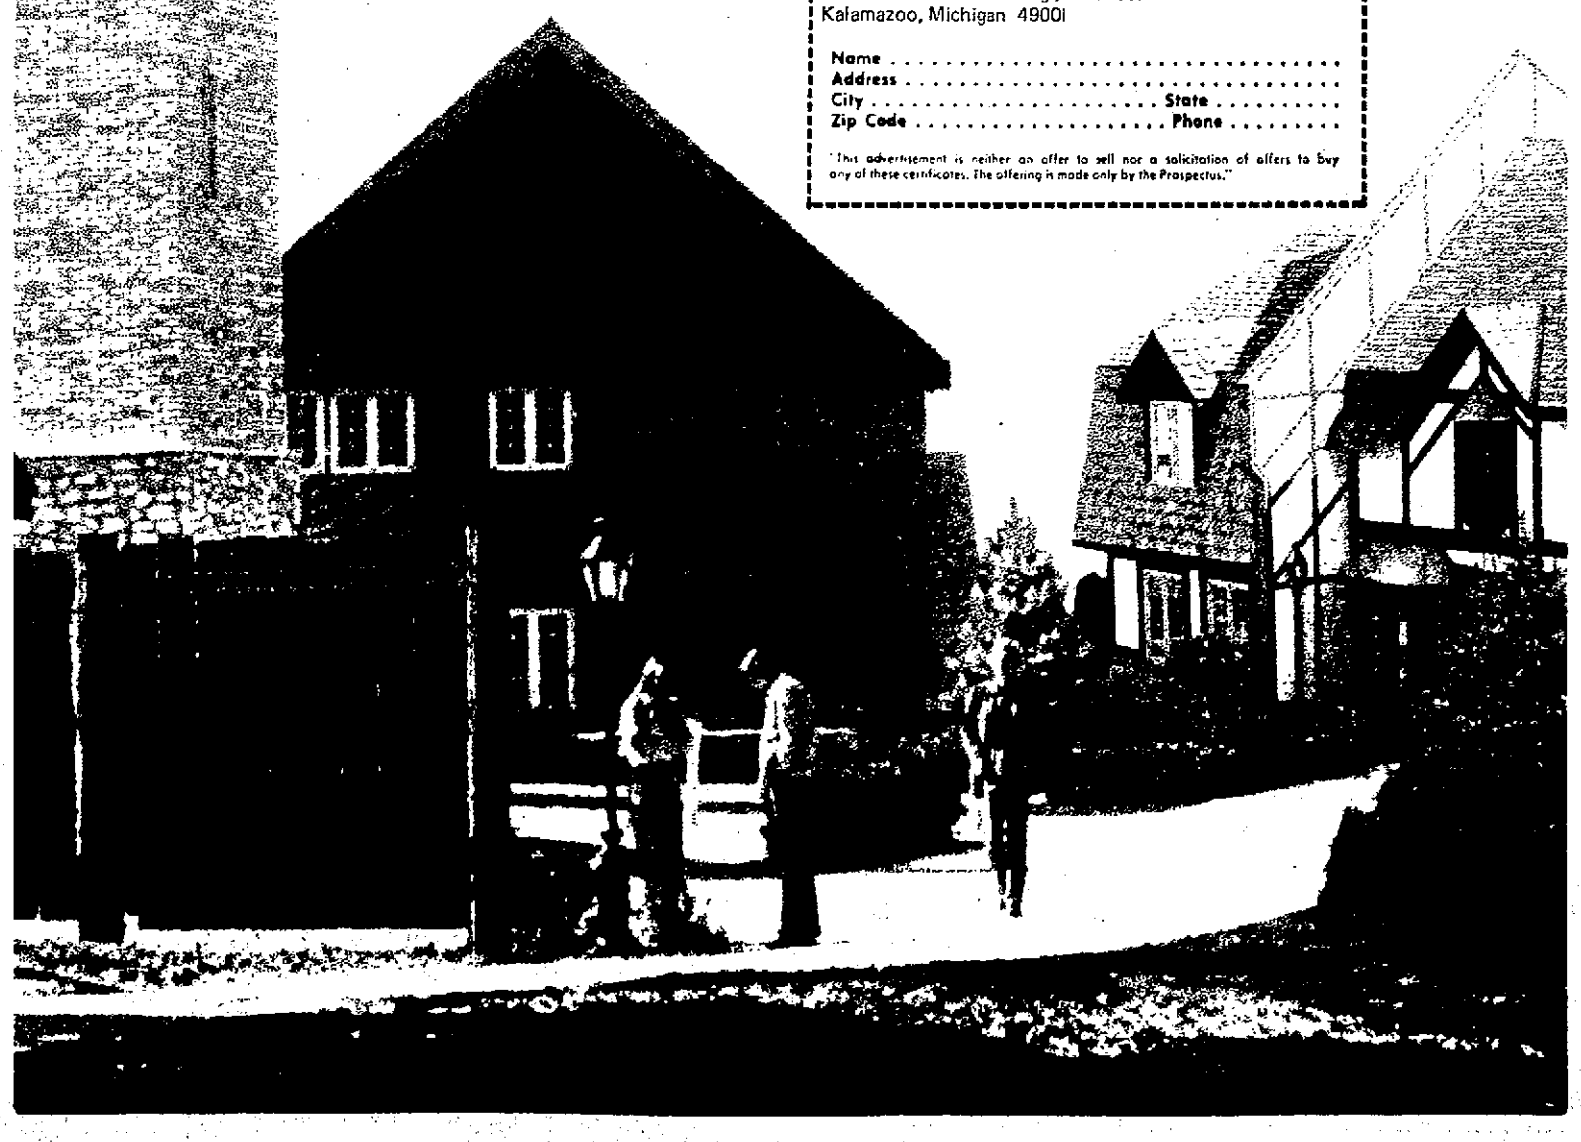

We're going to keep on growing. Invest in our "Learning Village" and let your dollars grow with us.

Nicklaus Raps 'Rip-Off' Duels

DETROIT (AP) — Golf pro Jack Nicklaus says he doesn't believe in head-to-head golf matches for hefty purses because they are little more than "a rip-off against the public."

Nicklaus admitted, however, he would be "tempted" by a winner-take-all match offering $1 million, for instance. "And I think I could win playing for that much money," Nicklaus said Thursday during an appearance at the Detroit Athletic Club.

"What would it prove?" asked Nicklaus, who has been offered the chance to take on Johnny Miller in a one-on-one match. "We play head-to-head every week on the pro tour ... and against a lot of other great golfers, too."

World Cup Team Misses Connors

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jimmy Connors, a tennis name frequently in the spotlight and even more frequently involved in controversy, made his presence felt Sunday without even attending a tournament.

While the impish Connors has insisted he will avoid controversy in the future, his name came up after the World Cup Tennis event at Hartford, Conn.

He refused to represent the United States in World Cup play, just as he has in Davis Cup action. After Sunday's fourth straight United States loss to the Australians, however, the captains of both teams admitted that the absence of the world's top-ranked male player had weakened the Americans.

The afternoon began with Rod Laver, the 36-year-old lefthander, tripping Arthur Ashe 6-2, 7-6 to give the Aussies a 5-1 lead at the time. Laver had an easy time in the first set, then copped a 7-3 tiebreaker in the second in the nationally televised event.

In a doubles match which was the final event of the day, Ashe teamed with Dick Stockton to beat Australia's John Alexander and Ken Rosewall, 3-6, 6-3, 7-6.

The victory earned the Australians $35,000. The United States got $20,000.

"I think they would have had a better chance (with Connors)," said Laver. "But it's a team effort and Jimmy's not a team man."

"I think he certainly would help any team," added Dennis Ralston, captain of the U.S. squad. "We all feel he's a very talented tennis player."

The U.S. fell behind 1-0 in the opening match Thursday when Laver downed Stockton, 5-7, 6-4, 7-6. The Australians won another point on Friday when Newcombe beat Ashe, 6-7, 6-4, 6-2.

The first U.S. point came late Friday when Stan Smith defeated Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 7-6. On Saturday, Stockton beat Newcombe 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, to pull the U.S. into a 2-2 tie.

The Aussie doubles team of Newcombe and Laver defeated Smith and Bob Lutz 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 Saturday night and the defending champions went into Sunday's matches with a 3-2 lead.

Sedgeman fell behind 3-1 in the first set before breaking Brown's serve twice and holding his own. He jumped in front 3-0 in taking the second set.

At Shreveport, La., second-ranked Juan Gisbert of Barcelona, Spain, downed Poland's Wojtek Fibha, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, in the finals of the Shreveport International Tennis Tournament.

Gisbert landed his first service break of the duel in game five of the opening set after play was interrrupted for 30 minutes by a power failure. Down love-15 when the match was halted, Fibha lost service swiftly when the lights were turned on again.

Tech Also In NCAA Ice Tourney

Gophers Seek Repeat Title

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The aggressive University of Minnesota hockey team shoots for its second straight national championship in a renewed bid to continue its takeover of the "Canadian pasttime" this week in St. Louis.

The Gopher skaters, who are all from the state of Minnesota, crushed Michigan 5-2 Sunday to gain a berth along with Michigan Tech, Boston University and Harvard in Thursday night's National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) semifinals. Mike Zuke and George Lyle scored two goals apiece for Tech, the WCHA runnerup to Minnesota, to pace a 9-4 rout of Michigan State in the other league playoff finale Sunday.

Minnesota defeated Tech, which has a strong Canadian representation on its team, for the NCAA title last year.

"We'll just have to prove it to everybody again," said Minnesota center Mike Polich. "We're even better than last year. More depth, more balance and this group's a lot more physical."

The Gophers, who carry the Western Collegiate Hockey Association championship and a 30-9-1 record to the NCAA finals, outshot Michigan 47-28 with sophomore Tom Vannelli scoring three goals. Vannelli's third goal was a shorthanded effort 1:52 into the final period and gave the Gophers a 5-1 lead.

"Michigan has been on the road a lot in the last few days," noted Vannelli. "They really looked tired and the Polich line loosened them up a lot. I've only scored two goals in a game once in college. . .three goals, that's really nice especially in a game like this."

Michigan Coach Danny Farrel noted, "We were dead tired and Minnesota was just too fast. They're so strong. If they play like this against Harvard Thursday they'll blow 'em off the ice."

Vannelli's first goal gave Minnesota 1-0 advantage in a first period, which required over an hour to play because of four fights and an injury to Michigan goalie Robbie Moore.

"Moore really held them in," said Polich. "We had an awful lot of good shots and he was keeping them out."

"Oh sure, Harvard may be quicker and Tech has a better goalie and shoots better maybe, but Minnesota does so much well. They're so strong. They just wear you out."

The two teams battled to a 3-3 tie Saturday in the two-game "most goals" series.

Lyle added three assists for Tech, which finished off Michigan State 15-8 in its two game set.

The Huskies jumped off to a 5-1 advantage after the first period and built it to 8-2 after two.

INVEST IN A

AND EARN 9% ANNUAL INTEREST ON $1000 MINIMUM INVESTMENT

Right in the heart of Michigan, John Wesley College is building a unique, old English "Learning Village." The campus has been expanded to twice its original size; new and existing buildings have been dressed in the old English motif to provide a village-like atmosphere that encourages students and faculty to live together as a community of learners.

The "Learning Village" is only one reason why the student enrollment at John Wesley College has increased by 218 per cent over the past five years.

To help finance the development of the "Learning Village," John Wesley College has chosen not to insulate itself from investors by borrowing money from lending institutions, but rather go directly to the initial investor and pay him 9% annual interest.

Investors in John Wesley College can earn 9.3% interest on $1,000 minimum investment by leaving their interest in to compound quarterly; John Wesley investors are not penalized for withdrawing their investments in less than a year.

Most of all, investors can have the satisfaction of knowing that while their money is earning 9% annual interest, it is being used to help make a difference in the lives of hundreds of our nation's youth.

We're going to keep on growing. Invest in our "Learning Village" and let your dollars grow with us.

Malpractice Is The Subject

dollar paid by insurance companies goes to the patients. Some studies show it as little as 46 cents of the dollar. The rest of the money — you guessed it — goes to pay attorneys' fees, court costs and other similar costs. Is it any wonder that the Trial Lawyers Association is concerned and once again loudly proclaims their interest in the rights of the individual when they see another lucrative source of their income being threatened?

And who pays the medical malpractice bill? Just like the auto insurance situation the lawyer escalated costs are paid by the patient. As far as hospital costs are concerned a patient in Memorial Hospital now pays 91 cents a patient day for liability insurance. In October of this year, when Memorial's insurance policy will be renewed, the cost will increase to about $2.58 per patient day.

Hospitals and doctors are concerned about this cost increase. Contrary to lawyer Spence's opening statement that "Insurance Companies and doctors in America are arguing today that medical malpractice cases should be abolished," the health industry makes no such claim and is taking steps to eliminate "medical carelessness." The health profession also agrees that injured parties should receive just compensation but the mechanism of accomplishing this must be changed so that the many nuisance claims are eliminated and the largest percentage of the claim dollar goes to the patient and not for legal expenses.

The problem in Michigan is critical because doctors cannot reasonably practice medicine without insurance protection and likewise hospitals cannot reasonably admit patients without insurance protection. Michigan has a shortage of physicians and more importantly Berrien County has only about ½ as many physicians as the state average. Since the insurance companies in Michigan which insure physicians will not accept any new doctors our recruitment program has come to a sudden halt. Presently hospitals can obtain malpractice insurance but at a cost increase that varies as high as 800 per cent.

The need to resolve this problem is urgent and support of legislative proposals to solve the malpractice crisis in the best interest of all concerned is necessary.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR FOLK DANCERS

Editor,

Why do the Van Buren Folk Dancers need your support?

Because — they have been given an opportunity of a lifetime to go abroad and entertain in a foreign country — Poland.

They have devoted many hours to performing for various groups (both in Van Buren county and in other counties), at the fair, at Coldwater State Home, at Ft. Custer, plus many other performances.

They have supported the Van Buren Youth Camp since 1952 — when the Folk Dancers first organized.

Very seldom have they turned down an opportunity to perform for you — the public. Many hours of hard work have gone into each performance; many hours in making costumes — and keeping them performance ready at all times.

Now you — the public — have an opportunity to show your support for this active and devoted group. Times are rough — sure! We all have had to tighten up our budgets.

But, are you willing to help — even a little bit — towards their goal? $35,000 is a lot to raise — but every contribution — no matter how small will help.

The Van Buren Folk Dancers are scheduled to leave New York for Poland on June 24th, so time is short to raise funds. Their trip will last 23 days.

Touring throughout Poland performing the various dances which many of you have had the opportunity to view. On their free days, they will be goodwill ambassadors — not only for Van Buren county — not only for the State of Michigan, they will be representatives of the United States!

Let's show these young people that we, the people of Michigan, can come through in this pinch and help send this well deserving group to Poland.

Your contribution to this worthwhile cause will be greatly appreciated.

Roger Kroshinski, 135 Orchard Lane, Paw Paw, Michigan 49079, is receiving contributions for the Folk Dancers' trip to Poland. Make your check payable to: Van Buren county Folk Dancers. Do it now!

THEY THINK STUDENTS DESERVE APOLOGY

Editor,

We have given thoughtful consideration to your editorial on the St. Joe High "closed campus" question and are respectfully requesting that you give just as prominent exposure to an apology.

First, we are agreeable with the thought that parents and public should back their school administrators 100% — we are not arguing with their decision to close the campus. Questions of this nature should be handled through established administrative procedures (including at least conversations with the Student Council) and we should all support the administrators.

However, when you editorialized on the "St. Joe High Problems" you did a great injustice to the St. Joe High student body.

Many of the problems that you list are either untrue or isolated cases representing a very small percentage of students — cases which can be handled through established procedures. We have lived directly across the street from the high school since it was built almost two decades ago. We have associated with and watched thousands of students over the years and have really enjoyed having them as neighbors. We are sure that the great majority of neighboring residents have similar experiences. The present group of students is no different than others; sure, there are some isolated problems — but the great majority of students deserve our respect and support.

To repeat, we are suggesting that you owe an apology and that it should be as prominently displayed as your indictment.

Paul Schulz
2527 Lakeview Ave.
St. Joseph, Mich.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The editorial clearly stated "The vast majority of students would not abuse the privilege of leaving high school grounds . . but a significant majority . . . did." The editorial also pointed out that the incidents of misconduct had occurred not all at once but "during the past few years."

TUESDAY

Top Math Students Invited To LMC

Advanced mathematics students from area high schools have been invited by Mu Alpha Theta, honorary mathematics club at Benton Harbor high school, to a meeting at 7 Tuesday night at the student union at Lake Michigan college.

Miss Mary Reed, advisor to Mu Alpha Theta, gave the following agenda:

Wally Oberheu, an all-A sophomore at LMC and co-author with Jeff Hughes, will present "The Perils of Poindexter," the story of a small boy who runs away from the Village of Defined down the Number Line in search of a solution to the mystery of the square root of a negative one.

Wally is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Oberheu, 135 Harry. Jeff, a 4—point sophomore at the University of Michigan, is the son of Judge and Mrs. Julian E. Hughes, 176 Higman Park.

Mrs. James Sent, director of continuing education and extension, will extend a welcome to the 90 students who are expected to attend. Khalid Take, student president at LMC, will conduct the students on a tour of the building. One of the highlights will be a visit to the math lab to see Don Buyze's college class using the new facility.

Berrien Marriage Licenses

Malpractice Is The Subject

dollar paid by insurance companies goes to the patients. Some studies show it as little as 16 cents of the dollar. The rest of the money — you guessed it — goes to pay attorneys' fees, court costs and other similar costs. Is it any wonder that the Trial Lawyers Association is concerned and once again loudly proclaims their interest in the rights of the individual when they see another lucrative source of their income being threatened?

And who pays the medical malpractice bill? Just like the auto insurance situation the lawyer escalated costs are paid by the patient. As far as hospital costs are concerned a patient in Memorial Hospital now pays 91 cents a patient day for liability insurance. In October of this year, when Memorial's insurance policy will be renewed, the cost will increase to about $2.58 per patient day.

Hospitals and doctors are concerned about this cost increase. Contrary to lawyer Spence's opening statement that "Insurance Companies and doctors in America are arguing today that medical malpractice cases should be abolished," the health industry makes no such claim and is taking steps to eliminate "medical carelessness." The health profession also agrees that injured parties should receive just compensation but the mechanism of accomplishing this must be changed so that the many nuisance claims are eliminated and the largest percentage of the claim dollar goes to the patient and not for legal expenses.

The problem in Michigan is critical because doctors cannot reasonably practice medicine without insurance protection and likewise hospitals cannot reasonably admit patients without insurance protection. Michigan has a shortage of physicians and more importantly Berrien County has only about ½ as many physicians as the state average. Since the insurance companies in Michigan which insure physicians will not accept any new doctors our recruitment program has come to a sudden halt. Presently hospitals can obtain malpractice insurance but at a cost increase that varies as high as 800 per cent.

The need to resolve this problem is urgent and support of legislative proposals to solve the malpractice crisis in the best interest of all concerned is necessary.

TUESDAY

Top Math Students Invited To LMC

Advanced mathematics students from area high schools have been invited by Mu Alpha Theta, honorary mathematics club at Benton Harbor high school, to a meeting at 7 Tuesday night at the student union at Lake Michigan college.

Wally Oberheu, an all-A sophomore at LMC and co-author with Jeff Hughes, will present "The Perils of Poindexter," the story of a small boy who runs away from the Village of Defined down the Number Line in search of a solution to the mystery of the square root of a negative one.

Wally is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Oberheu, 135 Harry. Jeff, a 4—point sophomore at the University of Michigan, is the son of Judge and Mrs. Julian E. Hughes, 176 Higman Park.

Mrs. James Sent, director of continuing education and extension, will extend a welcome to the 90 students who are expected to attend. Khalid Take, student president at LMC, will conduct the students on a tour of the building. One of the highlights will be a visit to the math lab to see Don Buyze's college class using the new facility.

Berrien Marriage Licenses

Gary Allen Dokey, 27, and Mary Elizabeth French, 28, both of Buchanan.

ASKS SUPPORT FOR FOLK DANCERS

Editor,

Why do the Van Buren Folk Dancers need your support?

Because — they have been given an opportunity of a lifetime to go abroad and entertain in a foreign country — Poland .

They have devoted many hours to performing for various groups (both in Van Buren county and in other counties), at the fair, at Coldwater State Home, at Ft. Custer, plus many other performances.

They have worked with the hearing impaired the blind, physically handicapped, senior citizens, the veterans, the list is endless.

They have supported the Van Buren Youth Camp since 1952 — when the Folk Dancers first organized.

Very seldom have they turned down an opportunity to perform for you — the public. Many hours of hard work have gone into each performance; many hours in making costumes — and keeping them performance ready at all times.

Now you — the public — have an opportunity to show your support for this active and devoted group. Times are rough — sure! We all have had to tighten up our budgets.

But, are you willing to help — even a little bit — towards their goal? $35,000 is a lot to raise — but every contribution — no matter how small will help.

The Van Buren Folk Dancers are scheduled to leave New York for Poland on June 24th, so time is short to raise funds. Their trip will last 23 days.

Touring throughout Poland performing the various dances which many of you have had the opportunity to view. On their free days, they will be goodwill ambassadors — not only for Van Buren county — not only for the State of Michigan, they will be representatives of the United States!

Let's show these young people that we, the people of Michigan, can come through in this pinch and help send this well deserving group to Poland.

Your contribution to this worthwhile cause will be greatly appreciated.

Roger Kroshinski, 135 Orchard Lane, Paw Paw, Michigan 49079, is receiving contributions for the Folk Dancers' trip to Poland. Make your check payable to: Van Buren county Folk Dancers. Do it now!

THEY THINK STUDENTS DESERVE APOLOGY

Editor,

We have given thoughtful consideration to your editorial on the St. Joe High "closed campus" question and are respectfully requesting that you give just as prominent exposure to an apology.

First, we are agreeable with the thought that parents and public should back their school administrators 100% — we are not arguing with their decision to close the campus. Questions of this nature should be handled through established administrative procedures (including at least conversations with the Student Council) and we should all support the administrators.

However, when you editorialized on the "St. Joe High Problems" you did a great injustice to the St. Joe High student body.

Many of the problems that you list are either untrue or isolated cases representing a very small percentage of students — cases which can be handled through established procedures. We have lived directly across the street from the high school since it was built almost two decades ago. We have associated with and watched thousands of students over the years and have really enjoyed having them as neighbors. We are sure that the great majority of neighboring residents have similar experiences. The present group of students is no different than others; sure, there are some isolated problems — but the great majority of students deserve our respect and support.

To repeat, we are suggesting that you owe an apology and that it should be as prominently displayed as your indictment.

Paul Schulz
2527 Lakeview Ave.
St. Joseph, Mich.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The editorial clearly stated "The vast majority of students would not abuse the privilege of leaving high school grounds . . but a significant majority . . . did." The editorial also pointed out that the incidents of misconduct had occurred not all at once but "during the past few years."

Pools Aplenty In New York, Surveyors Find

NEW YORK (AP) — The city Environmental Protection Administration says it has been using helicopters to find out who's using more than his fair share of free city water.

An EPA spokesman said an aerial survey discovered some 12,000 swimming pools in the backyards or on the roofs of unmetered Staten Island homes, and he believes there may be as many as 200,000 throughout the city.

He estimates the owners each use about $32.81 worth of free water per summer.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Rate Cut Spurs Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A new cut in an important interest rate by the Federal Reserve helped keep the stock market in forward gear today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was up a fraction and gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

After Friday's close the Fed lowered the discount rate — the charge it makes on loans to its member commercial banks — from 6¾ to 6¼ per cent for the third half-point reduction in the rate this year.

Brokers said the move, although widely anticipated on Wall Street, was nevertheless welcomed as a further step by the central bank toward cheaper credit.

Another favorable factor was the National Association of Purchasing Management's report that buyers of raw materials on balance found them declining in price in February — the first time in 12 years that had happened.

Today's prices on the Big Board included Levitz Furniture, unchanged at 3¼; AMF, up ⅝ at 15; National Gypsum, up ⅛ at 13½, and Bethlehem Steel, ⅛ higher at 33⅛.

On Friday, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 8.29 to 770.10 to finish the week with a 31.05-point gain.

Advances outnumbered declines by more than a 2-1 margin on the NYSE, with trading volume accelerating to 25.98 million shares.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .35 at 44.55.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Watch For Stocks The Experts Buy

By SAM SHULSKY

Bull markets and bear markets come and go, but with remarkably little effect on the make-up of equity portfolios of our large university endowment funds.

The latest issue of "The Exchange," monthly publication of the N.Y. Stock Exchange, presents the top 10 common stock investments in the portfolios of Harvard, Yale, Columbia and the University of California.

Of the 40 "top 10" stocks listed in all four portfolios (as of June 1974 — the latest report) only six were newcomers — that is, had not been among the top 10 in the previous year.

IBM remained among the favorites — ranking first in the Harvard list, second in the University of California list and third in Columbia's. Harvard's $53 million invested in this one issue made if far and away the largest commitment in any stock on the four lists. Eastman Kodak was among the top three holdings in both the Harvard and California portfolios.

The Harvard list in order of amounts invested: IBM, Eastman Kodak, General Reinsurance, Texaco, Exxon, Upjohn, Ford Motor, Gulf Oil, General Motors, Alcoa. Alcoa is the only name which did not appear on the previous year's list.

The University of California list: Caterpillar Tractor, IBM, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Sears, Dow Chemical, Proctor & Gamble, A.T.&T., Hercules. Bank-America Hercules is the newcomer to this list.

Columbia's list: Ford Motor, Mobil, IBM, S.O. of Indiana, Monsanto, Union Carbide, Texaco, Northwestern Steel & Wire, A.T.&T., General Motors. The newcomers are Union Carbide, Northwestern Steel & Wire, and General Motors.

Yale's "top 10" in equity investment: Atlantic Richfield, W.R. Grace, Exxon, MCA, Kennecott, Union Pacific, Florida National Banks, Ford Motor, Deere & Co., Phillips Petroleum. Union Pacific and Deere are the two newcomers to the latest list.

With the exception of perhaps three or four names, the professional money managers' "favorites" should be known to any U.S. investor. All of which bears out the old saw that "the big boys generally stay with the leaders."

I am not arguing that this is the perfect investment policy, but it certainly is an answer to the popular question: "What stocks are the experts buying?"

Furthermore, it should be clear that even these blue chip lists constituted no guarantee against market loss. In the last two years of drastic decline, these portfolios also suffered substantial damage. But, unlike the all-too-frequent queries from readers, investors in these blue chips are not likely to have to start a letter with: "Whatever become of...?"

Even a cursory examination of stock market history will show that over a long span of years these stocks, while subject to general economic problems, do come back, and even go on to set new highs. Furthermore, they have maintained an enviable dividend record in the main.

I repeat — I am not urging anyone to rush out and buy any or all of these stocks. But I think it is worthwhile to present them not only as a list of U.S. industrial leaders but as reasonable aidates for the average investor's portfolio.

The Driver Did Fine For Age 14

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — "He was doing a pretty good job of handling the 18-wheeler," a state trooper said after he stopped three boys in a 30,000pound, tractor-trailer rig.

After he turned on his patrol car's siren and light, and trailed the rig for about a mile, the truck pulled over. Calvin said two 11-year-old boys hopped out and began running away, but halted when the trooper yelled, "Stop!"

Following procedure, Calvin said he asked the driver to get out of the rig and show his driver's license.

When Calvin asked where they were going in such a big truck, he said the driver told him "just around the west side, because we have to be home by 9 p.m."

The boys were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Dollar Up, Gold Lower In Europe

LONDON (AP) — The dollar moved up in European foreign exchanges today, continuing an advance that began Friday. The price of gold weakened on bullion markets.

The dollar jumped almost five centimes in Paris in early dealings, three Swiss centimes in Zurich and nearly one pfennig in Frankfurt. The British pound was virtually unchanged, however, at $2.4010 in London.

The dollar was worth 4.2550 francs in Paris, compared to 4.2075 late Friday. In Zurich, it was up to 2.46 Swiss francs from 2.45, and in Frankfurt the American money moved up from 2.3280 West German marks to 2.3340.

Gold was fixed in the morning in London at $176.75 an ounce, down from Friday's $178.75. In Zurich, the price fell from Friday's $178.25 to $177.

February Jobless Picture Clouded

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With spring coming on, the seasonal adjustment that helped keep the jobless rate from rising in February will begin to work in the opposite direction. It could make the figures look worse.

During March and April, economic activity generally increases and so does the number of job opportunities. The economy is expected to support more jobs; if it doesn't — and even if the jobless total doesn't rise — the rate of unemployment will.

The February rate of 8.2 per cent unemployed will be considered by some to be good news, mainly because it was no higher than in January. But to so believe is to put too much faith in numbers, which can be made to dance to any tune.

Numbers, as many wise men have noted, are mere tools and symbols that mankind uses for his convenience. But since fallible minds are involved, the figures don't necessarily depict the truth.

The fact that more than a half million persons dropped out of the labor force should, by all logic, be interpreted as a worsening of the employment situation. But in terms of the jobless rate, that event helped stabilize it.

There is no escaping the reasoning involved here: If a person is out of work so long that all hope evaporates, he or she is simply removed from the labor force by the statisticians.

Problem solved!

Another situation that bears examination also involves the size of the labor force. If a person is to remain a member of the job force, for statistical purposes, he or she must have actively sought work during the four weeks previous to being questioned.

Apply that criterion to an autoworker who is receiving 95 per cent of his paycheck although unemployed for the time being, and who isn't looking for another job because he expects to be recalled to the assembly line.

Certainly he or she could be out looking for work, but it would seem to defy common sense to remove oneself from a lifelong occupation, give up jobless benefits and become committed to a new job.

But even if these distortions of the jobless picture are discounted, the likelihood is high that the March unemployment rate will be higher than for February.

Capital spending plans of business are low, which means little expansion of production facilities and a relatively low rate of increase in jobs.

Moreover, it now appears that the inventory hangover will last many more weeks before idle production facilities will be put to work again. Existing inventories must first be sold. As of January, they were still rising.

As is often the case, the key over the next few weeks will be the automotive industry. Some assembly lines are being reactivated because stockpiles of cars have been reduced from 110 days supply in January to 67 days now.

However, part of that inventory reduction resulted from the rebate program, which was enormously costly to the auto companies and isn't likely to be tried again for a long time.

If car sales lag, then it won't take many weeks for those inventories to build back toward the three-month supply that almost smothered the industry. And the immediate result will be layoffs.

U.S. Fast-Food Industry Plans Outlets Worldwide

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's fast-food industry, which has put mountains of fried chicken and billions of hamburgers into paper bags for hungry Americans, is planning more outlets around the world for people to grab a bite on the run.

The Agriculture Department says that by 1979, eight leading U.S. companies expect to have more than 6,400 fast-food outlets in foreign countries, nearly quadruple those in operation now.

The No. 1 country targeted for expansion by almost all companies is Japan, followed by Australia, Europe and Canada, according to a study published by the department's Economic Research Service.

Without any adjustment for inflation, retail sales in foreign countries by 1979 are expected to total at least $2 billion a year, compared with $568 million estimated in 1973, the report said.

Philip B. Dwoskin, who prepared the report for his agency, said the 1979 projections indicate a potential market for U.S. suppliers of about $820 million annually compared with about $230 million in 1973.

But Dwoskin told a reporter that the term "potential" means just that. Part of the food used in the foreign establishments is provided locally and U.S. exporters will have to compete for the expanding market.

In his report, Dwoskin said that in the United States there is a trend to more company-owned outlets rather than franchised operations. The reason for this seems to be that companies want better control than franchises afford, he said.

"On the foreign side, the emphasis is almost reversed, due mainly to the myriad of local government regulations, language difficulties and so forth," Dwoskin said.

Consequently, it's a common practice for fast-food companies to enter into agreements with local trading companies or individuals to operate the retail outlets in those countries.

"This is particularly true in such developed areas as Japan, Europe and Australia, and accounts in part for the more optimistic expansion plans on the foreign side than for the domestic market," Dwoskin said.

Carryout food also will continue expanding in the United States, according to the survey of the eight major firms which account for more than one-half of annual sales by fast-food shops. The report said those firms are expected to have more than 25,000 outlets by 1979, a 54 per cent increase from now.

Rate Cut Spurs Market

NEW YORK (AP) — A new cut in an important interest rate by the Federal Reserve helped keep the stock market in forward gear today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrial was up a fraction and gainers took a 2-1 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

After Friday's close the Fed lowered the discount rate — the charge it makes on loans to its member commercial banks — from 6¾ to 6¼ per cent for the third half-point reduction in the rate this year.

Brokers said the move, although widely anticipated on Wall Street, was nevertheless welcomed as a further step by the central bank toward cheaper credit.

Another favorable factor was the National Association of Purchasing Management's report that buyers of raw materials on balance found them declining in price in February — the first time in 12 years that had happened.

Today's prices on the Big Board included Levitz Furniture, unchanged at 3¼; AMF, up ⅝ at 15; National Gypsum, up ⅛ at 13½, and Bethlehem Steel, ⅛ higher at 33⅛.

On Friday, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 8.29 to 770.10 to finish the week with a 31.05-point gain.

Advances outnumbered declines by more than a 2-1 margin on the NYSE, with trading volume accelerating to 25.93 million shares.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .35 at 44.55.

NEW YORK (AP) — With spring coming on, the seasonal adjustment that helped keep the jobless rate from rising in February will begin to work in the opposite direction. It could make the figures look worse.

During March and April, economic activity generally increases and so does the number of job opportunities. The economy is expected to support more jobs; if it doesn't — and even if the jobless total doesn't rise — the rate of unemployment will.

The February rate of 8.2 per cent unemployed will be considered by some to be good news, mainly because it was no higher than in January. But to so believe is to put too much faith in numbers, which can be made to dance to any tune.

When March and April figures come in they could be decidedly worse.

Numbers, as many wise men have noted, are mere tools and symbols that mankind uses for his convenience. But since fallible minds are involved, the figures don't necessarily depict the truth.

The fact that more than a half million persons dropped out of the labor force should, by all logic, be interpreted as a worsening of the employment situation. But in terms of the jobless rate, that event helped stabilize it.

There is no escaping the reasoning involved here: If a person is out of work so long that all hope evaporates, he or she is simply removed from the labor force by the statisticians.

Problem solved!

Another situation that bears examination also involves the size of the labor force. If a person is to remain a member of the job force, for statistical purposes, he or she must have actively sought work during the four weeks previous to being questioned.

Apply that criterion to an autoworker who is receiving 95 per cent of his paycheck although unemployed for the time being, and who isn't looking for another job because he expects to be recalled to the assembly line.

Certainly he or she could be out looking for work, but it would seem to defy common sense to remove oneself from a lifelong occupation, give up jobless benefits and become committed to a new job.

But even if these distortions of the jobless picture are discounted, the likelihood is high that the March unemployment rate will be higher than for February.

Capital spending plans of business are low, which means little expansion of production facilities and a relatively low rate of increase in jobs.

Moreover, it now appears that the inventory hangover will last many more weeks before idle production facilities will be put to work again. Existing inventories must first be sold. As of January, they were still rising.

As is often the case, the key over the next few weeks will be the automotive industry. Some assembly lines are being reactivated because stockpiles of cars have been reduced from 110 days supply in January to 67 days now.

However, part of that inventory reduction resulted from the rebate program, which was enormously costly to the auto companies and isn't likely to be tried again for a long time.

If car sales lag, then it won't take many weeks for those inventories to build back toward the three-month supply that almost smothered the industry. And the immediate result will be layoffs.

U.S. Fast-Food Industry Plans Outlets Worldwide

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's fast-food industry, which has put mountains of fried chicken and billions of hamburgers into paper bags for hungry Americans, is planning more outlets around the world for people to grab a bite on the run.

The Agriculture Department says that by 1979, eight leading U.S. companies expect to have more than 6,400 fast-food outlets in foreign countries, nearly quadruple those in operation now.

The No. 1 country targeted for expansion by almost all companies is Japan, followed by Australia, Europe and Canada, according to a study published by the department's Economic Research Service.

Without any adjustment for inflation, retail sales in foreign countries by 1979 are expected to total at least $2 billion a year, compared with $568 million estimated in 1973, the report said.

Philip B. Dwoskin, who prepared the report for his agency, said the 1979 projections indicate a potential market for U.S. suppliers of about $820 million annually compared with about $230 million in 1973.

But Dwoskin told a reporter that the term "potential" means just that. Part of the food used in the foreign establishments is provided locally and U.S. exporters will have to compete for the expanding market.

In his report, Dwoskin said that in the United States there is a trend to more companyowned outlets rather than franchised operations. The reason for this seems to be that companies want better control than franchises afford, he said.

"On the foreign side, the emphasis is almost reversed, due mainly to the myriad of local government regulations, language difficulties and so forth," Dwoskin said.

Consequently, it's a common practice for fast-food companies to enter into agreements with local trading companies or individuals to operate the retail outlets in those countries.

"This is particularly true in such developed areas as Japan, Europe and Australia, and accounts in part for the more optimistic expansion plans on the foreign side than for the domestic market," Dwoskin said.

Carryout food also will continue expanding in the United States, according to the survey of the eight major firms which account for more than one-half of annual sales by fast-food shops. The report said those firms are expected to have more than 25,000 outlets by 1979, a 54 per cent increase from now.

The Driver Did Fine For Age 14

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — "He was doing a pretty good job of handling the 18-wheeler," a state trooper said after he stopped three boys in a 30,000pound, tractor-trailer rig.

Trooper Roy Calvin spotted the huge vehicle rumbling through city streets without taillights at about 7 p.m. Saturday.

After he turned on his patrol car's siren and light, and trailed the rig for about a mile, the truck pulled over. Calvin said two 11-year-old boys hopped out and began running away, but halted when the trooper yelled, "Stop!"

Following procedure, Calvin said he asked the driver to get out of the rig and show his driver's license.

But the driver couldn't produce one. He was only 14 years old.

When Calvin asked where they were going in such a big truck, he said the driver told him "just around the west side, because we have to be home by 9 p.m."

The boys were turned over to juvenile authorities.

Dollar Up, Gold Lower In Europe

LONDON (AP) — The dollar moved up in European foreign exchanges today, continuing an advance that began Friday. The price of gold weakened on bullion markets.

The dollar jumped almost five centimes in Paris in early dealings, three Swiss centimes in Zurich and nearly one pfennig in Frankfurt. The British pound was virtually unchanged, however, at $2.4010 in London.

The dollar was worth 4.2550 francs in Paris, compared to 4.2075 late Friday. In Zurich, it was up to 2.46 Swiss francs from 2.45, and in Frankfurt the American money moved up from 2.3260 West German marks to 2.3340.

Gold was fixed in the morning in London at $176.75 an ounce, down from Friday's $178.75. In Zurich, the price fell from Friday's $179.25 to $177.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Watch For Stocks The Experts Buy

By SAM SHULSKY

Bull markets and bear markets come and go, but with remarkably little effect on the make-up of equity portfolios of our large university endowment funds.

The latest issue of "The Exchange," monthly publication of the N.Y. Stock Exchange, presents the top 10 common stock investments in the portfolios of Harvard, Yale, Columbia and the University of California.

Of the 40 "top 10" stocks listed in all four portfolios (as of June 1974 — the latest report) only six were newcomers — that is, had not been among the top 10 in the previous year.

IBM remained among the favorites — ranking first in the Harvard list, second in the University of California list and third in Columbia's. Harvard's $53 million invested in this one issue made if far and away the largest commitment in any stock on the four lists. Eastman Kodak was among the top three holdings in both the Harvard and California portfolios.

The Harvard list in order of amounts invested: IBM, Eastman Kodak, General Reinsurance, Texaco, Exxon, Upjohn, Ford Motor, Gulf Oil, General Motors, Alcoa. Alcoa is the only name which did not appear on the previous year's list.

The University of California list: Caterpillar Tractor, IBM, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Sears, Dow Chemical, Proctor & Gamble, A.T.&T., Hercules, Bank-America Hercules is the newcomer to this list.

Columbia's list: Ford Motor, Mobil, IBM, S.O. of Indiana, Monsanto, Union Carbide, Texaco, Northwestern Steel & Wire, A.T.&T., General Motors. The newcomers are Union Carbide, Northwestern Steel & Wire, and General Motors.

Yale's "top 10" in equity investment: Atlantic Richfield, W.R. Grace, Exxon, MCA, Kennecott, Union Pacific, Florida National Banks, Ford Motor, Deere & Co., Phillips Petroleum. Union Pacific and Deere are the two newcomers to the latest list.

With the exception of perhaps three or four names, the professional money managers' "favorites" should be known to any U.S. investor. All of which bears out the old saw that "the big boys generally stay with the leaders.'

I am not arguing that this is the perfect investment policy, but it certainly is an answer to the popular question: " What stocks are the experts buying?"

Furthermore, it should be clear that even these blue chip lists constituted no guarantee against market loss. In the last two years of drastic decline, these portfolios also suffered substantial damage. But, unlike the all-too-frequent queries from readers, investors in these blue chips are not likely to have to start a letter with: "Whatever become of...?"

Even a cursory examination of stock market history will show that over a long span of years these stocks, while subject to general economic problems, do come back, and even go on to set new highs. Furthermore, they have maintained an enviable dividend record in the main.

I repeat — I am not urging anyone to rush out and buy any or all of these stocks. But I think it is worthwhile to present them not only as a list of U.S. industrial leaders but as reasonable aidates for the average investor's portfolio.

EXTRA NICE
BENTON TOWNSHIP
Three bed ranch just south of B.H. City Limits. Large carpeted kitchen with dining area. Carpeted living room. Many extra closets and extra storage areas. All finished basement with rec. room. Extra neat and like-new condition. Unbelievable low price. If you are looking for something extra nice in this area, be sure you call to see this.

IT'S SAD, BUT TRUE
that this spic and span bungalow with carpeted living room and fireplace, spacious bedrooms, bath, full basement, gas heated home with extra large lot in the City of B.H. must go at this low, low price, but the owner said it must be sold. Approximately 1200 sq. ft. of living area. Aluminum siding and many other fine features.

HOW ABOUT
a small farm with over 15 acres, a four bedroom house and several good out-buildings for the animals and machinery. Located South and East of Benton Harbor near the Eau Claire School System. Present owner is retiring out of state and is anxious to sell. This is all level productive ground. Whether you are a real farmer or just a gentleman farmer, this piece of property has many possibilities.

JOHN P. ROCHE
A World Edgewise

Over the years I have had a good deal of contact with the Federal Bureau of Investigation, largely in connection with security checks on various former students. The agents have, with one exception many years ago, uniformly asked intelligent questions, avoided dubious speculations, and ended up with the eminently sensible question: "Do you have any reason to believe this individual to be disloyal to the United States?" Since my answer has invariably been, "No," the agents have thanked me and gone on their way.

In contrast, I have had real problems with military intelligence types, also inquiring about students, who would, for instance, ask if the individual concerned had ever in class made comments supporting Castro, Khrushchev, Karl Marx or other enemies of the people. Since one of the functions of a teacher is to generate controversy and the classroom is the forum, I have always considered the teacher-student relationship privileged, and have flatly refused to duscuss it.

However, when I went to work in the White House, I got another perspective on the FBI, one which led me to believe that we almost had two Bureaus: a non-political body out in the field, and a political cadre in Washington. One of my first tasks was to assemble the first Bicentennial Commission (that is, prepare a list of recommendations for the President). Hoping to avoid commercialism and keep the affair on a serious track, a number of distinguished scholars, businessmen and elder statesmen emerged from the final screening, done in conjunction with my colleague Harry McPherson, and Carlisle Humelsine, the director of Conial Williamsburg, who had agreed to become chairman.

First — before submission to President Johnson — the list had to be sent to the FBI for a "name check," a check of the records which would indicate whether any of the individuals had a criminal record, was in bad standing with the I.R.S., or had subversive connections. Back came the list: All passed with flying colors except a distinguished historian, Richard B. Morris of Columbia, who was listed as a possibl loyalty risk. If Morris was a loyalty risk, I was a Zen Buddhist, so McPherson and I went down to see the file. The charge? In a book about political trials, Morris had been beastly to the FBI about Alger Hiss. We got the book and in our common judgment Morris' treatment had been eminently balanced, though he denied that Director Hoover could walk on the water. Armed with this, we went to the President who looked at the evidence said, "My, my, isn't J. Edgar sensitive!", and approved Morris' appointment.

Subsequently, as mentioned here before, the President turned over to me for assessment any of "your friends" (liberals) who had been suggested for appointments and give the black spot (or red spot) by Hoover. The pattern was wild. An eminent political scientist was spotted as a possible security risk because he had failed to pay a library fine at his university 30 years before. (The librarian's letter made it sound as though he had burned the library down — she really worked up a rage!) A leading figure in Hollywood had a dossier littered with red tabs: He had been a big Communist fellow traveller in the 1930s. True, he had. But what nobody had bothered to note was that after the Nazi-Soviet pact he had broken completely with the Communists and then led a bitter fight against their influence.

But the one thing that invariably brought a flag was criticism of J. Edgar Hoover. After I had knocked down about the fifteenth of these, I asked the President what in Heaven's name my file had looked like? As an Americans for Democratic Action spokesman, and eventually national chairman for three years, I had routinely demanded in my characteristically gentle manner that Hoover be sent out to pasture. L.B.J. chuckled and said, "The file looked like it had the measles — at least three red tabs to a page." Naturally my next question was, "How come you appointed me?" To which the President (who privately despised Hoover) simply said, "I figured anyone who could make old J. Edgar that mad couldn't be all bad."

Now what we suspected (and L.B.J. doubtless knew — he knew everything) has come out. Hoover had his private files on leading politicians as a form of insurance policy. Nobody knew quite what he had, but since "the guilty flee when no one pursueth," crusades to depose him rapidly ran out of steam. Fortunately, FBI Director Clarence Kelley seems to have no illusions of grandeur, and working for Attorney General Edward Levi will not encourage their development.

MSU Experts View Greenbug As Threat To Grains

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State University entomologists are studying the potential threat state grain crops face from the greenbug.

The greenbug prefers wheat, oats, barley and rye. Since 1968, Webster said, it's been especially active on sorghum.

The pest ranges from the Texas Panhandle into Canada and westward to California. Until last summer, when it was discovered in Kalamazoo County, it had not been found on Michigan sorghum crops.

The greenbug sucks plant juices, injecting toxin as it feeds, Webster said. Small grains infested with greenbugs first turn yellow, then orange. As the infestations increase, he said, plants die and greenbugs move on to uninfested plants.

In sorghum, he added, greenbug infestations can be detected by reddish spots on the underside of leaves. As the greenbug population increases the reddened leaf area enlarges until the leaf dies, turning brown from the outer edges toward the center.

Greenbugs can be blown or fly great distances to establish new colonies, Webster said. He said it's believed they were carried to Michigan last summer on a storm front.
